

MARKET

Heavy Shipments of Country to This Market Has Caused the Slump The Journal Predicted About a Week Ago.

RECEIPTS DURING PAST DAY ENORMOUS AND DEALERS BUY IN SMALL LOTS.

Receipts during past day enormous and dealers buy in small lots.

SHIPMENTS SENT NORTH TO HOLD THE MARKET

Wash Sales Are Reported Made in Hop Market—Early-Grown Varieties of Local Yards Are of Excellent Quality.

Receipts of early potatoes have been very heavy, and there is only a small local demand for the same, prices at present are only nominal. We would advise growers to hold shipments back. From the outside the quality of late crop will be better than last year, but rain is badly needed in sections. California has a very heavy crop of river, and shippers do not look for any move. Many north still much later than usual. Reports say Washington state acreage is considerably heavier than last year. W. H. McCorquodale of McCorquodale & Hoover.

It was just about a week ago that The Journal told shippers that the poultry market was on a dangerous verge. It has since confirmed the prediction. Late yesterday afternoon the receipts came to the market in the shape of an avalanche, the shippers seeming to come from every direction. They therefore held off their purchases and the result was that stocks accumulated along the street. This caused the street dealers to lower their views on regards price and some sales were made fully 10 cents lower in order to somewhat relieve the situation a considerable amount of chickens were sent to the northern cities. Today the arrivals continued heavy and the street is overcrowded. Retailers are still buying in small lots, except when prices meet their fancy and chickens are piled everywhere. All varieties, spring, young, roasters and hens are being sold about the same figures as last year. Old roosters are quoted weak around 10 cents. The one market is firm with receipts smaller. Prices the same.

Boaters at Work in Hope Again. When holding contracts at high prices for the coming crop are again receiving the market. Sales of 500 bales is reported from these sources between dealers at 10 cents for choice but it is now understood that it is in reality a weak sale, in reality no sale at all. Rumor has it that the reported transaction was a sort of contract. In the days of the Phoenix contract the same sale of Smith of New York were on the same side of the market a year ago. Phoenix contracted for 500 bales of choice wool at 18 cents a pound. It is now understood that the contract fell through and arrangements were made by T. J. Smith and Krebs to take up the reported contract and to sell the wool at 18 cents. It is now understood that Krebs was in the market with their holdings for 40 cents. Krebs is now understood that Krebs was in the market with their holdings for 40 cents. Krebs is now understood that Krebs was in the market with their holdings for 40 cents.

Butter Market Looking Brighter. The creamery butter market is very firm. The receipts are getting smaller each day and demand increasing. Eastern butter is more plentiful and is selling at 25 cents for the best grades but this has failed to weaken the price here. Prices at country points are as specified:
