Storm Has No Effect on Hundreds From North Who Make Fair a Busy Place.

GOVERNOR MEAD IS ORATOR OF THE DAY

Vancouver Hostesses Preside at Reception in the State Building, Which Proves One of Events of the Social Season.

The attendance at the fair today up to 11:30 o'clock was 10,225, notwithstanding the stormy weather. The total admissions yesterday were 22,653.

This is a special day at the exposition for Oregon's sister state, Washington. The rain held down the attendance somewhat during the forenoon, but there was no lack of enthusiasm among

RAIN CAN'T DAMPEN FAIR CROWDS' ENTHUSIASM

Interest in Livestock Display Continues Unabated Despite Storms.

In spite of the driving rain today, visitors to the Lewis and Clark exposition headed in a continual stream for the livestock show. Exhibitors are becoming more surprised each day as they note the interest all take in the display. The rain did not spoil the effect of the parade of horses in the morning, nor that of cattle in the afternoon. The grandstand was comfortably filled with people, who showed their appreciation of the parade.

Many of the exhibitors from the east will begin to ship their animals Friday evening, and all day Saturday will be taken up with the loading of cattle, horses, sheep and swine. The greater majority of the stock will be displayed at the Royal Livestock show at Kansas City and the balance will be shown at the Canadian National show at New Westminster, B. C.

The program for tomorrow and Friday will be, as heretofore, two parades daily, with government bands.

Igorrotes Want Fine Weather.

During the ceremony at the Igorrote village yesterday afternoon designed by the natives to bring fair weather for Portland Day, all the time the unalutic rice was being chanted the three chiefs were silent. Last night inquiry was made as to why this was the case. Chief Domingo said that in this part of the ceremony no words must be spoken, but that the chiefs were repeating to themselves the Igorrote words, "Ma-kis-kis-kay li-to-min-chi-kang-ka ay fat-s-wa la-s-yu na-ka-ki lo-to-la," which translated is: "You gods, rise up rolling. Let us have good weather in all the world. Make not the people poor." The petition to Lu-ma-wig will be concluded at 4:30 this afternoon with a dog feast.

MERE BOYS GUILTY OF SERIOUS CRIME

Guy and Grover Smith were arrested at Bridal Veil last night by Deputy Sheriff Sam Downey, charged with having committed a statutory crime, the complaining witness being Almira Shepperd, the 14-year-old daughter of George Shepperd, a farmer residing near Bridal Veil. The Smith boys are aged 16 and 14 years respectively. Both admit their guilt, and will be sentenced by Presiding Judge Fraser tomorrow morning. Downey states that when he reached Bridal Veil last night he saw a group of men were guarding the boys. Shepperd having threatened to kill them. The boys were captured near Multnomah. The boys resided at 211 East Thirty-sixth street, their father, James F. Smith, being an expressman.

WILL REBUILD AT ONCE ALL BUILDINGS BURNED

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 27.—The wholesale district burned over yesterday morning will be rebuilt immediately on a larger scale than formerly. Dr. Thomas, owner of the building occupied by the Cashby company, will erect a three-story structure to replace the two-story building destroyed. C. H. Weeks will build a four-story and basement on the site of the old three-story warehouse. Occupants of the buildings are making arrangements to continue business in new quarters. The possible loss may total $275,000. The insurance approximately $115,000. Willamette Valley Development League at Eugene next week.

Captain Carter Says Famous Capitalist Gave His Father-in-Law a Fortune.

MONEY ALLEGED TO BE LOOT FROM GOVERNMENT

Trying to Make Former Captain Disgorge Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars Which It Is Claimed Is a Part of His Stealings.

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Sept. 27.—Oberlin M. Carter, the cashiered United States army captain, who served five years at Leavenworth military prison for swindling the government out of more than $2,000,000, told Special Examiner Wyman today an almost incredible story of the generosity of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. From March 14, 1893, to January 2, 1895, Carter said, Vanderbilt made six gifts to his (Carter's) father-in-law, aggregating $503,000.

On March 14, 1893, Carter says that he went with Westcott to the Grand Central depot in New York. Westcott went to Vanderbilt's private office, Carter remained outside, while the relative interviewed the multi-millionaire. When Westcott emerged, he went to the bank up town, where Westcott produced a roll containing $12,500. On April 14 of the same year Westcott got $16,000 on July 11 following $28,000.

On September 11, 1894, according to Carter, Vanderbilt gave Westcott $200,000. June 2 of the following year Westcott got a roll of $190,000. All these gifts, Carter says, were deposited to Westcott's credit. Special Examiner Erwin, who is conducting the case in which it is sought to compel Carter to disgorge $700,000 claimed as part of his stealings, is inclined to laugh at Carter's story. It stated that the dates on which the gifts are said by Carter to have been made, are identical with the dates on which Carter, Gaynor and Greene divided the loot which they obtained in their fraudulent dealing. The government claims Carter's share of the plunder was deposited to Westcott's account.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR LITTLE KANAWHA ROAD

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 27.—A move that will probably have an important effect on the Gould-Ramsey fight for the Wabash system was made today by John E. Jones, holder of $100,000 worth of stock in the Little Kanawha properties, who applied for a receiver. The hearing is set for October 2. Ramsey controls the Kanawha, which is said to be the key of the situation for entering the Pittsburgh terminals. The plaintiff says that he takes no side in the controversy, but wants to protect the stockholders during the fight.

CAREFUL CENSUS

(Continued from Page One.) Increase indicated by the counting of all insertions as referred to therefore furnish, with the 1900 federal enumeration, a basis for the population of the country when worked out would give the present population, or a close estimate thereof. The proportion is: The insertions of 1900 to the federal enumeration of 1900 (30,426) as the insertions of 1905 (72,847) to the present population, which gives 163,051 as the result.

Other Means of Proof. However, in order that there might be an even more accurate means employed, Mrs. Clinton had expert directory workers take the proof sheets of the new directory of 1905 and actually count the names of individuals, taking absolutely none of business firms or societies. This count showed 64,482 names, to which is applied the universal multiplication ratio of 2 1/2, giving as the population, 161,205.

And then, after these figures had been compiled, another verification of the ratio of increase comes to hand in the registration of school children in the public schools, which this year show an increase of between 2,000 and 3,000. It is claimed by some that the ratio of five to one of school attendance may be applied. If it were, the increased attendance would indicate an increase in population of from 10,000 to 15,000 in one year, in other words, that Portland's increase in one year is between 50 and 75 per cent of that which Assessor Sigler assigned for the entire five years from 1900 to 1905.

The quarter year that has elapsed since the directory enumeration was made early in July would, according to the indicated rate of growth, have brought another 3,000 to 6,000 people; so that at this time the population of Portland is not much if any under 165,000. These results, reached by the scientific methods employed by experienced directory workers, demonstrate the slipshod work that was done by the assessor; work that, according to reports from Salem and many counties of Oregon, has found its counterpart in many other parts of the state.

Census-Taking Not Easy. "I will admit that the taking of a census is not an easy task," said Mrs. Clinton. "It is no child's play; it calls for exacting work, careful supervision, and, as important as anything else, for solicitors in the field who do the work. We do not retain in our employ any person who evinces a disposition to slight his work. When the first indication of this shows, we discharge him: There are no political considerations to bother us, and we base judgment of one's right to continue to earn his living in the directory business on demonstrated efficiency. There are regular methods of checks and counter-checks, and we have ways of ascertaining exactly whether or not our men are doing careful work. There is little sentiment about it; only results, and actual results, count."

It is apparent, then, that present methods employed by assessors as a rule in Oregon are not satisfactory. It is equally true that the assessor in his slipshod enumeration will serve to repair the wrong and that Portland will be given credit for its real growth.

FRANCHISE SEEKERS PUT UP A GUARANTEE

Dr. Coe Insists Competitors Are Bluffing and Trying to Shut Out His Line.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 27.—The men behind the Vancouver & Suburban street railway project are evidently getting ready to take up the proposition to be submitted by the city council on next Monday evening. Yesterday a certified check for $1,000, the amount decided upon as a guarantee by the franchise committee of the council, was sent to J. H. Bugg, the local representative from the Portland office. It is probable that some modification will be asked in time limit, but otherwise it is thought the company will accept the franchise. It is learned that several weeks ago a preliminary survey was made of the proposed route within the city limits by men who at that time it was supposed were doing government work.

Dr. H. W. Coe, promoter of the St. Helens Public Service, was in Vancouver. Mr. Coe has not told the local council on what terms he wishes a franchise. It is stated that no action will be taken until he does. As his proposal now stands, if granted, it would permit him to lay a streetcar track on any street in the city.

IDAHO JUSTICE OF PEACE MAY BE ARRESTED

Charged That He Misappropriated Funds in Issuing Licenses.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Lewiston, Ida., Sept. 27.—The probable arrest of a north Idaho justice of the peace charged with the misappropriation of funds promises to be a sensation soon to be sprung by the state fish and game commission. The investigation has been completed by Deputy Warden Harbaugh and a report of commission has been made to State Game Warden Stevens. Mr. Harbaugh recently visited Kootenai county and secured from the justice a receipt, instead of the regular license authorized by the state and with which all persons authorized to issue licenses are supplied. Upon inquiry he was informed that the license had not arrived, but the records at the postoffice show the justice to be picked up on the streets this morning in a dazed condition. He says he remembers nothing of how he got here. He started for Portland and while at Victoria he was induced to take several drinks and was robbed of all his money. That is the last he remembers until he came to himself at police headquarters in this city.

PICKED UP IN A DAZED CONDITION IN SEATTLE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Sept. 27.—B. Fraser of the Morfren, Manitoba, land office, was picked up on the streets this morning in a dazed condition. He says he remembers nothing of how he got here. He started for Portland and while at Victoria he was induced to take several drinks and was robbed of all his money. That is the last he remembers until he came to himself at police headquarters in this city.

AT THE THEATRES.

Belasco Offering. The Belasco theatre stock company is offering the playgoers of Portland the funniest farce ever written—"On the Quiet"—in which William Collier made his greatest success. It is on for the whole week, including matinee Saturday and Sunday and a Sunday night performance.

"The Girl From Kay's" Coming. The huge musical comedy, "The Girl From Kay's," will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, October 2 and 3, with a special price matinee Tuesday. It is an extraordinary play that tells a straight story interpolated with tawdry numbers. There are 50 people on its salary list and it requires a couple of cars to transport its scenic effects. The advance sale of seats will open Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Show at the Star. Richards and Richards present a very attractive musical comedy, "The Girl From Kay's," will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, October 2 and 3, with a special price matinee Tuesday. It is an extraordinary play that tells a straight story interpolated with tawdry numbers. There are 50 people on its salary list and it requires a couple of cars to transport its scenic effects. The advance sale of seats will open Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Leon at the Grand. Perhaps the greatest illusionist in the world is Leon who is the head of the Grand bill this week. Walsh and Ligon have a bright musical act; Durban and Courtney are introducing the latest eastern song hits, and Walter Perry is telling funny stories.

At the Lyric. Every one has heard of the standard old drama, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," but many have never had the opportunity of witnessing it. These are offered the choice this week at the Lyric, where it is being produced in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. There is a daily matinee as well as two performances nightly.

"The Convict's Daughter." One of the stellar attractions of the season at the Empire is "The Convict's Daughter," a new, original sensational melodrama by J. A. Fraser. It is a play full of heart interest and contains uncommon scenic realism. The escape of an innocent convict on a freight train is a thrilling scene. The engagement will close tonight.

Baker Is Popular. Any evening one may see the standing room sign hung out in front of the Baker theatre, where the Williams Ideal Extraneous company is playing. The sensation that this company has created has caused the management to arrange for a special train so as to give a regular performance on Saturday night of this week.

"Sweet Clover" at Empire. The entertainment to be offered at the Empire for three nights commencing Thursday, September 28, will be the superb scenic production of the hour act comedy, "Sweet Clover." The atmosphere of the play moves from the city to the country, and both localities are faithfully represented with intelligent attention to realistic details.

May Irwin's Matinee Tomorrow. A special matinee will be given tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock, when Jolly May Irwin and her excellent company will present her effective comedy, "Mrs. Black Is Back."

"Under Southern Skies" Friday. The advent of "Under Southern Skies" at the Marquam Grand theatre next Friday and Saturday nights, September 29 and 30, with a popular-price matinee Saturday, should be of great interest to the playgoers. The theme of the story is interesting and the comedy delightful. The company is large and the production is carried intact. Seats now on sale.

May Irwin Tonight at Marquam. That laugh-producing woman, May Irwin, and her excellent company will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand theatre tonight and tomorrow night at 8:20 o'clock, when she will present her latest successful comedy, "Mrs. Black Is Back."

FINSEN LIGHT CAUSES MAN TO BECOME BLIND

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 27.—Four hours' work over a Finsen light being installed in a local magnetic institute caused L. L. Boice, an electrician, to go stone blind Sunday night. The man, enduring the most agonizing torture, is slowly recovering his eyesight. Boice started for home about 11 o'clock at night after finishing his work. When about two blocks from his residence he was horrified to find that he had become totally blind. He made his way along by following the fences and arrived home without injury. A physician was summoned who diagnosed the case as paralysis of the optic nerve. Treatment the hundreds who came from Washington to participate in the celebration. At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, following a selection by the Administration Band, Executive Commissioner E. Johnson called a large crowd to order in the parlors of the spacious structure. In his introductory remarks Mr. Johnson expressed the gratification of every citizen of Washington for the many courtesies shown the people of that state by the Lewis and Clark fair management.

Dr. J. J. Smith, president of the Washington state commission, was one of the important speakers of the day. He told briefly of the part played by the commission in exploiting Washington at the fair and expressed himself as more than pleased with the treatment accorded the state.

An address of welcome by President H. W. Goode followed and an eloquent response was made by Governor Albert E. Mead of Washington. The final oration was by T. D. Rockwell.

Late this afternoon there was a reception in the building, at which the Vancouver hostesses presided.
