He Will Hear the Jones Case Next Week but Subsequent Trials May Be Conducted Before Judge Bellinger's Successor.

At the request of the United States district attorney the the United States district attorney the grand jury was reconvened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Judge Hunt expects to return to Montana at the conclusion of that trial and he stated from the bench this morning that he was quite uncertain whether he

Mr. Heney opposed the motion, saying that it was impossible to set the case at this time and that a separate trial for the defendant (Mays) would throw on the government an unnecessary burden of trouble and expense.

In behalf of Mays, Judge Bennett stated that his client was suffering much hardship through the delay in bringing his case to trial. The court, however, declined to allow the motions, saying that as it was improbable that he would hear the case he did not wish to make any orders relating to it.

Judge Pipes is making a strong effort to overthrow the second indictment against W. N. Jones, Thaddeus S. Potter and Ira Wade. He alleges that the indictment is invalid for the reason that not all of the members of the grand jury were notified to be present op the day when the indictment was returned into court. It is conceded that more than the number required to indict were present, but one or more members of the jury failed to receive notification. The big dog promptly followed his little master into the water, and a moment later had hauled him out on the grass by the lakeside. The boy when asked to explain the accident, said:

When a territory goes to giving away gold nuggets and rabbits' feet it is to be assured that wealth exists there. Alaska took this extraordinary method of exploitation today at the exposition, and for several hours 1,000 people clamored for the souvenirs in the territorial building on the Government penninsula. It was Alaska's own day and she made the most of it. The nuggets came from Nome. The rabbit feet were given by L. L. Bales, an explorer and trapper who has made his fortune in the frozen north.

as other personal property if the action of County Assessor B. D. Sigier is upheld by the board of equalization. He stated today that he had placed an arbitrary valuation on the franchises.

Assessing franchises is something which has never been done before in this county, although they are valued highly by the large corporations. Among the corporations affected is the Portland Consolidated Railway company, the Oregon Water Power & Railway company, the Oregon Traction company, the Pacific States Telegraph & Telephone company, the Home Telephone company, the Home Telephone company, the Western Union Telegraph company, the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, the Southern Pacific company and others.

Statements are being sent out by the assessor to property-owners giving the arbitrary assessments of their respective property and requesting them if they have any objections to the valuations, to appear before the board of equalization next Monday morning and present their grievances.

Officials are of the opinion that it will be necessary to raise no more money the coming year than it was this year to carry on the different branches of government, in which case, if the assessed valuations of property in the city are treble what they were last year, the tax rate will not be more than one thing as great. Last year the total tax levy within the city was 40 mills. County Assessor Sigler said today that on an assessment of $150,000,000 he had reckoned on a 15-mill tax levy. He said, however, that the rate might be greater or less, depending on the equalized valuation of property in the city are treble what they were last year. To carry on the city government it is thought that a somewhat larger sum will have to be raised by taxes than this year. The same will be about what it was this year. A special city tax of two mills may be levied to build bridges.

County Clerk Fields said today that the county would not need such a large the county would not need such a large sum of money to carry on its govern-ment next year. A large sum was raised this year to pay off the balance of the indebtedness and at the present of the indebtedness and at the present time there are sufficient funds in the county treasury to meet all claims until the taxes are collected next spring. Mr. Fields further said that the state school tax would not be so heavy the coming year as it was this. A total of the amounts to be raised for the dif-ferent branches of government, Mr. Fields thought, would exceed but little, if any, what was raised this year, in which case the tax levy would be about one-third as great.

Miss Meeks of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."
