TODAY'S MARKETS

Produce Supplies Along Front Street Somewhat Short for Saturday Trade on Account of Wreck of Steamship St. Paul.

SHORTAGE CAUSED BY A WRECK

Piling of Steamer St. Paul on Rocks Is Good for Fruit Market Values.

FLOUR VERY FIRM WITH PRICE ACTIVE

Turkeys Coming Quite Freely but Weather Is Against Prices and Sharp Decline Is Shown Today—Small Veal Sells.

Front Street, Oct. 6.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:
Wrecked steamer causes scarcity.
Flour market is firm and active.
Bids for wheat at slight premium.
Car bananas in today.
Two cars Merced sweet potatoes in.
Poultry receipts continue heavy.
Eggs are firm with price same.
Turkeys are considerably lower.
Small veal good; large ones dull.
Block hogs find active demand.
Butter market is in better shape.
Salmon scarce on account muddy water.
Celery lower with better supplies.
Cabbage plentiful; price lower.
Grape market is quoted firmer.
Pears and apples are very firm.

Wrecked Steamer Causes Scarcity.

The wreck of the steamer St. Paul off the California coast reported yesterday has caused uneasiness along produce row. A considerable amount of fruit was on the boat consigned to local merchants. The steamer was due to arrive today and the goods were to be used for the Saturday trade. Saturday is usually a day of small trade along Front street—the exception being the time when the California steamer stuff is unloaded on that morning. On the steamer was a considerable amount of grapes from the south. The first navel oranges of the present season were expected on the boat and Tim Pearson, the owner of the shipment, is mourning his loss.

All Fruits Are Firm.

On account of the wreck all fruit prices were held firmer today, the demand for grapes being considerably increased. Good tomatoes are scarce and the price is higher. A car of bananas arrived in during the day and helped to relieve the demand. Two cars of crated sweet potatoes came in during the morning from Merced and found a good demand around 2½c per pound. Good oranges are very scarce and present stocks are held very firm and high. Cabbage from local points is rather plentiful and the price has dropped to 1c per pound. Pears, apples and peaches are firmer, the supplies of the latter being nominal. Bartlett pears have about disappeared from the cold-storage institutions and the few remaining stocks are held very firm at $1.50 per box.

Celery supplies are now very liberal and prices are quoted lower.

Flour Market Is Firm and Active.

Locally the flour market is quoted firmer and even more active than formerly. There is still a considerable call from oriental points, but millers are asking the higher prices and acceptances are not so many. The wheat market is quoted very firm around present values and some slight premium is reported being paid for choice lots in order to fill contracts. The millfeed market shows a very good tone throughout and prices are quoted stiff but unchanged. Demand from California points is considerable.

Turkeys Are Considerably Lower.

Weather conditions are unfavorable to the turkey demand. Receipts are showing quite a material increase, but dealers say they cannot afford to buy. Sales have been reported as low as 15c, but the general market is a fraction higher than that mark. Chickens are quoted fair at 12@12½c, but receipts are very heavy and it takes an exceptionally good lot to bring the latter figure. Ducks and geese both find a good demand with receipts not up to the inquiries around present values.

The egg market is firmer under stress of light receipts.

The creamery butter situation shows a better disposition on account of decreasing supplies and a better demand. Some fair-sized shipments of eastern creamery are expected within the next few days.

Small Veal Good—Large Ones Dull.

Receipts of dressed veal are more liberal but the market still retains a good tone for the smaller sizes. Large ones are most plentiful and for these the market is not so good.

Block hogs find a fair call but the market is not quite so firm, although the price remains unchanged. A slight increase in the receipts is shown.

Salmon Scarce on Account Muddy Water.

Salmon supplies are rather small on account of the muddy water in the Columbia, making it hard for the traps to operate to advantage. From the coast streams the catch is also reported small and all supplies in this market are scarce. Halibut remains with small supplies and price high.

Hops Remain Very Dull.

There is a very dull tone to the hop market. Some orders are reported in at 11¾@12c, but beyond these figures brewers do not care to buy. Picking in this state is completed and final figures of the crop are soon expected. All present indications point to a crop of fully 95,000 bales.

JOURNAL'S DAILY TIPS TO SHIPPERS

"The market for poultry has been a disappointment this week, for while receipts were large, demand has been poor, and prices have suffered greatly. This is especially true as to turkeys, for there has been a very poor demand for these; in fact, they have been hard to place at all. Hens and springs have been selling of late as low as 12½ cents, and some have not cleaned up at that. Turkeys have sold as low as 15 and 17 cents, and we hear of even lower prices. Our advice to holders of turkeys is to get them in the best possible shape and ship the fat ones, dressed, on the Saturday or Monday preceding Thanksgiving. We are sure that the price will be a good one for good birds at that time."—Tom Farrell of Everding & Farrell.

TONE CONTINUED DURING DAY

Chicago Wheat Market Was Strong Early and Held Feeling All Through Trading.

THREE QUARTERS IS RISE IN OPTIONS

Continued Buying by Germany in This Country Is Principal Bullish Feature—Cash Demand Is Good With Apparently Little for Sale.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Logan & Bryan say: The Argentine wheat shipments are about 300,000 bushels less than last week. Today's market started strong and retained its strength throughout the session, closing practically at the top. The export business of Germany continues to act as a stimulant and, with the improved tone of cash, tends to unsettle the confidence of the bears and invites some little increase in the outside demand. Today's market was uniformly strong. Millers seem to have cleaned up the primary markets pretty well for choice wheat, St. Louis wiring that soft wheat will be very scarce in the near future. The situation the last day or two seems to have gathered strength. The market acts more snappy than for some time, buyers being compelled to bid up, with less wheat apparently for sale. The holdings appear to be still intact. A southwestern message says a prominent elevator concern got a very bullish message to the effect that 45 per cent of the wheat had been marketed, and in the winter sections the ground was very dry and seeding is delayed; with the ground already seeded, needing rain very badly. This is a factor that the trade must watch closely. It has been for some time apparent that the new crop of winter wheat was not getting the required amount of moisture.

The corn market participated to a mild extent in a little bullish activity, but at the top met some realizing, which was not at all unnatural considering the slowness of the market.

Broader Trade in Oats.

The oats market ruled strong, with a broader trade, showing a net advance of ¼c for the day. The coarse grain list, both corn and oats, continue to offer more encouragement for future operations.

Provisions were far from being alarming in the bearish way, both the near months and the distant ones taking on a new strength and activity. It is, however, a packers' market.

"There is a slightly better feeling in the hog market, despite the heavy receipts," says Secretary Plummer. "There was a very weak feeling, but there seems to be some improvement today. Cattle are good; sheep and calves are good—in fact the entire market has taken on a somewhat improved tone. Prices, however, are the same.

Official prices for livestock:

Hogs—Best easterd Oregon, $6.00; blockers and China fats, $5.00; stockers and feeders, $4.50.

Cattle—Best eastern Oregon steers, $3.25; light and medium steers, $2.00; light cows, $1.50@2.00; stockers and feeders, $2.25@2.50; bulls, $1.50.

Wall Street, New York, Oct. 6.—The opening of the stock market showed a declining tendency on account of the high money rates, the market values showing losses through most of the list. Money opened at 7 per cent but was weak at that figure. This quotation sent prices off and the sliding movement was continued for some time. Later in the day money rates slid off, values going down as low as 1 per cent. This acted as a bullish incentive and stock values were again sent up. The list closed divided.
