TODAY'S MARKETS

Somewhat Better Tone Ruling in Better Market and Prices Are Fractionally Higher Along Front Street Today.

OUTSIDE BUTTER IS ADVANCED

Fancy Creamery Is Showing Rise of Two and a Half Cents on Front Street.

HOP MARKET HAS A MUDDLED FEELING

Onions and Potatoes Slightly Up on Account of Temporary Scarcity—Chickens Clean Up Better on Account of Smaller Stocks.

Front Street, Oct. 13.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:
Front street butter higher.
Hop market all in a muddle.
Meats clean up at the price.
Clams are out of market.
Onion market ranging higher.
Potatoes are held stiffer.
Wheat and flour both firm.
Sweet potatoes a trifle lower.
Smaller receipts in chickens.
Eggs remain firm at the price.
New raisin prices are named.
Tomato products ruling higher.
Hide market is quoted firmer.
Peaches are higher with scarcity.

Butter Higher on Front Street.

With a decrease in the arrivals the butter market is showing a fractionally improved tone today and prices are practically ½c higher along Front street, the top for fancy outside creamery being listed at 30c per pound. City creamery butter is likewise firm, but as yet no advances are quoted in the price, the top remaining 2½c over the high points for out-of-town creamery. Country store butter is not coming very fast. There is a demand for the best store product in the city but off grades find a welcome in the south at good values. Good-sized shipments of eastern butter are expected in this market within the next few days. California markets show a good tone for butter and the volume of arrivals from there in this market is very small.

Egg Market Is Firm.

The egg market is held very firm today. Receipts are showing neither a decrease or an increase. The trade is fairly well supplied at the prices quoted. Eastern eggs are of better quality and sales are better.

Poultry Cleans Up Better.

Poultry shows a tendency to clean up a trifle better today. Receipts yesterday afternoon and today were not so heavy and this helped the tone, although no changes were made in the price. Turkeys are hardly coming at all, but the high prices which ruled a week or 10 days ago has soured the large retailers and they do not care to buy.

Hop Market All in a Muddle.

All is a muddle in the hop market. Some dealers claim that the price is higher, while others say there are no orders even at the low prices now ruling. A bull leader makes the assertion that he is offering 13½c for choice hops and cannot secure them, while a bear operator says he can buy all he wants at 12@12½c. In order to make the market clear to its readers a prominent grower and dealer authorizes The Journal for two days to offer 100 bales of choice hops for sale at 13½c per pound. The goods are to be choice, quality to be judged by disinterested parties. The name of the grower-dealer is withheld from publication so as to keep him from any public controversy.

Some small sales of hops have been reported during the past few days, but they were mainly at prices that have ruled during the previous week. Dealers are a unit in saying that no new orders are being received for hops, present sales being solely for short account. The wide range in prices between this market and New York continues and this is one of the main reasons why Oregon growers are not offering their hops more freely at present. Prime to choice New York hops are quoted in that market at 20@22c per pound. There are 3c charges, commissions and freight, between this city and the buyer in New York. As Oregon hops are conceded to be of choicer quality than any other place in the country—or the world, growers believe they should receive more money. On a basis of New York prices hops would be selling at 17@19c per pound, Portland.

Clams Are Out of Market.

There is now a great scarcity of clams in the local fish markets. Wholesalers attribute the shortage to severe weather off the coast.

Salmon receipts from the Columbia are only fair, while demand is good.

Slightly larger receipts are shown in halibut.

New Raisin Prices Are Named.

Portland jobbers are now naming their new raisin prices. As was told in The Journal in a previous issue, these values are from 1½@3c per pound higher than last year's figures. The new list includes: Loose Muscatels, 2-crown, 7½c; 3-crown, 8c; 4-crown, 8½c; unbleached Sultanas, 7½c; London layers, 2-crown, $2 per box of 20 lbs; seeded fancy, 1s, 10½c; choice 1s, 10c; fancy 12-oz., 8½c; choice 12-oz., 8c.

Onions and Potatoes Are Higher.

Both the onion and the potato markets are higher. There is a good local demand for both products and a small shipping call for the latter. On account of the rains potatoes have been somewhat scarce the past few days and prices have been stiffened. The outside call has hardly begun.

The following quotations are paid by retailers along Front street for choice quality in round lots. Producers' prices are so specified:

JOURNAL'S DAILY TIPS TO SHIPPERS

"Poultry — Demand has been poor on chickens, with a fair demand for geese, ducks and large turkeys. Receipts of chickens have been pretty large, and the fact that most of the buyers are very well supplied, has had a poor effect on the market. There is a pretty fair demand at this time for turkeys if they are pretty good and of large size. When the 'killers' have their pens full they will not buy at any price—that is all there is to the proposition."—Tom Farrell of Everding & Farrell.

COTTON FUTURES ARE THREE TO FIVE DOWN

LEADERS FEEDING OUT WHEAT

Pit Traders Believe Bull Clique Is Selling Some of the Long Stuff in Chicago Market.

CLOSING INDICATES VERY TIRED FEELING

Trading Dwindles Down to Small Basis — Primary Cash Markets Show Slowing Down—Easier Tone in Corn—Little Doing in Oats.

FRIDAY'S WHEAT MARKET.

	Close Fri.	Close Thur.	Loss Fri.	Close Year Ago
Dec.	$ .85⅝B	$ .86 B	$ .00⅝	$1.10⅝
May	.86⅝B	.87⅛	.00⅝	1.10⅝
July	.83⅞	.84 B	.00⅝	.....

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Logan & Bryan say: Today's market started strong and for some time after the opening maintained a firm tone, but the impression of the pit at the close seems to be that a leading elevator concern was cautiously feeding wheat on the hard spots. The close of the market seemed to indicate a tired feeling. The trade in wheat dwindled down to a small volume. Primary markets for cash showed some slowing down and added to the tired feeling prevailing in the speculative market. No change seems in evidence as yet. The pit element continues suspicious of the bull leader's intentions, and are closely watching his movements. They are quick to detect any selling from that source and equally quick to detect any buying.

Easier Tone in Corn.

An easier feeling prevailed in the corn market, due largely to the easing off in cash prices, but declines in futures were not at all extended. A little halt or setback would not be at all alarming. It would not necessarily mean that conditions had at all changed, except in a speculative way, and that only temporarily. Underlying factors are still a strong feature.

The recent activity in the oats market was not in evidence today, prices losing a small fraction. The export demand holds out much encouragement for future bullish activity in this market.

Provisions had an irregular day, but on the whole it was what might be called a strong market. Activity comes by spurts only, but the packers apparently have the situation in control.

JONES' CORN ESTIMATE.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Jones' corn crop estimate: New England and north Atlantic acreage, 2,732,000; yield, 93,276,000 bushels; south acreage, 34,909,000; yield, 621,907,000 bushels. Central and southwest, 53,903,000 acres; yield, 1,800,522,000 bushels. Other western, 268,000 acres and 6,792,000 bushels. Total acreage, 90,891,000; yield, 2,521,987,000 bushels. The pamphlet says: "It is the common opinion of leaders in the corn trade 'that the government has overestimated corn yields for three or four years, notably in 1904. It may be said fairly that an equivalent of 125,000,000 bushels of the government estimate is due to the use of too high an acreage."

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

New York, Oct. 13.—The Wall Street Journal says: Indications point to an increase in the Norfolk dividend. Stocks are freely offered in the loan crowd, with the exception of St. Paul, Illinois Central and Western Union. Good judges think there will be no developments in Pacific Mail until after Southern Pacific gets a dividend. The London settlement passed off without showing weakness. Only one house was helped over. Wisconsin Central shows earnings equal to 4.44 per cent on preferred stock. Seventeen roads for the first week of October show an average gross increase of 8.18 per cent; 12 industrials advanced .15 per cent; 20 active rails advanced .06 per cent. The banks gained from the subtreasury since Friday $115,000.

Wall Street, New York, Oct. 13.—Everything was bullish at the opening of the stock market, this tone continuing through the day. All issues practically show an advance. Wisconsin Central was again an active feature on account of the fight for control. During the day the price advanced 1¼ and 1⅞ points for the common and preferred, respectively. Canadian Pacific was also a bull feature, with a rise of 1⅝ for the day.

HOGS PLENTIFUL WHILE A DULL TONE RULES

Receipts at Stockyards Are Increased—Absence of Cattle Helps Tone of Market.

Portland Union Stockyards, Oct. 13.—Livestock receipts:

	Hogs.	Cattle.	Sheep.
Today	457	...	147
Week ago	416	101	318
Previous week	152	...	1,055
Month ago	290	28	1,055

Hogs are very much in evidence in the yards today, the arrivals being quite heavy. Packers' demand continues a trifle dull. Since the decline of 25c reported exclusively in The Journal yesterday there has been no change in values. Cattle are scarce and for fancy stocks the market will do some better. Sheep and calves good.

Official price for livestock:

Hogs—Best eastern Oregon, $5.75@6.00; blockers and China fats, $5.00@5.50; stockers and feeders, $4.50.

Cattle—Best eastern Oregon steers, $3.25; light and medium steers, $2.00; light cows, $2.00@2.50; stockers and feeders,
