WE ARE SELLING AT SACRIFICE PRICES TO CLEAR SPACE FOR THESE PIANOS

Have a Double Value

The Pianos which won five Gold Medals, one Silver Medal and one of Bronze at the Lewis and Clark Exposition together with the instruments chosen by the various state commissioners will be offered for sale at greatly reduced prices at our display rooms commencing Thursday, October 19.

These are the identical Pianos which won the medals and which were chosen by the state commissions for superior merit. They are no better than other Pianos of the same make and grade but the historical worth attaches to them of being Medal Winners and of having graced the places of honor in state and other exhibits.

They are Pianos that wear and keep their tone and quality, otherwise they would not have won medals nor have been chosen by discriminating state commissioners who had scores of instruments from which to make their choice.

The grandchildren and the great-grandchildren of the purchasers of these splendid instruments will treasure them for their abiding musical worth, and also for their historical associations.

The Medal Winners and the State Pianos will be on sale at greatly reduced prices commencing Thursday, October 19.

$60,000 DUTY ON ALICE'S GIFTS

Customs Rule to Be Enforced on Presents Showed Upon President's Daughter.

CONGRESS MAY COME TO HER ASSISTANCE

Executive Orders Are Powerless to Assist Miss Roosevelt—Understood That Executive Has Ordered That No Favours Be Shown Her.

New York, Oct. 17.—Unless congress comes to the assistance of Miss Alice Roosevelt she will either be obliged to pay duty on presents she is bringing home, worth $100,000, from her oriental trip or turn them over to the treasury department. The sultan of Sulu, the empress of Japan, the emperor of Korea and other oriental rulers have bestowed rare jewels and other treasures on her.

There is nothing in the laws of the country which excepts the daughter of the president from the general customs rule. When the inspectors board the ship at San Francisco she will be called upon for full 60 per cent of the ad valorem duty of the treasures that are worth a fortune, unless she is willing to turn them over to some charitable institution.

Executive orders are powerless to assist Miss Roosevelt. Neither Miss Roosevelt nor her father are wealthy. It is understood that the president has rendered a decision to the effect that his daughter's baggage must be treated as that of any other private person.

NEW YORK LIFE TOLD TO REFORM OR LEAVE STATE

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 17.—The New York Life Insurance company has been notified through its attorneys at St. Louis, by W. E. Vandiver, superintendent of the state insurance department, that he has full power to insist that its demand that there be an immediate change in the management of the company, and that certain moneys be refunded if the company desires to continue business in Missouri, be complied with.

FOLK HELPS WEAVER IN FIGHT FOR CIVIC PURITY

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—In the Academy of Music here last night Governor Folk of Missouri spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience that packed the vast building, while outside thousands clamored for admission. About 100 prominent citizens occupied the stage with Mr. Folk. He spoke on civic reform and said that if corruption existed in Philadelphia her people were to blame and that more aggressive patriotism was needed.

QUITS TRAIN ROBBING FOR REALMS OF FINANCE

Cole Younger Finds Bigger and Safer Profits as a Captain of Industry.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Cole Younger, former highwayman, is in Chicago in the interest of the electric railway planned from Kansas City to St. Louis, which he is promoting. As the dinner guest of Jefferson de Angella, the actor, he was a member of a fashionable assemblage in the cafe of the Annex. Younger is 60 years old, but, notwithstanding 16 years as a Quattrini guerrilla, and bank and train robber with the James boys, and 25 years as a convict in the Minnesota penitentiary, hardships and age have left slight traces.

THREE COWS AND A GUN BRING FABULOUS RICHES

Chihuahua, Mex., Oct. 17.—Frederick J. M. Rhodes, an English mining engineer, who recently visited a remote section of Sierra Madre, says that he has discovered a gold mine of fabulous richness which is being worked by three Mexicans. It is in the heart of rugged mountains and has netted the owners $1,500,000 in the past few years. The mine is so far removed from other settlements that news of its existence had not reached the mining men of the state until Rhodes told about it.

Chebourg, France, Oct. 17.—Venezuela is to be given a hint that she must apologize to France for her insults to the latter and a strong naval force is now on the way to Maracaibo. MITCHELL WOULD HAVE HIS CASE DECIDED SOON AS POSSIBLE

"The Sooner the Better," Says He—Senator Will Not Resign Place in Congress, Nor Will Williamson, and Oregon Will Have But One Representative.

United States Senator John H. Mitchell wants his case on appeal to the federal supreme court to be advanced and decided as soon as possible.

Senator Mitchell left last evening for Seattle, where he will remain for several days attending to private business and then visit his daughter in Tacoma for a short time.

He has recovered from the effects of his recent accident, when he fell on the dock at the waterfront and sustained a fracture of a rib. His physical vigor has been regained in a remarkably short space of time and to his friends who bade him good-bye he appeared to be in an excellent state of health.

As he stepped aboard the North Coast Limited train he was asked regarding the report recently telegraphed from Washington that he had not asked the supreme court to advance his cause on the calendar so as to have an early hearing, the course pursued by United States Senator Burton of Kansas, also under conviction in the federal court.

"The sooner the better," was his brief response to questions as to whether or not he desired an early decision of his appeal. "My case is in the hands of my lawyers, however, and it is the part of a wise client to leave the conduct of his case to their judgment."

Senator Mitchell said that ex-United States Senator John F. Thurston of Nebraska was his senior counsel to whom he looked to determine the wise course with reference to handling the case before the supreme court.

Senator Mitchell intimated that he strongly resents the suggestion that he should resign his office and the inference was that he intends to remain in the position until the higher court has disposed of the appeal.

Congressman J. N. Williamson was asked yesterday regarding the retention of his position in the lower national house and said that he would not be in a hurry to resign, that the supreme court might reverse the decision of the lower court and that in that event he would have done himself an injustice.

It is apparent, therefore, that Oregon will have only one representative in congress this winter. When Senator Fulton returns to Washington on November 15 he will be alone in the senate.

Congressman Williamson's conviction deprives him of the right to take his seat in the house and it is taken for granted that Congressman Hermann, with four indictments hanging over him, will refrain from participation in the congressional proceedings.

RAIN, HAIL, WIND, SUN AND CALM IN AN HOUR

With the exception of a blizzard, Portland was entertained today with every variety of weather that Colonel Dealy has in his repertoire. The performance was highly interesting and kept 150,000 people in Oregon's metropolis busy changing costume and equipment.

For awhile the sun shone out of a clear sky he looked down upon the busy city and smiled. The air was cool and invigorating; it was apparently an ideal autumn day. Then the sun grew angry and wrapped himself in a mantle of mist, concealing himself but showing his displeasure.

Then it began to rain, not in the regulation style, but in a surly, ostentatious way that drove even native Oregonians off the streets for a time. But the weather god was fickle and ordered a change from rain to sunshine and from sunshine to rain in a way that caused strangers to pause and wonder.

Then just to show that there were other specialties besides the rain and sunshine he blew his breath across the sky and emptied a million tiny pieces of ice upon the city. It hailed and large drops pattered on the roofs and sidewalks like the rattle of a drum. It lasted until this afternoon.

After a hard day's work, there's nothing so refreshing as a hot cup of Galt's Beryl Tea.

COUNCILMEN MEET AND QUARREL

Proposed Peace Session of Liquor License Committee Results in Disagreement.

VAUGHN'S BOX MEASURE CAUSES THE FIGHT

Tie Vote Decided by Chairman Gray in Favor of Ordinance Introduced by Himself—Minority Will Carry Fight to Council.

"I challenge you to name your objections to this ordinance. I defy any member of this committee to point out a clause which should not be in it."

Councilman Vaughn directed the above remarks at the members of the liquor license committee of the council who were opposed to his box ordinance at a special meeting this morning. Not a member offered to make any objections to the proposed measure, but four of them refused to vote for it and recommended a new ordinance prepared by Councilman Gray instead.

The meeting was held for the purpose of deciding on an ordinance which would be acceptable to the entire committee. It looked as if the two opposing factions in the council would arrive at an amicable conclusion and vote unanimously to recommend an ordinance to the council.

LOOKED LIKE PEACE

Councilman Vaughn and the supporters of his ordinance, including Councilmen Masters, Wallace and Annand, agreed to change the ordinance to do away with all passageways in saloons and have boxes to open directly on the main barrooms. On the other hand the supporters of the Bennett measure, including Councilmen Gray, Shepherd and Wills, agreed to the exemption of hotels under the ordinance.

At this juncture Councilman Gray presented another ordinance which was practically the same as the Vaughn ordinance only it was rather loosely constructed and there were several subjects under one section.

"I will not vote for that ordinance," declared Councilman Masters; "it is too loosely drawn. An attorney would laugh at it. Why not recommend the Vaughn ordinance, which is practically the same thing and states explicitly everything that is required?"

would not vote for the Vaughn ordinance, although they made no specific objections to it.

During the discussion Councilman Shepherd suggested that Mayor Lane be asked to come before the committee and state his ideas regarding a box ordinance.

"I don't care what the mayor would say," quickly retorted Gray. "I wouldn't make a particle of difference with me."

When the final vote was taken Annand, Wills and Shepherd voted for the Gray ordinance and Vaughn, Wallace and Masters for the Vaughn ordinance. Chairman Gray decided the tie by voting in favor of his own ordinance. A minority report will be made to the council, recommending that the Vaughn ordinance pass.

What was to have been a peace meeting ended with the opposing factions farther apart than ever before.

The matter will go before the city council tomorrow for consideration. The Gray adherents claim a majority of the votes of the council since Councilman Annand voted with them today. His principal objection to the Bennett ordinance at the last council meeting was because hotels were included under the ordinance, while he favored their exemption. From all indications the Gray ordinance will be passed.

UNEXPECTEDLY ATTENDS SERVICES AT CHURCH

Springfield, Or., Oct. 17.—Sunday several of the railroad men sauntered out for a stroll. A shower overtook them and they ran for the nearest shelter they could find, which was under the eaves of a church. A conductor of the Southern Pacific was leaning against the door, when it gave way, precipitating him full length before the pulpit and astonished congregation. He arose to his feet and plausibly exclaimed that it was the first time he had been to church for years.

Big Wood Drive Begins. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Milton, Or., Oct. 17.—The first drive of winter wood cut on the headwaters of the Walla Walla river will reach here some time this week. A drive of 300 cords was started down the stream last Friday. Considerable difficulty is expected in getting the wood past the big dam of the Northwestern Gas & Electric company, located at the Roberts ranch, 15 miles above here. Wood men say they may have to wait for winter floods before they can move the drives over this stretch. About 1,500 cords of wood is the output on the river this year.
