

SENATOR CLARK SAYS $5,000,000 MANSION IS UTTER FAILURE

Montana Senator Disappointed With New York Palace Built for His Bride.

New York, Oct. 13.—Multimillionaire United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana is disappointed in his $5,000,000 white marble palace that is nearing completion at Fifth avenue and seventy-seventh street which is to be the New York home of his beautiful young wife.

"It does not suit," said Senator Clark. It is a bitter disappointment to the mining magnate. He intended it as the most splendid mansion in America. Rather than pay prices demanded by contractors and labor unions he purchased outright a quarry from which he could obtain the stone to suit his aesthetic taste and bought a bronze factory to insure the quality and character of the grills and fixtures.

Photograph of the palace built by Senator Clark of Montana for his young wife on Fifth avenue, New York, at a cost of $5,000,000, which he now pronounces a failure. Below is shown a statue surmounting a carved column at the entrance, one of the main arches and a photograph of Architect Hull, accused of negligence in superintending the building.

The differences between the architects for the interior decorations of the palace and Senator Clark are being aired in a suit for the dissolution of the firm of Lord, Hewlett & Hull, that is now on trial before Justice Davis of the supreme court.

The firm held a contract for the decoration of the mansion, Washington Hull from whom his partners wished separation, was at the outset given entire charge of the elaborate decorations, and it is alleged, so performed his duty as to disgust the senator, who notified the firm that he would recognize no vouchers from them unless signed by at least two members of the firm, thus imposing upon them the supervision of the work. A reciever is asked so that the contract may be carried forward to successful execution.

$75 FORGERY COSTS COUPLE FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

Mr. and Mrs. John Walters Are Separated From Their Child and Sent to Penitentiary.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Butte, Mont., Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. John Walters were each sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for forgery yesterday afternoon, pleading guilty to the charge. The couple have a 6-year-old daughter and the mother cried bitterly when informed by the court that she could not take the little one with her to prison. The little girl had been permitted to remain with her parents in jail during the time they were under arrest here.

Walters and his wife forged checks here to the extent of $75 and from evidence in the hands of the police they have been systematically working the game in a number of towns between here and Spokane. Their home is at Yakima, Washington.

The chief of police also found in their possession articles answering to the description of those which were purchased by a woman forger in Bend, Oregon, with money raised on a forged check there.

MUTUAL LIFE PRESIDENT SHOWED GREAT SAVING

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Oct. 13.—The examination of Mr. Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was resumed today and proved of great interest. He called attention to the fact that the investigation had drifted into an inquisition vague in its character and dealing with no issues which were called without notice being given of what information was required and the inquisitor at once began to impeach their testimony. Instead of information being sought on which to base remedial legislation witnesses were "put upon the rack," as the newspapers have it. Mr. McCurdy said that nearly all complaints that are made could be successfully controverted or explained if witnesses were given a chance. His testimony showed that the company had made a great saving in expenses of the agency department and in matters of legal expenses, although the legislation needed watching and the officer who neglected this duty would be culpable. His testimony today made a distinctly favorable impression.

NO PROXIES WANTED AT RAILROAD ELECTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chicago, Oct. 13.—It is safe to say that never before in the history of American railway companies has the annual meeting of a railroad company been so well attended by bona fide stockholders as the annual meeting of the Illinois Central railway, which is held here today. Other railroad companies, as a rule, have always discouraged their stockholders, particularly those holding only a few shares, from attending the annual meetings and most of the stock was voted by proxies. The directors of the Illinois Central, however, desired that as many stockholders as possible should attend the meeting in person, and to that end offered free transportation over its lines to all holders of one or more shares to Chicago and return. It is believed that other railroad companies will be compelled to imitate this example in the future.

Armed Tour of Europe. (Journal Special Service.) Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—The Albany Burgess corps, numbering 100 men, fully armed and equipped, sailed today on the White Star line steamer Arabic for Europe to make a tour of one month through England and several other European countries. The party will visit London, Paris, Brussels, Cologne, Berlin, Amsterdam, The Hague and Antwerp and expects to arrive in New York one month from today on the Red Star liner Vaderland.

DECLARES OREGON A GREAT WOOL COUNTRY

T. C. Taylor, a Late Visitor at Exposition, Is Member of Parliament and Head of Cooperative Woolen Mills.

One of the most distinguished and interesting visitors at the Lewis and Clark fair during its closing days was T. C. Taylor of Exeter, England, member of parliament and the head of a large cooperative woolen mills company. Mr. Taylor has visited America many times, but it was his first trip to the coast. He came to the west through the Canadian provinces.

Mr. Taylor is the head and principal partner in a large woolen manufacturing company, employing 1,500 people. Ten years ago he converted the company into a profit-sharing institution. The business was founded 60 years ago and has been conducted in the same premises since that time.

In the past 10 years the company has declared on the average 2 1/2 per cent bonus on wages in addition to giving its employees more than the market price of labor. The concern pays 4 1/2 per cent on the capital invested before any dividends is paid to the workers. After that the wage-earners and capitalists share equally in the distribution of dividends.

"Last year capital received 14 1/2 per cent in dividends and workers received 10 per cent on dividends on their wages," said Mr. Taylor. "The workers' dividends are paid in shares of the company."

As it is Mr. Taylor's intention not to increase the size of the business, he proposes to return to the company each year a certain number of shares of stock in return for cash. The cooperative plan is one that is constantly growing in favor with capitalists, he says. He does not claim to be the originator of the idea, saying that he is merely following a plan that was originally conceived by the French.

Mr. Taylor was greatly pleased with the climate and country of the northwest and declared that the wool industry of Oregon should be one of the most extensive in the world.

In England Mr. Taylor is a prominent figure. He has been a member of parliament for the past five years, is deeply interested in industrial questions and is considered an authority. He was recently elected president of the Labor Copartnership association. The aims of the association, as explained by Mr. Taylor, are to make workmen the finders of capital and the finders of business.

The cooperative stores movement, which has met with great success, has provided capital for various societies and organizations with which to conduct businesses of their own. In the middle of England workmen are producing shoes, hosiery and numbers of other articles through the cooperative societies.

"There is one message I would like to leave for the American people," Mr. Taylor said before leaving Portland. "It is to clean up your local governments. That man is not a patriot who lets his city be ruled by a rotten local government, even if he did go to Cuba to fight. I am sure that great trouble would be avoided by the American people if they would pay more attention to the government of their cities."

WENATCHEE DELEGATION RETURNS WELL PLEASED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Wenatchee, Wash., Oct. 13.—The members of the Wenatchee delegation have returned from the Portland fair delighted with their trip, the courtesy shown them by the officials of the fair and reception by the people of Portland. All feel that the advertising done at the fair is the best expenditure of money made in that line. They feel that through the fair Portland residents and people of Oregon in general know that there is such a place as Wenatchee, and that place is the "home of the big red apple, where the dollars grow on trees."

DASHFUL GROOM OF 35 WEDS COY BRIDE OF 65

For Fourth Time Mrs. Virginia James of Ironton, Mo., Made Matrimonial Venture.

(Journal Special Service.) St. Louis, Oct. 13.—George W. Raney of Monroe City, Missouri, and Mrs. Virginia C. James of Ironton, Missouri, were married at St. Xavier's church Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard yesterday. Mr. Raney, who is 35, behaved bashfully, although he is reputed to have taken part in many weddings in a secondary capacity. Mrs. James, who is 65, was coy, although it is the fourth time she has been a bride. The couple obtained a marriage license Monday, but did not plan to get married until Tuesday, because it was arranged that Mrs. James would embrace the Catholic faith Monday night. This she did at St. Xavier's church, sacrament being administered by the Rev. Father James Sullivan.

Mrs. James has considerable wealth, most of which was bequeathed by her third husband, who was the Rev. Thomas S. James, rector of the Episcopal church of Ironton. He died three years ago. The name of her first husband was Stone, and the second Peter E. Crist, a druggist.

MISSOULA PEOPLE ACCUSED OF STEALING WOOD

Government Seeks to Recover Value of Timber Cut on the Public Domain.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Helena, Mont., Oct. 13.—United States Attorney Rasch has instituted a number of suits against the residents of Missoula county, alleging trespass, in which the government seeks to recover the value of cordwood and railroad ties cut from the public domain.

The more important suit is that against Lewis K. Megardem and the Missoula Mercantile company, in which case it is alleged that Megardem cut 17,135 railroad ties and sold them to the mercantile company, and the suit is to recover their value together with costs.

The second suit is against Simon Hillman, who is alleged to have cut 180 cords of wood. John Wallman is alleged to have cut 200 cords of wood.

Indictments were returned by the grand jury against Megardem and Wallman on the charge of trespass and these are now pending in the federal court. Criminal complaint has also been filed against Hillman on a similar charge and this will come up soon before the commissioner at Missoula.
