TOOK FIRST PHOTO IN OREGON

The Late Peter Britt of Jacksonville was Pioneer Photographer of State.

WAS FIRST TO GROW FANCY WINE GRAPES

Demonstrated Adaptability of Oregon Soil to Semi-Tropic Fruit—Played Leading Part in the Development of Rogue River Valley.

Peter Britt.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Medford, Or., Oct. 19.—Linked with the early history of Oregon, a leading figure among the pioneers of the Rogue river valley was Peter Britt, who died at Jacksonville October 3 at the age of 87. Among all the early settlers it is doubtful if any were more closely identified with the early life of the southern part of the state than he. Born in the historic town of Chastain in Conton Glarus, Switzerland, March 11, 1819, he came with his father to Highland, Illinois, in 1854, where he followed the occupation of portrait painter for five years, taking up daguerotyping in 1847. In 1852 the returning "Forty-niners" determined him to remove to the Pacific coast, and after an eight months' trip with ox team, via the Port Hall route and Portland, he arrived at Jacksonville in the fall of that year, where he made his home until his death. With an intermission of some years, when he was engaged in freighting from Crescent City to Jacksonville, he followed the occupation of portrait painter and photographer for 50 years, and had in his gallery at the time of his death the most complete line of pioneer portraits, historical scenes and scenic views in the state. To him belonged the distinction of having taken the first photograph on paper ever taken in the state. The subject was the late Judge Mosher. This occurred in 1855, and for a generation afterwards Mr. Britt had the most complete photographic apparatus south of Portland. He secured a fairly good photograph of Crater lake as early as 1874. He surrounded his home on the elevation back of Jacksonville, from which point is had one of the finest views on the Rogue river mountains, with a collection of rare plants, shrubs and trees, including palms, lemon and orange trees, giving it the aspect of a semi-tropical park. To him more than to any other man belongs the credit of having introduced into southern Oregon the many varieties of wine and table grapes for which this section is noted. Realizing that a section adapted to so many varieties of choice fruits, and blessed with so fine and equable climate was destined to be thickly peopled in the future, Mr. Britt acquired title to a large amount of choice land and at the time of his death was one of the leading landholders of the valley.

SAYS PEOPLE DO NOT RULE

Professor Zueblin Declares That Lincoln's Democracy is a Myth Today.

SPEAKER IS IN FAVOR OF MANUAL TRAINING

Lecture Under Auspices of Chamber of Commerce is Able and Interesting, But Poorly Attended—Another Will Be Given Tonight.

"The people of America are losing their grip on democracy," said Professor Charles Zueblin of the University of Chicago, in the course of a lecture in the First Presbyterian church last night. "Lincoln's definition of government, by the people, of the people and for the people, is a very small part of democracy, and even it is a great deal of a myth in America today. Government by the people, of the people and for the people does not exist in any American community today." Democracy was said to be, in its pure form, liberty, equality and fraternity. The speaker handled each of these with characteristic force and fearlessness. Professor Zueblin declared that "there are some people of this progressive day who were so heedless as to fight the department store, trust and labor union." He hailed these great organizing movements as the dawn of better things for the people as a whole. Should Teach Children to Work. In the matter of education, Professor Zueblin uttered thoughts that would give the old school convulsions. He spurned the old mockery that every American youth might be president, and asked feelingly if it was not the duty of society to teach that the great majority of our people must be workmen. "They will be so, they must be so, and why do we not prepare them best for doing what they are surely destined to perform?" asked the student. This introduced the thought that a modern school which did not teach pupils to use hand and eye was an abuse. In the old days, when boys and girls had to work at home, they learned from their parents how to use both hand and eye; learned the duties of the woman at home and the duties of the man in mastering nature. At present the order is changed somewhat, and unless boys and girls are taught how to use their hands and eyes by the schools they enter upon life badly handicapped. Audience Small. Professor Zueblin lectured under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, his subject being "The Training of the Citizen." He was introduced by Mayor Lane. This evening Professor Zueblin will speak on "The City of the Future." In this he will unfold the essence of municipal economy, and tell what modern cities are doing and should do to bring the greatest good to the people. The lectures are being delivered with no charge to the public.

winter on Jewish sects. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, who will direct the class, emphasized in an introductory talk that sects among the Hebrews have practically passed out of existence and that the study of them will deal altogether with past history. Mrs. Minnie Altman read a paper on "The Samaritans" and traced them from the reign of Solomon to the present day, when there are only a few scattering colonies of them remaining. Dr. Wise said that a band had recently settled in Texas. Other sects to be studied through the year are Gnostics, Essenes, Pharisees, Sadducees, Karaites, Mystics and Kabbalists, Franks and Chasidim. The council proper has published its winter program of study as follows: November 1, "Prominent English Jews in the Nineteenth Century," Miss Sophie Reinhart; and "Current Events," by Mrs. A. Fox, December 6, "Dreyfus," by Miss Boskowitz; "Current Events," by Miss Mae Hirsch, February 7, "The Lesson of Oberammergau," by Mrs. Max Hirsch; "Current Events," by Mrs. Emmanuel Sichel, March 7, "Kindergarten Work," by Mrs. M. Fried; "Current Events," by Miss Ella Hirsch, April 4, "Some Nineteenth Century Jews of Germany," by Mrs. M. Baruh; "Current Events," Mrs. Charles Stern. Checked Death. Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had kidney trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand since, as I find they have no equal." Skidmore Drug Co., 151 Third street, guarantees them at 50c.
