ST. JOHNS TAKES STRONG STAND

Council Determines to Have Corporation Responsible for Water System.

EACH DAY'S NEGLECT A SEPARATE OFFENSE

Council Will Provide Also for a Board of Public Works Which Shall Have Power to Receive Proposals.

The east side office of The Journal is in the street. Telephone East 374.

At an adjourned session of the St. Johns council last night two ordinances of importance were introduced, one of which was passed and the other moved on to the third reading, to be passed at the regular meeting Monday night. The ordinance that was passed was one following the tenor of the mysterious resolution introduced at the last session of the council, and which has been the cause of much comment. The resolution provided that "The city attorney should prepare an ordinance imposing the punishment and penalties for any person, firm or corporation, or any officer, stockholder, agent or employe thereof who shall fail or neglect to perform any or all duties or services required by the public, as well as making such person or persons amenable to punishment for each and every day's neglect or such duty a separate and specific offense."

Only One Way. The resolution was introduced by councilmen who desired to prevent in the future neglect of pledges by corporations having franchises in the town. The resolution and ordinance are based on the theory that the only way to get action on a corporation is by attacking its officers or local agents. Should the local water company fail, in the opinion of the council, to supply an adequate service, after having agreed to do so, its officers in St. Johns, its officers in Portland and its stockholders everywhere would be individually responsible and liable to punishment for each day's neglect as a specific offense. The ordinance which was advanced to the third reading was one in line with a recent resolution creating a board of public works, which should consist of the water committee of the council and two other members appointed by the council. This merely carried out the purpose of the former resolution. Its passage will create a working board that will have power to take up the water problem and receive all proposals for a new plant, pass on these if authorized by the council and let contracts for the work.

Says Action Is Legal. "I believe the council can authorize the board," said City Attorney Greene yesterday. "The council can delegate any authority it possesses and certainly it has power to accept proposals for a water system and award contracts, if no present franchises bind its hands. In addition, by section 10, page 5 of the charter the council is given express power to create other boards and officers than those enumerated in the charter, and there are other charter provisions which authorize the creation of boards and commissions that shall act for the council in certain branches of work."

believe it is now evident that the citizens of the town want a better water system and that they are convinced that the present plant will not supply their needs. They are offering a plan offered to remedy this situation but it is too early to tell yet what course will be pursued. I believe the town will want to own and manage its water system and will work to this end."

WHAT IS CLUB'S AIM?

Purpose of Brooklyn Organization Is Problem Worrying Its Members. Whether the Brooklyn Republican club is a political organization or whether it is an improvement association, is a query that is dividing the voters of the district. The club formerly was nearly political, but recently it has changed its ideals and has gone in for civic betterments and has accomplished some things of importance to the suburb. At a meeting this week, however, a clash occurred between some who had allied themselves with the club for improvement purposes and those who had been guiding the political activities of the club. Judge Waldemar Seton of the east side court presented a plan for the gathering of the east side Republicans in ward clubs, and other political topics were discussed. One member wanted to know what the purpose of the club was and suggested that politics and a fight for better streets and sewers did not go well together. The discussion was continued until the hour of adjournment and still the question was unsettled. A definite decision as to the club's aims and the gentle hint to those not in sympathy with such ideals to depart will be a part of the next session's procedure and it is thought by the leaders of the club that politics will be the choice.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER.

Associate and Old Friends of J. Kenworthy Pay Last Tribute. An impressive funeral service, which was out of the ordinary in its rites, was held yesterday at Centenary church over the body of John Kenworthy, who was an Oregon pioneer and an Odd Fellow of high standing, being a past grand master of the state grand lodge. Rev. W. H. Heppie, as pastor of the church, presided but did not deliver the funeral address, remarks being made instead by former friends of the deceased. W. T. Williamson and Dr. Fisher were among those who told of the dead man's work and career. Orient lodge No. 117, Odd Fellows, had charge of the cemetery services which were held in the fraternity plot at Lone Fir. The honorary pall bearers were: Dr. C. H. Raffety, Dr. S. E. Joseph, Dr. George Nottage, Dr. Richmond Kelly, Napoleon Kennedy, C. W. Tracy, H. D. Uatley and J. D. Lee. The active pallbearers were: W. B. Chase, J. L. Wells, N. E. Tomlinson, William Schmeer and Dr. Williamson.

campaign for the securing of a freight and passenger depot of the Southern Pacific company. Committee who had interviewed the company on these two propositions reported that they had received no encouragement from the chief resident officials, and it was decided to renew the old east side club, which includes 400 business men in its ranks, and to have every outside suburb represented by delegates. A mass meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the justice court, at East Washington street and Union avenue, and at that time a finance committee will be appointed to secure funds for the starting of a fight in the courts and such other necessary expenses as may be incurred. At the meeting yesterday, the heaviest financial interests of the east side, through their managers and chief officials, pledged their support to the contest. What the business men desire to test is the validity of the old agreement of the company to maintain an east side depot. Incidentally the east side people will try to discover why many streets have been usurped by the company without recompense to the city. The matter of a through east side streetcar service was brought up also and this will be definitely considered at Tuesday's meeting.

FARMER FINDS ACCIDENT A REAL BLESSING

New Clothes for Family and a New Wagon Gifts of Railroad Company. Farmer Galloway Wilson of Shaniko, whose troubles in Portland landed himself and family in St. Vincent's hospital and his wagon at the junk yard, departed yesterday for home with a new wagon. Himself and family were clad in new clothing at the expense of the North Pacific Terminal company. Two weeks ago Mr. Wilson, with his wife and sons, in the old family wagon, drove to the Columbia river and took passage for Portland, bringing the team and wagon. After visiting the exposition, they drove out to Hillsboro to see some relatives and old friends. Last Monday, being sated with vacation pleasures, they started for Portland with the intention of driving aboard the steamer Bailey Gatzert, spending the night on the boat, and leaving next morning for their up-river destination. They reached the city late in the evening. Darkness had fallen and the roads were new to the driver. There were strange stars in the sky and the electric lights were confusing. When Mr. Wilson entered the labyrinth of streets that open out from the Cornell road at Balch's gulch, he lost his bearings. Instead of coming down Washington street to the steamboat docks he wandered off toward the yards of the Eastern & Western Lumber company and at about 8 o'clock drove out across the network of railroad tracks in the North Pacific Terminal company's yards, at the foot of Pettygrove street, just as a switch engine came along in a great hurry. Trucking and all wagon traffic in that vicinity usually shuts down at 6 o'clock and switching crews are not in the habit of looking out for vehicles at crossings. The engine struck the wagon, threw it and its occupants into the ditch, and inflicted considerable damage. Fortunately, Mr. Wilson and family escaped with a few bruises and torn clothing. They were taken to the hospital, where they were cared for by the company's nurses and physicians. Manager Lyons
