

WITTHOFF CONFESSES THIRTY-FOUR WOMEN

Celebrated Bigamist Now in a London Jail Writes Remarkable Autobiography.

DECEIVED A HUNDRED TO GET THEIR MONEY

Operated in All Parts of the United States, Canada and in Many of the Larger Cities of the European Countries.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) San Francisco, Oct. 21.—The Examiner publishes today the most remarkable criminal autobiography ever written—The confession of the arch-bigamist, Dr. George A. Witthoff. The autobiography was sent by Witthoff to Miss Alice Bell, a young girl whom he deceived and deserted in New Cross, a suburb of London, England, and was obtained from her by the London News, the afternoon newspaper owned by Sir Alfred Harmsworth.

In the letter which accompanied the amazing human document sent to Miss Bell he admitted the commission of bigamy and living quietly on a Roumanian estate.

"The number of girls and women I promised marriage and got money from totals 100. Herewith I give the real facts of all my wrongdoings, and have only 32 (married) wives."

"Chapter I.—I was born in Neuchâtel, Switzerland, of very well-to-do and respectable parents, January 18, 1864.

"I emigrated to America and arrived April 12, 1881. In 1889 I came to the United States again from Zurich, where I studied chemistry for five years, and started a pharmacy. I had a splendid income at the age of 27.

"I met a famous surgeon. We became friends and practiced together until 1896, when we got into trouble and we were put under a $5,000 bond each. I had a friend, Signor Nicola Badillo, who gave a cash bond for me of $5,000.

"I skipped to Canada. Witthoff then tells how Badillo followed him and suggested that he, Badillo, knew a widow whom Witthoff would marry to get money to repay Badillo. He introduced Witthoff to a Mrs. Russell and they were married. While on their honeymoon at Niagara Falls, he deserted her, taking with him $4,000 she had given him."

"I went to see a matchmaker. He introduced me to a widow of means. We got married in two weeks. She had all her money loaned so I was compelled to seek another one, as Signor Badillo was hard after his balance of $1,000.

"Many Women Wronged. I went to Philadelphia and got a Jewish matchmaker again. He introduced me to a widow of means. I got $500 from her. I paid Badillo $500 and left for Springfield, Massachusetts, where a woman answered one of my advertisements. I inserted an ad and picked out a boarding-house mistress, and 10 days after she was Mrs. Westfield. I left her two days after. She had given me $500 before marriage."

"I went to St. Louis and inserted an ad. There I selected a farmer's daughter and married her as 'Dr. Doanper.' I married and left her all within a week. I came to Detroit, and with her money, $350, I started a dental practice as 'A. Houser.' In answer to my ad in a German paper, Mrs. Flier called."

"We went to Toledo, Ohio, five days after our first interview and got married. I left her six days after."

"Married Uglyest Wife. I then came to Pittsburgh as Dr. Wolfe. In answer to my ad in a German paper, a widow of means answered, the ugliest I ever had. Three days after we went to the justice of the peace and got married. There I slept the first night and in the morning I was on my way to Cleveland, and started a dental practice with the $150 I had left."

"In Cleveland I married Mrs. Kriedman. She gave me $200, but I left four days after as she was a bad woman. I went to Chicago and a matrimonial agent introduced me to a nice Jewish girl and her father gave me $400.

"A man from Philadelphia recognized me and told her father that I was a married man just in time to prevent the marriage."

"I went to St. Louis where I started an office as Dr. A. Dresner and I advertised and selected from a number of letters that of a farmer's daughter who had $1,000 and married her (Katchy). Six days after I left America and went to Roumania and married a girl, a Jewess, in Ploest, as Dr. P. A. Shota. "I got $2,000 francs. We had a quarrel and she returned to her parents."

"Career in Italy. Chapter 2. "I left for Italy and came to Florence. I was introduced to a Mrs. Frederico Nola. I married her six weeks after as Dr. Witthoff and left her 20 days after and went to Naples as Dr. Fox. Then I courted a high official's daughter."

"Two months after we got married. While we visited relatives in Geneva a man came and told my lady's father I had false papers."

"So he came to Geneva and we had a dagger fight in one of the gardens. I was stabbed twice and I stabbed and cut him once. I pretended to be dangerously wounded and left for Rotterdam and came to England."

"I went under treatment for my wound and I stopped two months in Liverpool and I returned to America again."

"Returns to America. I went to a professional matchmaker and he introduced me to a girl, Miss Goldbaum. I did not like her but she gave me $200."

"I was introduced to her as Dr. Hoffer from Providence. I had her come to my office and there she met a German, one of several girls I was making love to. One told the other of her love, so to avoid trouble I left New York for St. Louis."

"Witthoff then goes on to tell how he married a woman after a German cook in St. Louis—as Dr. Retter; a schoolmaster's daughter, also in St. Louis, and whom he deserted in Detroit—"Sara," a widow, in Covington, Kentucky, as Dr. Charles Weston; Miss Anna Volker in Cincinnati; a German restaurant girl in Milwaukee, whom he deserted in Chicago, leaving for New York with $500 in his pocket, and a number of what he had gathered from the various women."

"Then again to Philadelphia, where he married a German nurse girl, getting from her $100; a Irish girl, whom he married as Dr. S. T. McClung; a school teacher in Trenton, New Jersey, as Dr. Retner."

"He then went to Kansas City and was about to marry a girl with $1,000, but he skipped for New York. Three weeks later he married a Jewess, Dora Dorf. He lived with her long enough to get $1,000, as $350—and then journeyed to California."

"I met in California a dozen different women in answer to my ads and had money from them all, but as I did not marry any of them, I left for Colorado to meet a friend, Mrs. McCloud from Louisville. Her husband died and she gave me his medical diploma, of which I made good use."

"I returned to Omaha and met Mrs. Hoffman, married her as Dr. Rinder, and left her after three days, having her dowry of $500."

"I returned to Boston and advertised as 'Buddy Bee' again, next day met Miss Tracy from Vermont and married her. I stopped there three weeks. I got $500 to start an office and made from $100 to $200 a week but I was recognized one day by a Roumanian Jew and left for Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. Here I was with a Jew again and started a dental parlor as Dr. A. Adler. There was a master tailor who gave me $500 to beautify my office and I was to get engaged to his daughter when I met a doctor who had rheumatism. I cured her of that, but the other died broken hearted."

"Back again to Chicago went Witthoff and married a handsome young widow with $1,000 as Dr. Redory, next to Detroit, where a farmer's daughter became the victim."

"Dodging Various Wives. In St. Louis as Dr. W. A. Ritter, Witthoff says he corresponded with eight women, four of his wives, the youngest a doctor's daughter, one a milliner and two others. He finally went to Utah and married the Provo girl, but only stayed one day. In St. Louis he married a German widow as Dr. Houser; a doctor's daughter in Washington; Miss Lillian Stevenson, a nurse, in Toronto, Canada, from whom he got $500; a Mrs. Parkhill in New York as Dr. George Westhoff. All through the story Witthoff tells of corresponding with various wives and of dodging them at various places. He goes on:

"I returned to New York and visited wife No. 31 and got her money—$1,000—took her to Chicago. I left on the Twentieth Century express for New York and went on board the steamer for Liverpool with wife No. 3.

"Breaks Woman's Heart. "I came to London with her as she was to get an inheritance from Russia. In the meantime I met several girls. A grocery man wanted me to marry his sister-in-law."

"A patient came and brought his girl to extract a tooth. The next day she came and told me she did not care for the young man, so I had to return to her. Then the papers printed too much about me and I went to Paris. I stopped there two days only and took the express for Budapest. There I introduced me to a handsome young lady from Cronstadt."

"She is very rich and has a nice estate near Turn Severin, where I will marry this young lady and retire to remain the rest of my life and repent my wrongdoing."

"HELIX HOTEL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., Oct. 21.—Fire early this morning completely destroyed the Arlington hotel at Helix. The damage amounted to about $1,500, but the amount of insurance is unknown. The conflagration started in the kitchen, presumably from a range. A number of guests were in the hotel at the time the blaze was discovered. No one was injured, but one girl, Miss Miller, barely escaped and had no time to secure her clothing, which was all destroyed. She borrowed a dress from a neighbor and came to Pendleton today to purchase new clothes."

ELOPING MAD TAKEN HOME BY HER MOTHER

Officers Secure Requisition and Will Leave With Logan for California Tomorrow.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Medford, Or., Oct. 21.—Captain A. Wilson of the Oakland police force passed through Medford last evening for Salem to have Governor Chamberlain validate the requisition papers which were granted this afternoon for the eloping Henry A. Logan and will receive him from the hands of Chief of Police Angle here tomorrow morning. Mrs. Norman Ross of Oakland, mother of Ethel Cook, also arrived here yesterday evening and was met at the train by Chief Angle and on presenting letters from Chief Hodgskins of Oakland Ethel was delivered into her custody. The meeting between mother and daughter was very affecting. Released from the hypnotic influence of Logan Ethel was overjoyed to meet and return home with her mother. They departed on the early train this morning for Oakland.

When it developed that the woman had to borrow money to come after her child, Logan's mother, Mrs. Ethel Cook, refused to accept any compensation for the board of either and made up a small purse for them in addition.

Mrs. Ross says that this is not the first escapade in which Logan has been implicated. She states that he left his wife and boy destitute.

When questioned as to his purpose in carrying the small bottle of laudanum which the police here found on him when arrested Logan stated he bought it on the road with the intention of stopping the authorities from sending him "over the bay" if he had time to drink it.

FARMERS MAKING NEW DESERTS

Professor Withycombe Says That Eastern Oregon Lands Are Ill Used by Farmers.

SOIL LIKELY TO BECOME WHOLLY BARREN IN TIME

Rotation of Crops and Scientific Farming Will Alone Prevent These Rich Districts From Becoming Arid Stretches.

"Unless the farmers in the great wheat growing district of eastern Oregon adopt scientific methods in farming, that productive country will be reduced to a desert waste within a few generations."

This was the statement made by Dr. James Withycombe, professor in the Oregon state academy of sciences in the city hall last night. His subject was "Science and the Farm."

"Many farmers have the mistaken idea that summer following the land is of benefit to the soil," he said. "The farmer who erroneously rests his soil is not only losing the crop of that year, but he also loses strength from his soil. The loss of strength in a piece of land in one summer would always be sufficient to grow four heavy crops of wheat."

"Within a few generations, if the present method of farming is continued, eastern Oregon will become a desert waste. When the organic matter in the soil is reduced by the present method, instead of growing crops with 9 to 12 inches of rain annually, the soil will require from 18 to 20 inches. If they would occasionally alternate their crops of wheat with crops of alfalfa or vetches the soil would always be productive; if not the soil of this country will become the same as in certain districts of France where large areas once covered with farms and forests are now unproductive."

The speaker said that the white lands in Linn, Benton and Lane counties which are considered worthless could be made very productive by planting vetches to renew the organic matter in the soil.

Professor A. B. Cordley gave a short talk on "Some Insects and Fungus Diseases." He stated that the losses to farm products each year from insects alone had been estimated at $591,000,000; $100,000,000 to forest products and $200,000,000 to stored products or a total of $791,000,000.

TOO FEW MEN FOR SHIPS IN HARBOR (Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.) Six hundred longshoremen are needed to load vessels Ready for Cargoes.

Six hundred longshoremen if that many can be secured, will be employed tomorrow loading the large number of tramp cargo, sailing vessels and coasters with grain, flour and lumber cargoes. It is a greater number of men than has ever been employed at that line of work in Portland harbor.

Representatives of the Longshoremen's union were scouring the city yesterday in search of outsiders to assist them. Their membership does not number much more than 500, particularly at this season of the year, when a good many of the members are in other localities. Consequently they need assistance, and say they intend to put forth every effort to give the vessels quick dispatch.

Among the tramps which will receive cargo tomorrow are the Volgas, the Kniglit Egan, the Algon, the Oceano and the Auchenblae; the sailing fleet is made up of the Arthur Filger, the Fenella, the Carradale and the Durbridge; the steamers Columbia and Alliance comprise the principal coasters.

Two hundred and forty men will work today loading the British ship Algon and the steamer Columbia as it is desired to get them to sea as quickly as possible.

Fiegel and others and voters will be urged to support a better order of things and to down any political machine that may arise.

Mr. Workingman, Labor and Its Reward

Skilled labor can always command a good wage, that with the practice of economy enables a man to provide for the rainy day, which we all more or less dread. A blundering workman is dear at any price, and his work has to be patched up, or better yet, all done over again. This applies forcibly to dentistry, which requires great mechanical skill in the operator. Dentists must be first class mechanics, or else they will be poor dentists, in other words, blundering workmen whose work will have to be done over again in a very short time.

I guarantee the highest grade of skill at reasonable prices. That is why I have the largest practice in Portland.

Weak Kidneys

It is of but little use to try to doctor the kidneys themselves. Such treatment is wrong. For the kidneys are not a disease, but their weakness or irregularities. They have no power—no self-control. They are operated and actuated by a tiny shred of a nerve which is largely responsible for their condition. If the kidney nerve is strong and healthy the kidneys are strong and healthy. If the kidney nerve goes wrong, you know it by the inevitable result—kidney trouble.

This tender nerve is only one of a great system of nerves. This system controls not only the kidneys, but the heart, and the liver and the stomach. For simplicity's sake Dr. Shoop has called this great nerve system the "Sympathetic Nerves." They are not the nerves of feeling—the nerves that enable you to walk, to talk, to see, to think. They are the master nerves and every vital organ is their slave. The common name for these nerves is the "sympathetic nervous system," because each part in such close sympathy with the others, that weakness anywhere usually results in weakness everywhere.

The one remedy which aims to treat not the kidneys themselves, but the nerves which actuate them, is known by physicians and druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. (Tablets or Liquid.) It is a remedy in fact a remedy—its remedy—it is strictly a candy remedy. While it usually brings speedy relief, its effects are also lasting.

If you would like to read an interesting book on inside nerve disease, write Dr. Shoop. With the book he will send you the "Health Token"—an intended passport to good health. With the book and the "Health Token" are free.
