TODAY'S MARKETS

Hot Air Does Not Make a Hop Market and as There Is a Lack of Demand From the Buyers Prices Are Down in the Local Market.

OTHERS NOW SELL AND WE HOLD

California Onion Growers Disposing of Their Crop to Oregon Trade.

HOPS ARE LOWER ON A SMALLER DEMAND.

Fancy Potatoes Have Better Feeling With Some Inquiries and Orders From the South—Beans Drop and Canned Tomatoes Are Up.

Front Street, Oct. 24.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:

Grape market in better shape.
Wheat and flour are firm.
Fancy potatoes feeling better.
Onions are firm but quiet.
Another car California onions in.
Hops are now dull; no buying.
Still another decline in beans.
Canned tomatoes are scarce and up.
Car sweet potatoes this morning.
Fancy apples are best sellers.
Chickens very slow in arriving.
Eggs are firm at fractional rise.
Pomegranates arriving more freely.
Fancy hay has an improved tone.
Peach receipts are nominal.
Fresh meats firm but unchanged.

Oregon Holding While California Sells.

Oregon onion-growers are holding their supplies for a good-sized advance in prices. California growers are selling as freely as they can ship the stocks to market. The Portland territory has been turned over to the Californians for this reason. Another car of onions arrived on the street from there this morning. In California there was a very good crop of onions this season. Quantity was greater than ever and quality was about equal to former years. California is, however, not what may be termed the best onion-growing section, and although the supplies from that section are quite good while they last they do not last long enough to keep them from season to season, as do the Oregon. Oregon onions are slightly stronger than the California stocks, but they have a sweeter taste, the strength not being of that bitter quality so prevalent among strong onions grown in some sections. The crop of onions in this state during the season is said to be fully up to the average, but the colors are not quite so bright as formerly. Quality is nevertheless as good as ever. The market is firm but unchanged.

Demand for Fancy Potatoes.

California points are now asking for limited supplies of fancy Oregon potatoes. Down there they want the Burbanks and are willing to pay a small premium for fancy goods. Oregon produced a heavy crop of potatoes this season but, contrary to general expectation, the quality is not so good as formerly. In normal seasons the east side of the valley raises potatoes of best quality, while those from west side sections, although choice, do not have that fancy look and therefore sell for less. This season is an exception to the rule and west side potatoes are turning out the best. Market firm but unchanged.

Grape Market in Better Shape.

The grape market showed better shape late yesterday afternoon and today. Supplies of best quality are not so liberal as generally expected and this alone had a stiffening effect upon ruling values. Poor grapes are overplentiful and may be purchased at any old price. Best quality brings former quotations. The smaller supplies of fancy grapes now clearly show the coming of the end of the season.

Canned Tomatoes Scarce and High.

Articles have been previously written as to the strength of the canned tomato market, but today the zone is wild with quotations very excited. Callon tomatoes are from 50c to 60c higher than recent lists and packers in California are turning down orders from jobbers here at $2.50. The local price is $2.75, but even at that figure stocks are hard to obtain.

Another Tumble in Beans.

Down the toboggan bean prices are still going, there being a decline in the market today. The crop has turned out considerably larger than expected on the whites and pinks and these grapes are considerably off. New prices are listed today. Bayous show a slight advance.

Chickens Are Slow in Arriving.

Small arrivals are shown in the chicken market again today and prices are very firm, with the likelihood of a small advance if present conditions are not changed.

Eggs are firm with small receipts and more sales are being made at 30c. Prices quoted today range from 29c to 30c for local fresh. Eastern storage firm from 25c up.

Hops Are Dull—Dealers Won't Buy.

Additional dullness was shown in the hop market during the past 24 hours. The shorts seem to have covered all their immediate deliveries and are unwilling to buy. Everyone seems to want to sell, while there is a general absence of buyers. Prices are fractionally lower today on this account.

JOURNAL'S DAILY TIPS TO SHIPPERS

Apple shippers outside of the large unions can learn a very profitable lesson by witnessing the pack of the latter institutions. For instance at Hood River and Rogue River the associations put up their fancy grades in a manner that will instantly attract attention and make you buy apples whether you want them or not. The apples are very carefully sorted and then as carefully wrapped in clean unprinted paper. Between each layer is placed a sheet of blotting paper so as to keep the apples from rubbing each other and to likewise take in all the moisture. These bring much better prices than ordinary stocks and many times over repay the packer for the extra charge.

GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Government cotton report: In the cotton belt the fore part of the week, ending October 23, was uniformly warm and the latter part cool and frosts more or less damaging in every place. However, rains were prevalent, extending about central Texas to western Tennessee, while no appreciable amount of rain fell in Texas and over a large part of the gulf and southland. Picking has progressed uninterruptedly. It is finished in southern Georgia and nearly so in Louisiana and Alabama, except in the northern portion of the last named state. It is also nearly completed in southern Texas and, with the exception of the Sea Island crop, in South Carolina. In Tennessee, Oklahoma and Indian Territory picking is from one half to two thirds completed. Heavy rains interrupted picking and caused considerable damage to open bottom in central and northern Texas, portions of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, Arkansas, western Tennessee and the extreme northern portion of Mississippi. Boll weevils continue numerous in Texas.

May	.86¾ A	.87¼ A	.00½	1.14¾
July	.83½	.83¾ A	.00¾	.....

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Logan & Bryan say: The wheat market was stronger today, with general business much larger. We think that the local bulls have accumulated a little more wheat and there was considerable buying by locals. We expect the market would have sold higher if there had not been so much profit-taking on December at 87½c. The trade in the May option is becoming larger and most of the outside buying orders now are for that option.

Armour Crowd in Corn.

The strength in corn today was due to a great extent to buying by the large Armour crowd. Valentine bought about 3,000,000 bushels of May option. Aside from this feature the market was very quiet.

In oats the volume of business was not large. Every commission house seemed to have selling orders at 32c. Th strength in corn helped this cereal to some extent today.

Provisions were steady and firm, due to local short-covering and light offerings by the packers.

Wall Street, New York, Oct. 24.—Stocks had a very bad break early in the day. London cables were very heavy, the leading issues being considerably lower. This caused the slump here. Later in the day there was a sharp rally, the strength being felt most in the industrials. Rails were weak. Smelter was very active with a gain of ⅝ in the common and 1¼ in the preferred. Toledo, St. Louis & Western had a bullish feeling, there being a rise of 1⅝ in both the preferred and common. Pressed Steel Car was likewise a good mover.
