

FOUNDERS' DAY AT PACIFIC

Campus of Pacific University.

Frances Sorenson.

Willard H. Wirtz.

W. Pearl Chandler.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 24.—The students of Pacific university outdid themselves in the manner in which they celebrated the annual anniversary of Founders' day. Yesterday's celebration was the most original as well as most brilliant held here for many years. Even the academy classes caught the spirit of the occasion and were eager to demonstrate their loyalty to the university.

Early in the morning the freshmen colors were hoisted up the flagpole and waved triumphantly over Marsh hall during the whole day. Not contented with this daring feat they attempted to irritate the sophomores by suspending a dummy from the chapel dome and labeling it 1906.

For a half hour preceding the formal opening of the exercises Marsh hall echoed with class yells. Miss Frances Sorenson, president of the senior class, presided over the exercises and stated that according to an honored custom the students were once again gathered to commemorate Founders' day and to remember the splendid exhibition of loyalty displayed by the student body of 1895.

The program was opened by a piano solo rendered by Miss Frances Clapp. The editor of the college paper, Miss Clara Irvin, of Aurora, was then introduced and presented the needs of the paper.

William B. Rasmussen.

Miss Livia Ferrin represented the work of the Christian associations and invited new students to affiliate themselves with these organizations. Willard H. Wirtz, the athletic manager, and particularly football. He made a speech in behalf of athletes.

wished the school might offer inducements to football players. He stated he had read letters from college presidents who were doing it with good results. His speech was received with enthusiasm.

Chester K. Fletcher represented the Alpha Zeta Debating society, W. E. Rasmussen the Gamma Sigma and Miss Chandler the Philomathean. Announcement was made that a rival co-ed literary society, the P. B. C., had been organized and would meet in Gamma Sigma hall.

Miss Ellen Brohat of Wilsonville then sang a solo. The freshmen were represented by William Barrett of Hillsboro, who gave a class parody on "Spartacus to the Gladiators."

The sophomores got the best of the freshmen by presenting a bust which bore the alleged likeness of their president. The bust was painted green and had long protruding ears. The dedicatory address was made by H. H. Arnston and was replete with gags against the freshmen. A poem, read by Miss Hotel, also contained stinging rhymes pertaining to the infant class. The closing number of the program was that of the junior class, which presented "The Three Fates Weaving the Thread of Human Life." The fate of each member of the senior class was revealed and considerable laughter was indulged in at the expense of the seniors.

MAV MAKE SALEM FLOWER CITY

President Hofer in Annual Address to Greater Salem Club Makes Suggestion.

WOULD GIVE FLOWERS TO OVERLAND TOURISTS

Meet Each Train With Wagon Load of Blossoms for Free Distribution—Work of Club for the Year Discontinued.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Oct. 24.—Last night was the date for holding the annual election of officers of the Greater Salem Commercial club, but the election was postponed until January. A request was made to the club by the Station Independent Telephone company that the club make it possible for the company to extend its line on into Salem. A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

A committee was also appointed to confer with the representatives of a large number of Scandinavian colonists, with a view to inducing them to locate in this vicinity.

President Hofer made his annual report and other business of minor importance was transacted. President Hofer said in part:

President's Address. "The Commercial club has always been an active and potent influence in protecting and promoting the improvement of the Willamette river. The past year boats have run to Salem all summer without interruption, and surveys have been made for a revivment of the west bank. Our successors in office should keep a vigilant and watchful eye upon whatever is necessary to keep an open river, although the benefits are much lessened by the tolls collected at Oregon City locks. The proposition to make the locks free should be promoted by every possible means, and all commercial bodies should see to it that the removal of the tollage charge redound to the benefit of the shipper and not be merely absorbed by the corporation carrying their produce."

"This club has done all in its power to promote and render successful the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition. Salem broke the record for attendance from any interior city, proving beyond controversy that Salem is the second city in the state in point of population, public spirit and enterprise."

"The Willamette Valley Development league was organized under the auspices of this club. Our organization has been recognized in the proper sort of way by the Harriman system or transportation lines who are spending millions more than ever before in the development of western Oregon, and have practically under way the construction of a branch line from Drain to Marshfield on Coos Bay, which will give the Willamette valley producer a second outlet to the markets of the world."

Removal of State Capital. "The discussion of the removal of the state capital should arouse this community to a sense of its duty in the premises. This city stands ready to take up two matters that cannot longer be ignored—securing a suitable water supply from some unpolluted mountain stream, and the expenditure of about $100,000 annually in paving streets and constructing boulevards. Having earnestly undertaken these two tasks the people of Oregon will have no good arguments and no cause whatever to remove the capital and state institutions from Salem."

Suggestions for the Future. "As Portland has made a great bit from advertising itself as the Rose City, Salem should take advantage of the suggestion and also work on the proposition of making a reputation for being a floral center. From February to November large quantities of flowers can be produced out doors. Concerted action can make our parks, college, statehouse and school premises bright with colors and beautiful with shrub and blossom. What better way to advertise our city and inspire every one to beautify their homes? A wagon-load of flowers distributed free daily to passengers on the overland limited would advertise Salem more than any plan suggested."

MEMBERS MUST PAY THEIR OWN HOTEL BILLS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Oct. 24.—In response to a query from County Judge Scott of this city, the attorney-general yesterday afternoon rendered an opinion in which he held that the $100 appropriated for the purpose of holding the good-roads conventions, under the direction of the State Good-Roads association, could only be expended for the actual cost of the convention. That it could not be used to pay the traveling expenses and the hotel bills of the members of the association while attending these conventions.

Insane Man Dead. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., Oct. 24.—E. F. Gill, a well-known resident of Springfield, who was committed to the insane asylum at Salem several weeks ago, died in that institution Sunday. The cause of death was apoplexy.

Her Brother's Letters

Letter Number Two

In Which the Brother Touches on the Hysterical Adulation of Public Idols by Women

My Dear Kittens: You will be interested, I think, if not altogether pleased, at an experience I had, apropos of your last letter. You told me in that letter about the "time of your lives" that you girls had at Music Hall the other afternoon at a recital given by —; how his playing simply "carried you off your feet"; how it "entranced" you and made you all feel that this pianist was "simply divine." All the girls had "creeps down their spines"; they were "hot and cold all over," etc. In short, you had one of those hysterical flings that seem to appeal to girls and women at these recitals.

You must read the brother's letter in full, in the NOVEMBER Number of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL 15 Cents a Copy at All Dealers THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY, PHILADELPHIA, PA.
