OVER OREGON

Dr. Steckle's Eleven Is Considered a Trifle More Formidable Than Men From Eugene.

SHORTS' PLAYERS EXPECT TO SKIRT THE ENDS

Saturday's Contest Is Attracting Attention All Over the Coast, and Pigskin Devotees From All Parts Will Witness the Struggle.

All eyes will be turned toward Eugene Saturday, when what promises to be the greatest game of football ever seen in the northwest will be played on Kincald field. The rival elevens, representing the University of Oregon and the State Agricultural college, are being rounded into almost perfect condition, and when the whistle blows Saturday the speciators will see some real football. The ast games played by Oregon and Corvallis have been disappointing to the followers of the two teams. The Aggles went down to defeat before the University of California October 25, the score being 18-9. Two weeks previous to Aggies went down to defeat before the University of California October 25, the score being 18-0. Two weeks previous to this Oregon had played the Californians to a standstill, but critics say that California was in better condition for Corvallis than she was for either Oregon or Williamette. In the California-Corvallis game the Berkeleyites won by a long run and touchdown and a place kick, but it is said that they made a goodly amount of yardage running the Corvalis ends. Dr. Steckle has undoubtedly improved the work of the agricultural college eleven since the defeat at Berkeley, and it is safe to say that his men will be in the very best possible condition for Saturday's game. Willie Lawrence, the crack tackle from Nevada, who was injured by a gunshot wound three weeks ago, is said to be in condition again. He plays left tacks, where he will be pitted against Earl, one of Oregon's veterans. Pilkington, captain of last season's team at G. A. C., has joined the football squad and rumor has it that he will play fullback. Pilkington has always been reparded as a formidable player.

About Oregon's Chances.

About Oregon's Chances.

Oregon's showing against Willamette was a disappointment to the followers of the Eugene 'varsity, but it is said that the team was not in the best of condition. Coach Shorts is working hard with his men this week and there may be some startling changes in the Oregon hneup. Hurd, who replaced Halfback Friesell in the Willamette game, will probably play a regular position on the varsity. There may be some shifts in the line, but as yet Ceach Shorts has made no announcements, nor is it likely that he will make any until his team goes on the field. Coach Steckie has said nothing concerning his probable lineup, so there may be some surprises in store for both sides.

OCASE OF Willamette University, Salem, Or., Nov. 8.—The Willamette University, Salem, Or., Nov. 8.—The Willamette football team is practicing this week with a snap and vim which is sure to develop, a winning team. Both Coach Bishop and Manager Bavage are satisfied with the way the men played in the game last Saturday against the University of Oregon. Coach Bishop had no criticism to make of the team, and simply said when the team lined up for practice Monday evening: "We played the best game Saturday, but circumstances were against us." This week will be given entirely to strengthening those defects which were prominent in Saturday's game. In the No Case of Pneumonia game, Eugene sports having covered all the pools sent up by the sporting fraternity of Corvailis. Most of the bets are "even up," but several local enthusiasts are offering 10 to 8-on Corvailis. The agriculturalists have an advantage of three or four pounds in weight, but this advantage is offset by the fact that Oregon will depend on her home grounds. Both teams are being trained by Michigan coaches; their style of play is, in many respects, the same. College feeling rums high at both of the big state institutions and the rooters clubs and bands will be out in full force. All in all, the game promises to be the most interesting intercollegate match match ever pulled off in the northwest. Many Portland people will attend, and excursions will be run from all points in the valley.

Manager Savage intends that the training table, which was established at the Cottage hotel a couple of weeks ago, will continue until the end of the season. Watt Shipp, the trainer, takes the boys out for a long run every morn-ing at 7 o'clock. He believes that con-sistent training wins the larger humber of games, where two teams are any-where evenly matched.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

The New York papers speak in the highest terms about the playing of Tom Ross of the Columbia 'varsity. Ross was one of Multnomah's reliable men during the past couple of years, and his good showing on a big college eleven is gratifying to his many friends here and at his home in Astoria. In the Princeton game Tom had the pleasure of putting it all over his Tiger opponent. The New York Sun says that Ross was a stone wall, not a gain being made through him, and that Columbia's best gains went through openings made by Ross.

Multnomah Eleven Rounding To Fast Enough to Suit Coach and Followers.

DIFFICULT TASK IN SELECTING LINEMEN

Boys Are Slow in Turning Out and Neglect Practice With Great Regularity-Back Field Is Slow and Lacks Promptness.

There is unusual activity in football circles at the Multnomah club. For the first time in several years the coacl finds himself with an unprepared eleven Though the boys have been out prac-ticing for nearly a month, there is very little team work apparent, the coach devoting most of his time in teaching the rudiments of the game. It seems regrettable at this time, with so much first class material in the Mult-nomah club, that it should be so dif-ficult to get a good team in the field. A number of clubmen thought that Multnomah was sufficiently strong to go up against and beat Astoris, but those who saw the contest can well testify to the deplorable showing made, testify to the deplorable showing made by the clubmen when these teams met. To be truthful, Multnomah is not much better off now. The tendency of the old players to absent themselves from practice when they should be out getting into condition is the chief cause of the difficulty in rounding out a formidable eleven. Of course, the old stars like Kellar, Kirkley and others do not seem to need the same amount of practice as such players as McMillan, Jordan and Overfield, and for this reason their absence is regularly noted. on their absence is regularly noted.

Coach Overfield is endeavoring to Coach Overfield is endeavoring to build up a strong line, one that possesses strength and speed and capable of getting the charge on the opponents. Without a strong line an eleven had better go out of business. There is good line material in the club, but several of those who have turned out do not seem to be able to grasp the essential points in playing a line position. Quarterback will be looked after all right and left will be guarded in good sential points in playing a line position.

Quarterback will be looked after all right and left will be guarded in good shape by Captain Jordan. The back field is slow and unwieldly and cannot get under way with the promptness and accuracy necessary, but this fault may be corrected before long. Owens is fast afoot, but a wee bit light for line plunging, and he will be used for skirting the ends. James at full is rounding out slowly and when he gets the signals well committed he ought to make a good man. His defensive work so far outshines his offensive. The other men who have been tried in the back field are either too light or blessed with a tendency to run too long in one place.

Those who have seen Willamette play this season are the only ones aware of the big lask that confronts Multnomah on Saturday next. Coach Bishop has turned out a powerful eleven this year, in fact, one of the strongest teams on the Pacific coast, and thoroughly capable of meeting Multnomah half way on any gridiron. Betting on the game is light so far, but what little has been done favors the Willamette team at about 10 to 8.

Coach Overfield has ordered all of the men out for tonight, and in doing so expressed the wish that the old players in the club turn out to help the team.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Or., Nov. 8.—Superintendent Liloyd B. Wickersham has the additional 10 stamps for the Granite Hill mill in place and all batteries will start this week, making a total of 20 stamps for this brilliant property. The American Gold Fields management, owning the mine, announces that 20 more stamps will be placed by May of part year.

The Granite Hill is developing rapdly, especially in the magnitude of the ore body, and a great reserve is being blocked. The double-compartment shaft opens the Granite Hill vein to a depth opens the Granite Hill vein to a depth of 450 feet, and levels have been established on each 160-foot level.

MINING NOTES.

Baker City, Nov. 8 .- Thirteen tons of oncentrates from the Baisley-Elkhors nine arrived in the city yesterday, hav-ng been hauled in by an eight-mile team After weighing, the ore was snipped to the smelter at Sumpter. The ore will run $90 to the ton.

An expert of international fame, after examining the Britannia mine, near Vancouver, B. C., recently, said that this great property was equipped in the best manner of any mining property in Canada, and was the making of perhaps the largest of copper producers. The Britannia has just commenced production, and the ore is smelled at the Crofton plant, Vancouver island. Recently the Britannia contracted to receive 5,000 tons of base ore from the Brown-Alaska company, which operates the Hadley company, which operates the Hadley smelter, Alaska, the agreement being in the nature of an exchange.

Northport, Wash., Nov. 8.—There is little hope here that the smelter upon which the community has depended upon will receive again Le Roi ores. The first step at dismantling consisted in re-moving a No. 6 blower, and although the former manager, A. J. McMillan, has enjoined the dismantling, it seems apparent that the Canadian Pacific interests are in control of the company, and intend to transfer the business for all time to Trail, B. C. The blower over which litigation is pending presumably was for that destination.

Ira J. Merrill, who had the new crushing mill on exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair, has mahufactured a plant with steel frame and will exhibit it in the city. Mr. Merrill has offices at 186 Morrison street, and intends to make frequent tests of the crushing capacity of the ingenious plant. Should the business develop into something of importance he would manufacture the machines in Portland. chines in Portland.

It is stated that in a few weeks the entire amount will have been secured. The site chosen for the new building is the southwest corner of the campus. Arrangements are being made by which the townspeople as well as the college students may have access to the library. In that event a goodly amount can be

Washington. D. C. committee and the principal question to be decided is whether to make the date April 36, on which date George Washington was inaugurated, or the last Thursday is April, as provided in a resolution introduced by the late Senator Hoar two years ago. The main reason for making the change is the usual inclemency of the weather in Washington in the early part of March. There has been scarcely a single inauguration day in the past but that some prominent personage has died as a result of exposure while attending the open air ceremonies on the east front of the capitol. The death of at least one president is attributed to this source, that of President Harrison. Last spring there were two victims, the Mexican ambassador and Senator Bates of Tenneasse. Public sentiment generally favors a later date and the committee feels that favorable action will be taken by congress this winter if the matter is propfavorable action will be taken by con-gress this winter if the matter is prop-erly pushed.
