LET CHRISTIAN CHURCHES AID

Jewish Relief Fund Will Be Largest Raised in Portland.

Russian Workmen Form a Guard to Protect Jews From Massacre.

When there is a disaster like that at Heppner or overwhelming calamities like the Johnstown flood or the destruction of Galveston, all classes, creeds and conditions meet on a common plane of humanity that makes the whole world kin.

When there was a famine in Ireland, India or Russia the American people without distinction rose to the emergency and did their whole duty as humane men and women should do it.

Every preacher in the city should make an appeal to his congregation. He should set forth the dreadful conditions that prevail and the magnitude of the task before those who would succor the stricken and starving.

Here is an opportunity for Portland that should not be missed to put itself in line with progressive humanity everywhere, which in the face of such a calamity thinks of no creed or class, but sees alone the need of aid that may be rendered to human beings like themselves.

The Journal received this morning the following self-explanatory note: "Pastor's Study, First Presbyterian Church, 454 Alder Street—Please find inclosed my check for $10 toward the fund now being raised to assist the persecuted Jews of Russia.
