

MILWAUKEE IS GETTING READY TO ENTER COAST FIGHT

President Earling Visits Portland and Does Not Deny Reports Concerning His Plans.

THIS CITY MAPPED OUT FOR WESTERN TERMINAL

Rushing of Work of Seattle & Pacific Said to Mean That Eastern Line Will Soon Compete With Hill and Harriman.

While A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, left Portland last night without making official announcement of plans for extension of that road to the Pacific coast, every doubt is removed from the minds of railroad men that the Milwaukee has commenced construction to the Pacific coast, with Portland as its prospective terminal. It is believed no formal announcement will be made, but that the Milwaukee will pursue a policy similar to that of the Northwestern, which is to start the building in sections, under various names, through Wyoming, Idaho and Washington.

Work at Wallula.

A dispatch to The Journal from Wallula last night says construction work has been begun by a large crew believed to be in the employ of the Seattle & Pacific, a new company organized by former Vice-president Williams of the Milwaukee, to build a road from Seattle to Wallula. Graders and engineers arrived yesterday afternoon at Wallula and pitched a large camp a mile below town, on the right of way surveyed for the Williams road last week. It is believed at Wallula that this move means the beginning of actual construction of the Milwaukee line between Seattle and the Columbia river, and that work will also be commenced in a few days on construction of the line of the Wallula Pacific, between Vancouver and Wallula.

Finds Wonderful Changes.

Wonderful changes are taking place in the Pacific northwest, particularly in Oregon and Washington. I see many improvements and evidences of growth since my last visit here nearly two years ago," said Mr. Earling, after a day of looking about the city.

"The improvements impress me with their permanency. A great number of fine, large, new buildings has been erected since I was here last. The city is spreading out, and its growth is of the solid, desirable kind. The movement of business seems to be very heavy, and the appearance of the streets indicates a wide awake and hustling city.

"President Earling is not given to enthusiastic statements. He is ultra-conservative. He has the reputation of being a good listener, slow to express his views and then chary of words. He is thoroughly imbued with the belief that the empire of the Pacific northwest is destined for great things.

Every Advantage Is Here.

"Every time I come here I am filled with the thought that this is a great country," he said, speaking slowly, with the tone of one thoroughly convinced. "The strength of Oregon is in the great variety of its resources. It has everything."

"What do you mean by 'everything'?" "Lumber, mining, shipping, fisheries, agriculture, fruit, livestock, hops. The soil is as good as any; Iowa is great in corn. It has grain and a soil as good as any state. Oregon is great in grain, and equally great in many other things."

"I do not say the exposition has wrought these changes. The natural resources of the state are building it up, and making Portland a large city. It is the same in Washington as to resources and growth."

Asbestos Factory Will Be Built Here

Owner of Mine in East Will Start Plant That Will Work on Large Scale.

A large asbestos factory is being added to Portland's manufacturing industries. It will be located at 70 Randolph street. The machinery is now being installed at a cost of $1,000,000. E. R. Patch, J. K. Smith and William Morris are the men interested in the new enterprise.

PAY FOR LIGHT BUT INSTEAD GET GLOOM

Some one forgot, or Washington street would have been lighted up last night just the same as Morrison was. That is, Washington street would have been lighted up between Fourth and Seventh streets.

Carried in the pocket is thought by some to ward off hard luck, but we feel that good judgment and a persistent demand for a certain and gross much farther than luck. For instance, in our buying department our first and permanent demand is for QUALITY, and we get it, not because we are lucky, but because we ask for, and will have nothing else. This is why we thoroughly believe in every article we offer to you. We have faith in our entire stock, so much faith in quality and price that we sell for the price isn't just right, return the article and get your money. We desire above all things that you feel you are buying the best, the very best—in drugs, or whatever it may be, when you get it from the "Woodard" store.

TO THE PUBLIC

Since the establishment of the first chemist or apothecary shop in New England, way back in the 17th century, it has been the custom for the druggist to keep open doors from daybreak until midnight, and with all our modern civilization and centralization we haven't outgrown this provincialism.

The hardships which the long hours have worked upon all employed in this business have been many. The drug clerk is not through with his day's work at 6, but at 10, 11, or even 12 o'clock—nor through his week's work on Saturday night, for he must get to business on Sunday the same as week days. He puts in from 50 to 60 hours per week against the 44 of the average retail clerk.

For several months our employes who work Sunday have been given a week day off in return—recently we discontinued this, and now pay an extra day's salary to those who work Sunday, but we desire to do yet better if possible by our employes, and in the effort to come to some solution of the problem, we have decided to LEAVE THE NEXT MOVE WITH YOU.

WE SUGGEST KEEPING OUR STORE OPEN SUNDAYS FOR THREE HOURS ONLY (say from 12 to 3). This would mean that the employes who now work an entire day every other Sunday would then work but three hours every other Sunday. We are willing to sacrifice whatever this may cost us in a pecuniary way, for we know our employes will feel better for the Sunday's rest—better for having a change of thought—all work and no play, you know. And then this gives those who desire to take advantage of it an opportunity to attend their various churches.

Below we have outlined a little coupon and we ask you, our friends and patrons, to fill this out and hand it to one of our employes next time you come in, or mail it to us as you prefer. If the public is willing then we will remain open Sunday but three hours. THIS DECISION RESTS WITH YOU.
