Judge Frazer Will Not Postpone Cases to Suit Convenience of Lawyers.

When There Is No Work for Them Jurors Get Disgusted-Hereafter Jury Fees and Other Expenses Must Be Paid Before Case Is Reset

Attorneys who have cases set for trial in the local circuit courts must be trial in the local circuit courts must be present to try their cases when they are called. If not, the jufy fees and other expenses may have to be paid just the same. This order was made from the bench this morning by Presiding Judge Arthur L. "I will not continue any more cases for the convenience of attorneys, said Judge Frazer this morning. "When cases are set for trial, the attorneys are set for trial, which is count of jown to attend to on the day of their trials in this court, or they have had some other matter on hand. On account of this system the county has been put to a needless expense."

Judge Frazer this morning called the case of the City of Portland against J. W. Cook et al. No one responded. The court then announced that before the case would be set for trial again, the parties must pay 225 for the expense of having a jury in court this morning.

"We have a hard enough time in keeping jurors, anyway," said Judge Frazer. "and when they are made to come here day after day to answer to rollcall and then are informed that there is nothing for them to do, it makes them disgusted.

We Would Like Just a Word With the Well Dressed

We wish particularly to reach the young man who is always known as a "Good Dresser," but who has to sacrifice something in order to pay $40 and $50 for every suit.

We have just received a new line of worsteds-the very latest patterns-which by the closest kind of figuring we will be able to make up for $30.

The fabric of this new $30 suit is a revelation. It is made from a superior grade of wool-is closely and firmly woven-and has taken the dye to a superfine nicety-best imported Venetian lining-hand padding-hand sewed with silk-not even the least tailoring detail slighted.

The "Good Dresser" pretty nearly always knows something about cloth.

Come in and see this $30 fabric in the bolt.

We will guarantee to give you as good a fit as you ever had from any tailor at any price. We are told by many that we give them a better fit than they ever had before.

The price will suit
