TODAY'S MARKETS

Damage to Colorado Potato Crop Not as Great as Expected and Oregon Is Shut Out of the Far South for the Present at Least.

POTATO MARKET 10 CENTS LOWER

Heavy Shipments to the South Are Having Bad Effect Upon Ruling Values.

COLORADO DAMAGE IS NOT SO GREAT

Hop Shorts Even More Anxious Than Ever to Purchase and a Number of Sales Are Reported Made at Eleven Cents.

Front Street, Nov. 18.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:
Potatoes are 10 cents lower.
Onion market is quiet.
Car bananas arrived today.
Egg receipts getting heavier.
Chicken market just steady.
Plenty of turkeys offered.
Meat receipts continue liberal.
Butter receipts quite heavy.
Hop dealers anxious to purchase.
Good grapes coming by express.

Potatoes Are Ten Cents Lower.

Owing to the heavy shipments of ordinary grades of potatoes from this state to the California market during the past few weeks, the market there shows a decline of 10 cents per hundred pounds and a corresponding drop is noted in this market. California wants strictly fancy Burbanks and has been willing to pay a substantial premium for this grade, but stocks of this character are not nearly so plentiful as supposed. The Colorado market is likewise 10 cents lower and this shuts the local trade out of the Arizona and Texas markets to a great extent. The New Orleans market is being almost altogether supplied with stocks from Colorado, even dealers in cheap California rivers being unable to compete with the Rocky mountain stocks. It now transpires, according to small advices received from reliable Colorado dealers, that the damage to the potato crop of that state by the frosts amounted to only 5 per cent, thus throwing a larger amount of stocks from that state upon the market than had been expected. According to earlier advices, the damage wrought by the frost amounted to nearly 20 per cent. If this had been true, it meant that Oregon producers would receive much higher prices for their product.

Onion Market Is Dull.

The onion market is quite dull. California stocks have not yet been exhausted, but are going very fast. Some of the growers there are holding for an advance and this may possibly help the local trade. In any event, the southern growers cannot hold very long, as their stocks have not that keeping quality that the Oregon contains. Prices remain as previously quoted.

Egg Receipts Getting Heavier.

Change in climatic conditions has caused somewhat of an increase in the arrivals of eggs, although the receipts are not yet large. There is an easier feeling to the market today and some sales are being made as low as 32½ cents, although this price is not general.

Chicken Market Just Steady.

In the chicken market there is just a steady feeling. Receipts and demand continue about equal, with prices the same. Turkeys are arriving more freely and the tone is steady, with no change in the values. Ducks and geese show fair arrivals, with demand good in both lines at printed quotations.

Hop Dealers Anxious to Purchase.

Hop shorts are on the anxious seat and a number of sales are reported made at 11 cents a pound, although the dealers refuse to allow the growers to state that figure. Practically every dealer is filled with orders to buy for the short sellers. These men, who a year ago sold the product that had not yet been raised or belonged to other people, are fearful lest the growers should curtail their acreage during the coming season. In such an event, they would be forced to pay back some of the fortunes made during the past season. Growers throughout the Willamette valley are getting wise to the situation and no more low sales are reported made.

Good Grapes Coming by Express.

A considerable amount of grapes were received by express from the south this morning. Stocks arrived in good shape and sold readily at former quotations.

A car of bananas was unloaded during the morning. It came in good condition. Prices are usual.

Vegetables from the south were quite plentiful today, but prices are generally held higher. There is a good demand for tomatoes.

Meat Receipts Quite Liberal.

Receipts of dressed meats continue quite liberal along Front street today. Hogs are especially coming very freely, but demand is good at the price. Veal demand is good, although supplies are more liberal than usual for this time of the year. Prices unchanged.

The following prices are being paid by the trade for first-class product in round lots. Prices paid producers are as specified:

JOURNAL'S DAILY TIPS TO SHIPPERS

It is always the shipper who regularly sends his product to market, taking the high as well as the low prices, that makes the money. Those that wait until the market reaches the top are generally the disappointed ones, for when the prices reach their height the down course begins. This applies in turkeys and eggs as well as other lines.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Logan & Bryan say:
Broomhalls estimates the world's wheat shipments at about 12,000,000 bushels and predicts moderate changes on passage. The tone of the market was firm, but ranges were confined to narrow portions. Winnipeg reported a better export demand and in the cash markets just a fair business being done. The news from Argentina continues conflicting and Broomhall cables that the shipments would be about 1,500,000 bushels against 350,000 bushels, as estimated, but even at the new figures this will be almost a million bushels under a week ago. The wheat market does not act badly at all; it rallies quickly from sinking spells, and people who have been right seem friendly to the buying side.

Courage for the Bears.

In corn the lower Liverpool cables gave courage to the bears, but the efforts did not meet with very pronounced success. The situation is decidedly mixed, good people are on both sides of the market and seem willing to back their views in a liberal way. This is likely to make for a scalping market for the time being.
Considering the action of other pits, oats have been fairly good.
In provisions some little improvement was scored in this market. The undertone seems firm enough, and the cash situation is good.

Wall Street, New York, Nov. 18.—Dick Bros. say: The stock market was somewhat irregular but generally strong, with some special stocks such as Brooklyn Rapid Transit, the Smelters, Tennessee Coal & Iron and others showing noteworthy gains. Leading railroad shares did not sympathize to any extent and turned heavy at the close. In fact, the general list showed the influence of profit-taking in the last 10 minutes of the trading. Heavy selling of Metropolitan was a feature. The important news development was the bank statement, which was considered quite favorable. The market closed irregular.

MISS SHIVELY WINS IN CIRCUIT COURT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., Nov. 18.—In the circuit court yesterday Miss Nan Shively, who was dismissed as a teacher in the Cottage Grove High school more than a year ago because she failed to produce her teacher's certificate, secured a verdict recovering the sum of $320 from the school district, the amount of salary which she alleged was due her from the time she was ousted until she obtained employment elsewhere.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED IN BIG DAMAGE ACTION

Great Northern Defendant in Suit for Fifty Thousand Brought by Fireman.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Wenatchee, Wash., Nov. 18.—James Doyle, formerly a fireman in the employ of the Great Northern railroad, has been granted a new trial in his suit for $50,000 damages against his former employers. The case came up for trial last September, but was non-suited by the judge of the superior court on the grounds that the plaintiff did not present sufficient evidence to put the case before a jury. A little later the judge took the case under advisement and as a result granted a new trial today.
Doyle alleges that on February 5, 1903, a passenger train on which he was a fireman became stalled in a tunnel in the Cascade mountains. He was overcome with gas and his foot was badly burned
