

CHARITY ENCROSES SOCIETY NOWADAYS

WITH the football interests of the past week, the preparations for many charity affairs scheduled for the next week or so, the attention to some important musical events, together with the usual fare and casual parties which have been the more numerous than of late, not to say anything of the theatre, which has presented some good things, the seven days just fly full, the calendar has been busy, and the week ends "five hundred" and "brags" seem to be vying for the top place in popularity—and straight with still has its devotees. The smaller clubs spend many of their evenings, though they are informal and little is recorded about them. Mrs. T. L. Elliot, who always entertains delightfully and charms her guests anew each time with her gracious personality, gave the largest affair of the week yesterday. A great many small things have been given for Mrs. M. T. Barlow, who is still with her sister, Mrs. E. H. Brooke.

For the next few days the entertainments of various kinds more than take up the interest. The Patton home next Tuesday and the recycling of Thanksgiving donations, the Children's home and the women's exchange benefit theatricals, the Trinity Guild dinner for the parish house, the Needlework Guild's display of work, and several other affairs fill what time one has to spare from one's individual preparations for the holidays.

The Academy High School game Friday was the signal for the best spirit of the largest secondary school city to show itself in a masterly manner. Many of the leading women of society were out to see the game and were as animated and breathless as their youngsters. Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett and Mrs. E. S. Wood both have sons on the academy team, and a number of other prominent families are represented in both teams. A delightful after feature of the game was the academy picnic in which the academy and High school girls took possession of one of the popular ice cream rooms down town and filled the air with good-natured rivalry. It is said that the academy girls brewed the cold weather and one all ordered "orange summer girls" just to be loyal. There is room for the discovery of a distinctive football drink for girls, but it must have orange in it. It has not been told in what the High school girls sought nourishment and comfort, but one might guess cocktail—red, oyster ones.

Jewish society seems to have given its time and attention entirely to the aid of persecuted brethren the past week. The question has come so close home to them that it has put many in solemn thought and there has been little social activity among them.

Some splendid musical treats are promised inside of a few days. Of course there is the Norelli concert to attract numbers of music-lovers Tuesday. The song cycle of E. H. Allen Goodwyn and John Claire Montell are attracting attention and much surprise. It is safe to say that they will be attended by a mutually select gathering. The glee club of Oregon Glee club concert on Thanksgiving night is a little distance away yet, but it is being generally spoken of and will undoubtedly command the majority of the audience that night. Particulars are given elsewhere in these columns.

The engagement of Miss Stella Love of Honolulu to Frederick Patterson is of interest even though Patterson is a resident of Portland; both have so many friends here. Miss Julia Costan, who has passed three months in Honolulu with Miss Love, is now in San Francisco on her way home and will be here this week.

Every one likes to see a college aggregation with lots of college spirit. That is why the annual musical Thanksgiving day is so beloved a day. It has been received with delight and enthusiasm by so many. The annual Thanksgiving game between the Multnomah club and the University Glee club always arouses interest in the state institution and no game of the season here has so liberal a sprinkling of society folk in attendance. College spirit is in demand that day, and the supply is sufficient. This year the concert of the University Glee and Mandolin clubs at the Marquam will sustain the enthusiasm throughout the evening, as well as the pleasant surprise that everyone is going to attend.

The list of patronesses is a strong one, including the leading musical people and the leading society matrons who feel an interest in the growth of the institution and the success of its visiting representatives. Mrs. Fletcher Linn, who was formerly of the musical department there, is on the list, and Mrs. C. A. Dolph, wife of one of the regents, and Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur, widow of a former regent, are included. The patronesses are Mrs. Fletcher Linn, Mrs. Warren Thomas, Mrs. E. S. Courson, Mrs. Robert Treat Fiat, Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer, Mrs. John Gill, Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs. Henry W. Godard, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Miss Etta Felling, Mrs. A. E. Rooker, Mrs. George W. Marz, Mrs. Henry E. Jones, Mrs. Zora Snow, Mrs. William D. Fenton, Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur, Mrs. S. E. Johnson, Mrs. H. C. Wortman, Mrs. Samuel Means and Mrs. William Jones.

by Miss Mabel Baker, whose work was so much enjoyed at the exposition this summer.

The subject of the afternoon study was "Elizabeth, Queen of England." Mrs. G. M. Gilman gave an interesting talk on Elizabeth as queen, and Mrs. A. Crofton told of the womanly side of her character. Mrs. Hayes gave a complete history of the queen and Catherine de Medici. Mrs. A. A. Bailey spoke graphically of Mary Stuart, comparing her life and character with that of Elizabeth. A discussion followed, led by Mrs. Tiff and Mrs. Thoburn.

The club will meet next week with Mrs. G. M. Gilman, 342 East Everett street, at 12:30 o'clock.

The Thanksgiving meeting of the Daughters of the Revolution is of small importance to these descendants of the early celebrators, and Wednesday Mrs. Warren E. Thomas entertained them at the Hobart-Curtis. The drawing rooms were draped with flags which gave a pleasing patriotic effect.

The program was opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," souvenir copies of which were given to the guests. The Lakota quartet—Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab, Miss Ethel Lytle, Miss Marion Stackpole, Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong—led the singing and gave several other enjoyable selections. Mrs. Thomas read a paper on "The History of Thanksgiving Day" and Mrs. G. H. Fettinger gave an amusing monologue. Each member brought a guest and all were charmed with the unique idea of serving mince pie and cider met with much approval.

The Autumn Girls' club gave an informal dancing party in Blank's hall last Tuesday evening and every one had a delightful time. The patronesses were Mrs. Thomas Duffy, Mrs. William Finnigan and Mrs. Hirschler. The invitations issued were two red leaves with an inclosed white leaf together with a green ribbon. There were about 50 couples present and they quite crowded the cozy room, which was gaily decorated with the club's colors, autumn red and green. The members of the committee were Mrs. E. S. Wood, Mrs. L. W. Sifton, Mrs. James D. Hart, Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson, Mrs. Ralph Dunaway, Miss A. L. Atwood, Mrs. William P. Oide and Mrs. William G. Elliot. Those serving tea in the dining-room were: Mrs. Hannah Robertson, Mrs. Oswald Laman, Mrs. George S. Whitehead and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies. Assisting them in serving were: Mrs. Lucy Sten, Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, Mrs. Harriet Calkins and Miss Nellie Taylor. Ices were served by Mrs. C. G. Calkins and Miss Etta Bailey.

The music department of the Woman's club was entertained Thursday afternoon at 521 Irving street, by Mrs. J. W. Sweeney. About 20 members were present. The work of the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Hamilton, was followed by an unusually interesting program. The numbers were all well rendered and there were numerous encores. The program was: "Unpardonable," Mrs. B. S. Pague; songs, "The Sweetest Flower That Grows," "Little Boy Blue," "The Girl Who Went to Sea," "Merrymen," Mrs. E. C. Frost; songs, "April," "A Memory," Miss Irene Flynn.

The serving of dainty refreshments with the hostess was one of the most delightful afternoons of the department.

A pleasant farewell surprise party was given in honor of Miss Verna Smith on Friday evening, November 16, at her home, 412 S. Belmont. A splendid affair which delightful games were played. At a late hour refreshments were served. The invited guests were Misses Verna Smith, Laura Habighorst, Claire Mann, Georgia Newbury, Nettie Mann, Henriette Rothschild, Nora Lane, Marian Humbel, Kathryn Rader, Irene Curran, Gula Bennett, and Luke Rader. Mrs. Hewitt, Robert Ramsdell, Harold March, Robert McClure, Dan Barber, Warren Cosens, Warren Tufts, Frank McCulloch, Fred Norman and James Rothschild.

The Gasset club, which is composed of Dr. C. Sellwies, James G. Burness and Frederick W. Goodrich, gave its first dancing party of the season at the W. O. W. hall, East Sixth and Alder streets, on Thursday evening. A splendid company assembled and the affair was a distinct social success. The beautiful hall looked most brilliant. Everett's orchestra played a most enjoyable program of the newest dances. Frederick W. Goodrich acted as master of ceremonies. The patronesses were Mrs. George B. Van Waters, Mrs. Whitney L. Boise, Mrs. J. W. Gascon, Mrs. W. J. Sully, Mrs. James G. Burness, Mrs. James M. Moore and Mrs. F. C. Sellwies.

The forthrightly demonstrations in cookery by Miss Lillian Tingle at the W. O. W. C. A. rooms are meeting with increasing interest and success. The demonstration on Wednesday evening was devoted to mayonnaise dressing and salads. The tempting ingredients in turn combined into most attractive and toothsome dishes.

The course is for the enlightenment of "backyard girls" in whom minds the question of such knowledge is more than suspected of kindling a desire to try their efforts in "benedict" kitchens of their own. The next demonstration will be the preparation of the Thanksgiving Turkey.

Mrs. W. L. Strough gave a pretty green and white luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Lyman Hill of California, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Runyon. Covers were laid for 12. Cream and white roses were woven into the table decorations effectively. The guests besides Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Runyon were: Mrs. Byron E. Miller, Mrs. George C. Flanders, Mrs. P. J. Mann, Mrs. William M. Calk, Mrs. Charles L. Bose, Mrs. Will H. Bee, Mrs. B. F. Weaver, Mrs. Katherine A. Daly and Mrs. R. P. Graham.

The First Congregational Missionary society was delightfully entertained last week by Mrs. J. C. Luckey at 707

Marshall street. Some 60 guests attended. Mrs. D. B. Gray led the devotionals; Mrs. W. D. Palmer, recently returned from Chicago, read an interesting paper on mission work there, and Mrs. J. Ernest Laidlaw sang two numbers most acceptably. The president made mention of the unusual financial success of this year, during which the society has raised $171 for missionary purposes. The hostess closed the afternoon pleasantly with refreshments.

Mrs. A. King Wilson entertained at luncheon Thursday in honor of Mrs. A. H. Breyman, president, and Mrs. P. J. Mann, past president, of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs. Her lovely country home at Corwaga was pretty with Oregon grape and chrysanthemums, and the same flower was used on the table. Among the other guests were Mrs. Robert Lutke and Mrs. Hays.

The Centennial Girls gave their dance at Ringler's hall Wednesday evening, which was well attended. The hall was decorated in green and red with colored lights. Punch was served from an attractively ornamented corner. Mrs. E. Wetler, Mrs. R. O. Stoehr, Mrs. E. Long and Mrs. J. W. Grussl patronized the affair. The club members are Miss Myrtle E. Long, Miss Gertrude D. Wetzel, Miss Hattie L. Grussl and Miss Margaret V. Stoehr.

One of the delightful bridge clubs is the one meeting weekly which was entertained last Tuesday by Mrs. E. Lee Barnes. The members are Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Miss May Felling, Mrs. Ned Ayer, Mrs. L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. John Shepard, Mrs. Thomas Kerr and Mrs. Harry Nunn.

Mrs. C. S. Jackson entertained at luncheon at Estacoda Tuesday for Mrs. M. T. Barlow of Omaha, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Brooke. The table was attractive with violets and amaranth. The other guests were Mrs. E. H. Brooke, Mrs. A. A. Morrison, Mrs. A. G. Barker, Miss Louise Morris, Mrs. Walter V. Smith and Mrs. F. S. Stanley.

Mrs. Louis E. Tarpley entertained a few of her friends last week, receiving them two afternoons at her home, 64 Ella street. Wednesday afternoon there were eight tables of five hundred. Friday afternoon there were eight tables. Dainty Canton cups and saucers made lovely prizes for the highest score winner at each table.

Miss Gussie Marshall of 771 Hoyt street gave two afternoons to her friends last week. Thursday she entertained seven tables of five hundred, and Mrs. James D. Hart and Mrs. B. W. Campbell were the prize winners. Friday the same number played five hundred under her auspices.

The executive committee of the Portland branch of the Consumers' league met Friday afternoon with Miss May Montgomery. An interesting collection of pictures sent by the New York league was displayed.

Mrs. Morton Insley entertained very informally at bridge Thursday afternoon. A prize of flowers was given to the winner at each table. Only a very few friends were of the company.

The Young People's society of the Presbyterian church gave an informal concert Friday evening in honor of the new members. Games, music and refreshments made a pleasant evening.

Mrs. James M. Russell of Ford and Madison streets entertained Tuesday afternoon with "800." There were nine tables.

Mrs. Byron E. Miller entertained at luncheon Friday a week ago in honor of Mrs. Lyman Hill of California.

in their praise. She will tour the coast later in the season.

Mention should have been made last week of the delightful success of Madame Norelli at her concert in Eugene, Monday, November 6. This was her only appearance outside of Portland during her western visit and she was given an ovation by a large audience of students and townspeople. The concert was given under the auspices of the Fortnightly club, which held a large reception for her afterward.

Many in Portland will be delighted to know that Madame Norelli was assisted in her program by Arthur Louis Fraser, who there made his first appearance since his return to Europe. The made-up spoke in high terms of his work. Mr. Fraser is well known in musical circles of this city. He has studied for several years with W. Gilford Nash and appeared here as solo pianist for the University of Oregon Glee club.

Invitations have been issued for a song recital by S. E. Allen-Goodwyn, tenor, at the studio of Marie A. S.

to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by Miss Carry West. Miss Starrett has been a teacher in the eastern and western Oregon and is the daughter of Councilman S. B. Starrett. The groom is a farmer of Eight Mile, where he is well and favorably known. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will make their home near here.

Interest among Jewish society centered the past week about the marriage of Miss Emma Goldsmith of New York City to Samuel Simon of this city. They were married Wednesday and will travel through the east for five or six months before returning to Portland to live. Mr. Simon is a member of the firm of Fleischer, Mayer & Co. and is a brother of ex-Senator Joseph Simon and Mrs. A. Oberdorfer. The advent of his young bride is looked forward to with some interest. She is a cousin of Mrs. Ben Selling and Mrs. E. Sichel.

Announcements have been received in the city of the marriage of Miss Lena Liebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Liebe, of the Dulles, to George Raymond Campbell. The groom is a graduate of the University of Oregon and has many friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will be at home after December 1 at Spokane, Washington.

Miss Lillah Hamilton and Elmer M. Andrus were married Wednesday evening by Dr. Clarence True Wilson at the Grace M. E. parsonage. Mrs. Abbie Brown and Miss Jessie Marshall accompanied them.

Miss Mae M. Moran and Marino P. Zan were married Saturday, November 11, at St. James church. The couple will be at home at 84 North Ninth street.

Miss Anna M. West and Homer J. Lucas were married by Dr. Clarence True Wilson Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Woodlawn.

Miss Grace Elstinger of St. Paul, Minnesota, and Julius C. Lang of Seattle were united in marriage Wednesday at the residence of the bride's parents.

them wedding, and all the young women will be in pure white. The eight brides will dress alike in simple gowns of white chiffon tulle, the maid of honor and bride being gowned more elaborately, but also in white. The color enters into the arrangement only in the chrysanthemums carried by the attendants, which will vary regularly in tint. Miss Marguerite is to be one of the attending maids and has been busy with the meddles for some time past, and her "regulation" chiffon tulle is quite what girls call "a dream." After the marriage Dr. Chamberlain and his bride will return at once to Portland and will live for the present at the governor's home. Miss Marguerite will remain for an extended visit.

Extensive notices were given Mrs. H. C. Wortman, who visited in Eugene a week ago her sister Mrs. M. S. Barker. She spoke before the Oregon university on art and gave a most interesting explanation of how to look at a picture, how to enjoy it and what to look for in it. Mrs. Wortman has received recognition here as an art connoisseur and her informal talks are always listened to with delight. But it is interesting to know that she has refused many urgent invitations to address audiences in other towns outside of Portland and it is only because Eugene was the home of her girlhood and because she has so many old friends there that she broke her rule.

Mrs. Minnie Washburne held an informal reception for Mrs. Wortman on one afternoon of her stay. Mrs. Washburne is one of the most prominent and delightful entertainers of the college town. Mrs. Barker also entertained with an afternoon for her sister.

Lieutenant James Castleman and Mrs. Castleman of Kentucky are at Elton Court, the guests of the lieutenant's brother, William Castleman. Friends are eagerly expressing the wish that Mr. Castleman, who has been spending the summer and fall here for reasons of health, will sing before a Portland audience before his departure. He is one of the best tenors of the Paris Opera.

A happy party will leave tomorrow for Natchez, Mississippi. Dr. Charles T. Chamberlain goes to meet his affianced bride, Miss Deborah Boatner, and with him will go his sister, Miss Marguerite Chamberlain, and his grandmother, Mrs. Chamberlain, who has spent the summer here with her son. The wedding, Wednesday evening, November 23, is to be a large and brilliant affair. The ceremony will take place in the Presbyterian church, and besides the maid of honor there will be eight bridesmaids with accompanying swains. The plan is to have a rainbow chrysan-
