TERRIBLE TWINS NOT SO BAD

Judge Frazer Investigates Case Against Eleven-Year-Old Acton Boys.

ORVILLE BLACKENED HUGH STANLEY'S EYE

Juvenile Court Judge Tries Twins in Terry Schoolhouse, Saving Them and Parents Cost of Coming in and Many Witness Fees.

Terry school house, two miles north of Gresham, had its first juvenile court session yesterday afternoon, Judge Arthur L. Frazer and Clerk Marion E. Johnson having gone there to hear the story of Melvin and Orville Acton, 11-year-old twins, who are said to be the bullies of the neighborhood.

From reports that had sifted into Portland regarding the prowess of the boys Judge Frazer expected to find small horns growing from their foreheads. Instead, he says, that he found healthy, full-of-life boys inclined to be mischievous and ever ready to fight boys near their own side.

The twins were accused of having struck Hugh Stanley, aged 12 years, of Gresham, with a dangerous weapon. Upon investigation it was shown that Stanley had his eye blackened in a fight with Orville Acton. Judge Frazer heard the stories of the boys and the many witnesses gathered at the school house. The twins promised to be good in the future and were allowed to go on parole with orders to report to Mr. St. Clair of Gresham.

Judge Frazer says that he had a double reason in going to the school house instead of having the boys come to Portland—one to save them and their mother the trouble of making the trip and another to save the county the expense of the many witnesses. The case had been set for trial last Friday and as several witnesses could not be identified of its postponement, they appeared at the county house and their testimony was heard. These few witnesses cost the county at least $15; had the whole case been heard here $15 more would have been added to this cost bill. As it was Judge Frazer made the round trip for $3.

Miss Craven, teacher at the Terry school, present at yesterday's trial, said that two or three other youngsters in the neighborhood might appear before the court.

TO CHECK SPREAD OF DISEASE

State Board of Health Offers to Make Free Tests of Serum.

WILL REPORT RESULTS WITHIN TWELVE HOURS

Board Also Will Test Milk or Water for Typhoid Germs—Doctors Who Neglect to Report Contagious Diseases Promptly to Be Prosecuted.

The state board of health has started an active crusade against the spread of contagious diseases and has called upon physicians throughout the state to report promptly and the results sent out by telephone within 12 hours to the attending physician. It is the opinion of members of the board that quarantine frequently is lifted from children who have been afflicted with severe sore throat or diphtheria before all the bacilli have disappeared.

Free tests will be made also of water or milk for typhoid germs whenever samples are sent in and prompt attention will be given to other infectious causes. The laboratory of the Oregon state board of health is the best-equipped working laboratory in the Pacific northwest. It is practically a new establishment. Dr. Ralph Matson, state bacteriologist, has charge of the laboratory and makes the diagnoses assisted by his brother, Dr. Ray Matson, city health commissioner, who has been accorded the use of the laboratory for city work.

The state board of health has decided to force physicians throughout the state to observe the law regarding the reporting of all infectious diseases as soon as they are discovered. Frequently cases of infectious diseases are never reported or else not until long after the patient dies. Hereafter all such neglect will be investigated promptly and the attending physician will be prosecuted.

OREGON MAN HAS WIFE AND COMPANION ARRESTED

Fred Law and Mrs. Annie Turpin Committed to Jail in Idaho Town.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Boise, Idaho, Nov. 18.—George Turpin, a racehorse man of Medford, Oregon, known at every race track from Portland to Redding, California, swore to the complaint yesterday which caused the arrest of his wife, Annie Turpin, and Fred Law, on a statutory charge. The preliminary examination was held today and both were committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, being unable to give bail.

Law was a former employe of Turpin. Last March he and Mrs. Turpin disappeared. They came to this place about six weeks ago, and when arrested were working on a ranch about 10 miles from here. Turpin in search of them, went to Kentucky, back to Oregon, and finally to Idaho.

In December, 1903, at Redding, California, Law attempted to kill Turpin, shooting him with a shotgun held close to his face. The gun was loaded with fine shot, and the charge merely tore a part of Turpin's jaw away. He recovered. On his wife's plea he was induced to let the prosecution of Law drop.

When Law was brought to the courtroom Turpin would have shot him had not the officers taken his pistol away.

After he was 21 years old he says he continued to work on his father's farm at current wages until he has $250 more to his credit.

The jury was unable to agree and was discharged.
