A pastor meeting of the W. C. T. U. and its friends was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ames last night, at which 357. Galls Howe of St. Joseph, Missouri, was the house guest. Mrs. Ames, her daughter, Miss Ames, and Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh received the guests, and Mrs. Unruh introduced Mrs. Howe, who spoke briefly on the progressive work of the order she represented as national lecturer and organizer. Miss Gail Laughlin, the attorney of New York who is here in the interests of the suffrage campaign, told of the practical results of woman's suffrage in the states where it has been tried. In Wyoming 39 percent of the women vote and in Colorado 50 percent, and in almost every case they are kept to vote for the best man. B. Lee Paget and H. W. Stone were the other speakers. Mrs. Howe, who has been speaking the week here in temperance work, is taking a trip up the Columbia river today and will spend Sunday in Newberg, thus finishing her term in Oregon and proceeding to Washington at once.

The two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of Jews in America is being celebrated today all over the United States. While there had been some settlers at earlier times, the Jews came to America first in considerable numbers in 1492, when the Dutch West India company issued a grant of privileges, setting forth that "we have decided and resolved upon a certain petition made by said Portuguese Jews that they shall have permission to sail to and trade in New Netherland and to live and remain there." On a general committee which has charge of the celebration Joseph Simon and Dr. Stephen S. Wise represent Oregon. Dr. W. Willner, who was elected a member of the committee representing Mississippi, is now in Portland as pastor of Ahuvia Shalom synagogue. He will address the congregation tonight, and tomorrow a special ritual proposed by the committee will be introduced in the regular service by Rev. R. Abrahamson.

Alleging that the North Pacific Lumber company was encroaching upon its right of way, the Northern Pacific Railway company this morning began a suit in the circuit court asking that a temporary restraining order be issued to keep the employes of the lumber company from piling materials upon the railway's property. It is alleged in the complaint that during the present year the North Pacific company has encroached upon the railway company's right of way by piling lumber thereon and leaving trucks and wagons standing near the car tracks. It is said that the lumber and wagons have been placed so near the tracks that the steps and other projecting parts of passing cars have been broken. The court is asked also to restrain the millowners from dumping sawdust and waste near the tracks of the railway.

The unrivaled dry goods emporium, that store of McAllen & McDonnell, Third and Main streets, has begun its reduction sales this year before the Christmas holidays. Its reductions in price are therefore on at this time, and purchasers are given the full advantage of these buying favors at a season usual to the highest values of the year. The prices advertised in yesterday's Journal relate to the facts so perfectly that any person can understand them.

The proposed amendments to the state constitution will be taken up at an address by W. S. U'Ren, to be delivered in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Friday evening, December 8. The amendments are being submitted to vote of the people in the election next June. The meeting at the Y. M. C. A. will be held under the auspices of the Multnomah Prohibition Alliance.

Mr. A. J. Hagen, who formerly was proprietor of the Enterprise creamery, has opened a new store at 123 Fourth street under the name of the Central creamery with a full line of groceries, making a specialty of butter, cheese and eggs. He will again serve his old and new customers with the same promptness and honorable service as before.

Auction! Auction! Never before have the people of Portland had the opportunity offered them to buy diamonds, watches, jewelry, cut glass and silverware absolutely at their own price. A visit to our establishment will prove the above assertion. Auction daily, 2:30 to 7:30. Seats for ladies. A. L. Lowenstein, 305 1/2 Washington street.

Portland's finest lawns are made by planting our "Diamond Brand" fancy lawn grass seed. One pound sows 20 feet square. How many pounds do you need to fix up your lawn? Call Main 473 and ask us about it. Portland Seed Co.

FAULTY STOPCOCK CAUSES DEATH

Arthur R. Wahlgren Accidentally Asphyxiated in Boarding House Last Night.

A faulty stopcock is believed to have been responsible for the death by asphyxiation of Arthur R. Wahlgren, a young man who was found dead in bed early this morning at the residence of W. R. Graden, 242 Crosby street. There is no evidence that the death was intentional.

WENT TO ROOM TO WRITE A LETTER

Odor of Gas Causes Investigation and Young Man Is Found Dead in Bed—Thought He Unintentionally Turned on Gas.

Wahlgren came to board with Mr. Graden on October 17. He was employed as a clerk by Roberts Bros. Last night, after spending the evening with the family and the other boarders, he went to his room at about 10:30 o'clock, saying that he intended to write a letter. Early this morning Mrs. Graden detected the odor of gas, and, with her husband, started out to investigate. In front of Wahlgren's room the smell was strong, and Mr. Graden entered. He found Wahlgren in bed, apparently dead, and called Dr. Marcelles, who said that life had been extinct for some time. Coroner Finley was notified, and removed the body to his undertaking rooms.

The letter which Wahlgren said he intended to write was found on a table, addressed to a young woman in Astoria. On the back of it the writer had added a postscript saying that he expected to go home for the Christmas holidays. This confirmed the opinion held by people living in the house that the death was accidental.

The gas jet in the room which Wahlgren occupied hangs in the center of the apartment. When Mr. Graden entered early this morning he found the cock wide open. The valve operated so easily that it is thought that the young man, on turning out the light, accidentally opened the cock again with his finger.

Wahlgren was 22 years old. His parents reside in Astoria and they were notified of his death. They will arrive in the city on the evening train.

MAIMED AND BRUISED FILL GOOD SAMARITAN

Broken Arm, Bad Cut, General Bruising, Injured Foot and Broken Leg the List.

A boy with a broken arm, a man with a gash in his head, a badly bruised messenger boy, a man with an injured foot and another with a broken leg—all these were brought to the Good Samaritan hospital last night or this morning.

William Bergegh of Fulton, aged 18 years, was coming in on a crowded car this morning, hanging on the steps. He lost his hold and fell. His arm was badly fractured.

Olof Egilmo, a longshoreman employed by the steamer Nome City, was brought in this morning with a gash in his head made by a falling plank.

George Paulkner, a messenger boy, aged 18 years, employed by the Western Union Telegraph company, was knocked down and run over last night by a fire engine in the northeast part of town. It was feared that his injuries were serious, but he seems to be only badly bruised.

J. N. Webb, a Southern Pacific railroad employe, was brought in this morning with a broken leg and a broken foot. Frank Raymond, an employe at Chareson tavern, has a seriously fractured leg and was brought to the hospital this morning.

CHILDREN PACK MARQUAM TO HEAR OUTCAULT TALK

R. F. Outcault, "Buster Brown" and "Tige" were great drawing cards yesterday afternoon and evening at the Marquam theatre. The evening lecture was enjoyable and the liberal patronage. But the event of Mr. Outcault's appearance here was the matinee, when as many youngsters and their mothers as could crowd into the playhouse heard the stories of the cartoonist and saw him draw pictures.

Outcault showed perfect understanding of the child's nature. It was noticeable that he applied to his talks to children the most charming faculty of polished orators—carrying a thought to a point just short of complete expression but pausing in time to allow the auditor to jump on to the conclusion.

It was announced that during Christmas week Mr. Outcault will be at the Marquam with a "Buster Brown" company of 18 to give a performance.

Last night a crowd of the lecture Julius Meier auctioned the pictures Mr. Outcault had drawn, netting $13.50 for the children's home.

Lecture at Y. M. C. A. The Young Men's Christian Association has received many inquiries from young men in the east and from those who recently have come to Portland as to where a young man may find the greatest opportunity for success. In order to answer more definitely these queries Tom Richardson, manager of the Portland Commercial club, has consented to give a talk on "Practical Opportunities for Young Men in the Northwest" before the association on Saturday evening, November 25. All young men, whether members of the association or not, are invited to attend this lecture.

MANY TAKE LONG RIDE OVER BROILING SANDS

One Hundred Five Tyros Initiated Into Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan.

Dust-stained and bruised by the long ride on canvas, 105 new members of the Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan, went sadly and slowly about their duties this morning. Among the number was Municipal Judge George W. Cameron and was bettle the hapless offender who appears before him today and suggests the burning sands. State Senator E. W. Haines of Forest Grove and E. M. Carter of Astoria will depart for home today, the most ardent advocates of irrigating the deserts and cooling waste regions of earth wherever the sun is inclined to parch it. More than 100 others who wore the tyro tag last evening awakened this morning calling for water.

The session at Knights of Pythias hall was memorable to a larger number than the tyros, for the largest aggregation of Pythians that ever assembled in the Marquam building were in attendance. Tribesmen of the Khorassan order from all parts of the Oregon domain were present.

At the conclusion of the ceremonial function the aggregation was refreshed in generous manner, as the officers of the Khorassan tribe came with a heavy provision train. Importer Nels John Annand had his staff of gorgeous retainers out in force, among the leaders being John M. Mann, G. C. Moser, W. L. Bradshaw, W. M. C. Cake and R. L. Stinson.

MUCH WORK AHEAD FOR THE NEEDLEWORK GUILD

The Portland branch of the Needlework Guild of America has mapped out work for itself, and the members explained their plans and ambitions at an exhibit and tea given Wednesday afternoon at the Unitarian chapel. They hope to become a medium of distribution for all the charitable organizations of the city, and the guild plans that those needing clothes apply to them instead of to the merchants directly. The guild will, in addition to the garments contributed by its members and friends, solicit from the merchants, and will be ready to supply needs on request, and by this arrangement the gifts can be more evenly divided among various societies and will save the business men much annoyance.

During the past year 1,559 articles of clothing have reached the needy through the hands of the guild and 188 have been retained for emergency cases. Fifteen institutions have received this help and the guild has found that to meet the entire needs of these institutions 2,000 garments are needed. The Good Samaritan hospital could have used 400 more than it received to provide the charity patients it discharged.

A request is made that more members lend their aid. The contribution of two garments annually is the only requisite for membership, and men and girls are welcomed into the organization as well as women. Any interested are asked to communicate with Mrs. J. Reed, president, of 743 Hoyt street; Miss Lorraine DeRidder, secretary, of 531 Johnson street; or Miss Anna Cremen, 408 Twelfth street. Mrs. H. W. Corbett is honorary president.

SAYS CHILD SHOULD LOVE BOOKS, BIRDS, FLOWERS

"One of the wisest mothers I know once said to me, 'I don't care to have my child learn anything at all during these years excepting to love good things—to love books, birds, and flowers, and the great world of God's out-of-doors.' It is within the power of each mother in this room to mold the character of her child, and it is also in her power to develop in him the taste for books. Such was one of the ideas presented
