Chandler, Hug and Templeton Are Leading Candidates for Next Year's Captaincy.

OREGON LOSES BUT TWO OF THIS YEAR'S SQUAD

Kerron and Earl Will Not Be With the Lemon Yellow Eleven Next Season—Games That Oregon May Try in the Year to Come.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., Dec. 7.—Just who will captain the varsity football eleven next season is a matter of speculation, for there are several aspirants for the position that is generally regarded as the highest honor within the gift of the undergraduates. Three men—William C. Chandler, '33; George W. Hug, '34, and Frank Templeton, '35—are regarded as leading candidates for the position. Chandler has played on the right end of Oregon's line for four consecutive seasons and in point of service is the logical man for the captaincy. For the past three years he has been chosen for the All-Northwest eleven by nearly all of the critics of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The "four-year rule" is not in force in the northwest and Chandler will be found in his old position again next year. George W. Hug played center in 1934 and again this year. He is generally regarded as the best center ever developed at Oregon, and his work during the season just closed was of such a high order that he was prominently mentioned for All-Northwest honors. Hug was captain of the varsity track team last spring and won three first places in the weight events of the intercollegiate meet at Salem. He holds the local records for the hammer, shot and discus events.

Earl of His Kicks.
 Frank Templeton is the last of six brothers who have made Oregon football famous. He plays left halfback and is especially strong on defense. He was given a place in nearly every All-Northwest selection of this year. Templeton's twin brother Joe was captain of the championship segregation team of 1934 and his brother Harry was captain of the varsity in 1935. Captain R. Latourette's name has been mentioned for re-election, but Latourette has stated that he will not be a candidate. The names of McKinney and Armstrong, the varsity tackle, have also been suggested, but it is hardly probable that either of these men will enter the contest.

Oregon's Prospects.
 Oregon's prospects for another successful season are most flattering. With the exception of Beth Kerron, every man who played against Washington and Multnomah this year will be in college again in 1936. Right tackle Earl, who played until the Corvallis game, will graduate along with Kerron next June, but all the others of the varsity squad, including the substitutes and Army line bunch of second-team men, will be on hand next September. A manager will be chosen at the next meeting of the athletic council.

The Probable Schedule.
 There will be no game with the alumni next year, but efforts will be made to bring Idaho to Eugene. The Oregon-Washington game will probably be played in Portland, as will the Thanksgiving game with Multnomah. The varsity will go to Corvallis for the annual game with Oregon Agricultural college, while Willamette and Chemawa will play Oregon on Kincaid field. The annual trip to California will be made, although members of the varsity squad are unwilling to play more than one game in the south.

The present fast ball season has been a great financial success. After paying all the season's bills, including the purchase of varsity sweaters for 16 men, manager Fred Steiner expects to turn over several hundred dollars to the associated students.

TRACEY AND ZUBRICK READY FOR THE FRAY

Everything is in readiness for the Tracey-Zubrick contest at Vancouver on Friday night. The principals will meet at the Journal office some time today to select a referee and it is likely that Joseph Stutz will be chosen. Tracey wanted either Jack Grant or "Billy" Smith, but says if Zubrick insists he will accept Stutz.

Both fighters are in good trim for the contest and a lively mill is expected. A large number of local sports are going over to witness the affair.

Hudson, South Dakota, claims the only female umpire of professional baseball in the world. Her name is Amanda Clement, aged 17 years, and good looking. Miss Clement has umpired professional games in the northwest the past two seasons and is to enter Yankton college next year.

MULTNOMAH TEAM GIVEN A VIGOROUS WORKOUT

Coach Overfield Puts the Members of His Team Through a Long Practice.

An hour's hard work last evening under the careful supervision of Coach Overfield had the effect of putting some life into the club eleven in their preparation for Saturday's struggle with the powerful Oregon Agricultural college team from Corvallis. There is one thing certain about Saturday's lineup, and that is McMillan, Murphy and Horan will not be in it. In their places will be such splendid players as Legergan, "Dad" Clarke, Rupert and Kirkley. While the players have not turned out in sufficient numbers nor with proper regularity to please Mr. Overfield, yet the spirit they displayed in last night's work was highly satisfactory, and if they play with the same vigor on Saturday it will be "dingbats" for the Farmers. Another new player who has lent his services to Multnomah is Full-back Dimpick of the H. M. A. Dimpick is a big strapping fellow and has the football instinct. He will turn out this evening with the squad.

Saturday's game is now the principal topic of conversation on all sides. Yesterday 1400 were left at Schiller's cigar store to be placed on O. A. C. at odds of 10 to 9. This offer rather took the starch out of some of the local backers of the club, who were thinking that Multnomah's chances were as good, if not better than the Farmers'. There is still one matter to be settled, that of officials for the game. The Farmers want no one for referee but Dr. Roller of Seattle and that worthy physician will be unable to officiate. Reno Hutchinson will probably act as umpire. This certainly hard to please the Farmers.

The "Agrics" will arrive here tomorrow evening with great pomp and ceremony, retiring as soon as they reach Portland, in order to receive a full night's rest before the game.

BILLIARD CONTEST BECOMING INTERESTING

The billiard tournament at the Multnomah club is going merrily on. Three men were tied for first class honors. They were Dudley Clark, W. M. Walter and M. S. Mulford. In the first game of the playoff for the medal, Dudley Clark, score 70, average 1.82, beat M. S. Mulford, score 50, average 2.25. The result of last night's play follows: M. S. Mulford, score 65, average 2.82, beat W. M. Dennis, score 50, average 2.12. Dudley Clark, score 70, average 2.26, beat W. B. Streeter, score 55, average 2.34. Dudley Clark, score 70, average 2.12, beat W. M. Dennis, score 54, average 1.63. W. S. Mulford, score 65, average 2.14, beat W. B. Streeter, score 50, average 2.56. W. M. Walter, score 50, average 1.85, beat W. B. Streeter, score 54, average 2.23. W. B. Streeter, score 100, average 5, beat W. M. Dennis, score 45, average 2.35.

In the third class only one game was played. J. R. Rogers, score 45, average 1.23, beat C. M. Wilkins, score 34, average 1.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Now that the tallend tailers of a tail-board aggregation of lobsters have arrived home for the winter, after having bluffed the public from Seattle to Los Angeles all year, let us hope that they will crawl into their holes and remain there in silence, as no one cares to hear from them nor listen to their excuses for bad ball playing, rowdiness, crookedness and insouciance.

Heard at the Army and Navy game: "Army mule, army mule, You can kick and balk and bray, But football you cannot play, Army mule, army mule, Haw-ho, haw-ho, haw-ho, haw-ho, Army mule."

James Edward Britt is conducting a very subtle, but thus far ineffective, campaign to force Battling Nelson to give him a raluza-malok. Through the columns of the newspapers he has called the Dane about everything that the postal laws will permit, in the hope of forcing the Hegeswisch lad to agree to another meeting. But Billy Nolan, in spite of his volubility, is just as keen as Britt, and the way he is safeguarding the Dane's interests stamps him as one of the most astute managers in the country.

As a hush fell over the immense audience, until the footlights were obscured, Mr. Jeffries advanced to the front. Placing his right hand over his heart, he says: "Me friends, the story that I'm getting over do ropes again is a bum steer. I have cut out the game for good, and dat goes. Neither am I going to start a get-happy joint. Dere are too many booze runs already. A farmer's life for mine, and if— Just then the spotlight flickered and went out and so did Jim.

How to carve a duck: First let it be understood that there are several kinds of ducks. Some are roasted. Some are carved. Some are rushed. Old stagers like ourselves would probably rather rush the duck than carve the duck. But that is neither here nor there. We wish it was, but our wish does not alter the fact. To carve a duck, get a square piece of marble, a chisel, a mallet and an apron. Then, if you are a sculptor you will have no difficulty in carving the duck. Rushing the duck is much more simple, but space forbids further details here.

Fistic Promoter Tells About the Fighting Situation in New York—He Also Has His Eye Upon Several Men Who May Come West.

(Journal Special Service.)
 San Francisco, Dec. 7.—"Jimmy" Coffroth returned from an extended trip in the eastern states yesterday. He was very much surprised to hear that there was any talk of a hitch in the arrangements for the O'Brien-Fitzsimmons fight. He said:

"As far as I am concerned the match is made. I have communicated with the boxers and both told me they were as surprised as I was when I heard of the rumors that there was a hitch. The fight will take place on the twentieth as originally scheduled. Coffroth had a good deal to say about the boxing game in New York. He said that since the Hirtion law expired and boxing became a dead letter in the big city, nothing had been doing, but now there were clubs innumerable giving exhibitions which were supposed to be amateur contests, but which were very carefully watched. Such dyed-in-the-wool professionals as Young Corbett, Charlie Seiger, Abe Attel, Willie Lewis and Tommy Murphy took part in these contests.

Willie Lewis, a fighter who can do his best at about 135 pounds, will get a chance to fight under Coffroth's management. Jimmy saw the eastern lightweight in action and is satisfied that he can put up as good a fight as Gans, Sullivan or Jimmy Gardner, and he will match him against any of the scrappers as soon as he can get a chance.

Another man who caught the eye of the promoter was Tommy Murphy, the boy who was defeated by McGovern in the first round of Coffroth's management. Jimmy saw the eastern lightweight in action and is satisfied that he can put up as good a fight as Gans, Sullivan or Jimmy Gardner, and he will match him against any of the scrappers as soon as he can get a chance.

M'GOVERN AND CORBETT MEET AND SHED TEARS

(Journal Special Service.)
 New York, Dec. 7.—Terry McGovern and Young Corbett met in the rotunda of the Rosemary on Thanksgiving day. The meeting recalled another meeting four years ago. It was on Thanksgiving day at Hartford that the feather-weight championship changed from Terry to Corbett.

Everybody will remember what a surprise it was. No one thought Corbett had any more chance than a snowball would have in a Russian bath. There was no betting. That morning a man named Reardon approached Honest John Kelly and offered to bet him $1,500 to $100 on Corbett.

Kelly hesitated a moment. "I'm making you a present of $100," he said. "But as a professional gambler I can't overlook those odds. You're on."

That's how much of a betting proposition that fight was. After it had happened Corbett had so many prospective managers around him that he was nearly smothered.

"Get me out of this, will you?" he said. "I'm in the air. I want to see Terry."

Corbett managed to get him through the mob and up to Terry's room. The defeated champion was seated on the edge of the bed. He was alone. Sam Harris was attending to some money business. Terry had not really begun to realize what he had lost.

Corbett sat down beside him. He put his arm around his neck. "Don't feel blue, old man," he said. "It comes to all of us. I'll be it some day."

Terry burst out crying. The smash on the jaw couldn't even make him wince, but that touch of sympathy turned on the water.

BREATHE HEALING BALSAMS

Hyomet, the Medicated-Air Catarrh Cure, Endorsed by Physicians.

No one should confound Hyomet with the patent medicines that are advertised to cure catarrh. It is an superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hyomet gives its formula to all reputable physicians.

Its base is the famous eucalyptus oil, well known for its antiseptic qualities. This is combined with aromatic and healing gums and balsam, making a pure liquid which, when used in the Hyomet pocket inhaler, fills the air you breathe with germ killing, disease destroying and healing powers that restore health to every part of the throat, nose and lungs.

Hyomet is endorsed by physicians generally. Many of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. It is the only natural and rational way of curing catarrh.

Would it be a common sense treatment to try and cure a corn by stomach dosing? Is it not just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the head and throat by swallowing tablets or liquids? The only natural way to cure disease and all diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe the Hyomet.

If you cannot obtain Hyomet of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for a free sample bottle and consultation blank that will enable you to receive our medical department with out charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomet building, Ithaca, New York.
