Officers of the National Editorial association have written to the Portland chamber of commerce asking for a set of is of the choicest photographs of the "Rose City." to be used in a book the association will issue describing its Pacific coast trip last summer. The chamber will forward the views at once. The book is to contain 250 pages and will be written by various members of the association who were with the editorial excursion party. The letter requesting the views says: "Our members were delighted with their visit in Portland and found the scenery of Oregon a constant surprise and pleasure. The tour will be described in our forthcoming book, which will have a considerable circulation." Statistics showing the comparative growth of Portland by years are being prepared by Secretary E. C. Gittner and Assistant Secretary Mosessaohn to be used in the Northern Pacific railway's famous illustrated book, "Wonderland" for 1996. The statement will include data concerning the entire state of Oregon and its resources.

Toiling with a pick in a hole close under an abutment of the Cazadero dam, under construction by the Oregon Water Power & Rallway company, John Goebel received the force of a 600-pound boulder dropped from the bank 40 feet above. The right side of his skull was crushed and he was brought in an unconscious condition to Good Samaritan hospital, where he hovers between life and death, Goebel was in the pit without the knowledge of a force of men working with a steam shovel on the embankment. He did not heed the operations of the shovel. When the men attacked a certain part of the embankment the shovel loosened the boulder, and it rolled down directly on the man in the pit. Goebel is an unmarried man and has no known relatives in Pertland.

At the regular meeting of Prospect camp No. 140. Woodmen of the World, the following officers were elected to serve for the next six months, beginning January 1. 1906: Consul commander, C. O. Johns; adviser lieutenant, R. James; banker, C. C. Scott; clerk, George W. Tabler; escort, W. Smith; watchman, F. Schonig; sentry, J. McCarty; managers—Williams, Glenn, Rennard; musician, Waiter L. MacMullin.

Patrolmen who are tardy in reporting for duty at police headquarters will have trouble with the police commission. Chief Gritzmacher posted an order to captains this morning instructing them to keep a record in the watch book of every man late for duty and the time of his reporting with the excuse given. This was done by request of the commissioners.

Safe cracksmen are in the city, as shown by a report recently made to the police, and Chief Gritzmacher has called police, and Chief Gritzmacher has called the fact to the attention of Inspector Bruin. An attempt was made to break into the safe of E. Miller, Second and Taylor streets, Friday night. An in-vestigation by Detective Hartman shows the work to have been that of an amateur crook.

FURNITURE DEALERS SEEKING MRS. BLACK

After searching all night for Mrs. Ethel S. Black, city detectives express the opinion that she has left the city. A warrant is out for her arrest on the charge of larceny and many creditors are said to mourn her departure.

It is alleged that woman purchased furniture worth $305 from the H. E. Edwards Furniture company, to be paid for in installments. It was learned yesterday that she had procured apartments at the Calumet for 140 a month and the police were notified that the furniture could not be found by the company's representatives.

furniture could not be found by the company's representatives.

Then a complaint was filed by H. E. Edwards and the search for the woman began. Since beginning their investigations the police have discovered that other companies are looking for furniture sold Mrs. Black on time. It is believed she sold it or shipped it out of the city.

Irrigation Man Explains Status of Government and Operating Companies.

FORTY ACRES LIMIT ONE MAN CAN HOLD

Holders of Irrigable Lands Falling Under Government Ditch Will Prove Up Under Government Water, Says J. F. McNaught.

"The east Umatilia county irrigation project, when all things are considered, is the best one now under consideration by the federal government." said J. F. McNaught, manager of the Maxwell Land & Irrigation company, today at the Portland hotel. "There is an erroneous idea in the minds of most people regarding the relationship the government sustains toward private corporation irrigation enterprises. This idea is that if the government enterprise is carried out the private corporation is eliminated and is reimbursed by the federal government.

"As an illustration of the actual sendition that obtains I might cits that the Maxwell Land & Irrigation company is embraced by the east Umatilia project, yet our company will have $,000 acres covered by government water after the canals have been built by the reclamation service. This land we must sell in tracts not exceeding 40 acres. The government project is not opposed by us. On the contrary, we are supporting it heartily, first because it is good for all the people, and second because it is beneficial to us.

Forty Acres the Limit.

Porty Acres the Limit.

"Our company will retain the $,000 acres until it can dispose of it under the rule of the government requiring that all holdings in excess of 150 acres be sold in tracts not larger than 40 acres. Inasmuch as the land with water will be worth more than $100 an acre, it will be seen that we are not interested in opposing the execution of the government plans.

"The $,000 acres which we will have are now owned by us. The government puts water on it and the land then comes under the reclamation rules the same as government land, the buyer reimbursing the government on the same terms.

imbursing the government on the same terms.

"Last September the government withdrew from settlement all lands in townships 4 and 5 in range 28 east, and 4 and 5 in range 29 east. All irrigable lands falling under the government ditch for this project had been taken either as homesteads or under the desert land act. The desert act allows 320 acres to be filed on, but the reclamation service requires that people holding lands under a government ditch shall relinquish all in excess of 160 acres to the government. They may relinquish more if they desire to do so.

company's water, while those who are beyond the reach of our canals will prove up under the government water. In the latter event it will requira, at least 10 years to obtain title.

"The coat of water is estimated at $50 to $60 an acre and entrymen can pay only one tenth a year, but must pay on the entire amount of their holdings, whether cultivated or not.

Must Subdivide Lands.

Must Subdivide Lends.

"The Maxwell or any other company holding lands in excess of the farmers' unit of 40 acres will be required to subdivide its lands and sell in tracts not larger than 40 acres. In our deal with the government we were allowed as a part consideration '300 acres of water right exempt from the provisions of the project. Secretary Hitchcock objected vigorously to this, claiming the reclamation service had no right to make such an exception. Therefore the entire $1,000,000 appropriation for the east Umatilla project hangs on the signature of the general agreement by the farmers and the demand of the secretary to sell this 300 acres the same as other landis sold. In those respects the east Umatilla project is unsettled.

"All who are interested want the government to take hold. The enterprise involves the best land under consideration by the government, when altitude, climate, soil, adaptability to irrigation and accessibility to markets are taken into account. Two transcontinental rail and accessibility to markets are taken into account. Two transcontinental rall lines and the Columbia river fringe the area included in the project."

ERE IS ONE WAY TO GET YOURSELF INDORSED

Oregonian Man Secures Signers to Resolution Telling of H. W. Scott's Greatness.

Enthusiastic approval of the selection of Harvey W. Scott as envoy extraordinary to Washington to represent commercial Oregon on behalf of the Columbia jetty work is being secured among the grange members of the county. A committee of Evening Star grange has prepared the resolution, which is in effect that the secretary of war has omitted a recommendation for the appropriation of funds for, the improvement of rivers and harbors, that the fallure of congress to make such apportionments for the continuation of the work at the mouth of the Columbia would allow the work already done to be destroyed and would greatly injure coast commerce. Then the resolution declares that "Present conditions affecting three of our representatives in congress have seriously impaired our influence in congress, and all these conditions present a most serious aspect, mensoing our progress, prosperity and rational demands."

menacing our progress, prosperity and rational demands."

The petition, resolution, or whatever it be, next relates to the sending of H. W. Scott, and in closing pledges the granges to a hearty support of his labors and expresses "our high appreciation of the acceptance of H. W. Scott of the responsibility of representing-this important project at Washington and our fullest confidence in his ability," and some other things.

The memorial in its method of adoption is peculiar, for one or two local granges are to act for the entire state in the matter, it being explained that "this document represents the sentiment of the whole farmers' order in this state. There is not time to reach many, but this is not considered necessary."

The petition is being circulated by a member of the Oregonian staff who has a wide acquaintance with county grange members and later this memorial, with its few remarks about the open river and its many remarks lauding Harvey Scott and bringing into farther disrepute the three indicted members of the delegation to congress, will be forwarded to Washington as an expression of the unanimous sentiment of the entire state grange, one member of which in a hundred perhaps may have seen the memorial.
