MANCHURIAN ARMY MUTINIES SACKS AND BURNS HARBIN

Shops Broken Into and Plundered—Government Stores Seized—Many People Are Massacred in Riots.

MEN THROWN BOUND INTO SNOW-TO DIE

Troops Open Fire With Machine Guns and Are Joined by Chuchuses in Sacking the Town—Even Hospital Is Attacked and Nurses Murdered.

Moscow, Dec. 11.—(Bulletin.)—A fresh general mutiny of sailors and soldiers at Sevastopol and Kief is reported.

(Journal Special Service.) St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.—Alarming news continues to be received from the far east. The troops are in a state of mutiny, defying their officers, robbing and plundering.

For two or three months the men have been unpaid. Winter clothing and supplies were scanty and famine imminent. At last the storm broke and the men deserted the barracks camps. Thousands of deserters flowed to Harbin, broke into the shops and plundered everything they could lay their hands upon. Similar disorders occurred at Vladivostok.

An express train was seized and sent to Vladivostok where amid the strike the fresh arrivals were able to seize an enormous quantity of stores from the government warehouses, supply depots and private firms. They captured machine guns, rifles, bayonets and thousands of rounds of ammunition and returned to Harbin.

The sacking of Harbin followed. Machine guns were taken to a favorable position, and heavy fire opened upon the barracks, shops and houses. Even the hospitals were not spared. The mutineers bound the doctors and nurses hand and foot and carried them into snow fields outside the city where they mercilessly left them. The reactionists are declared to have won over Count Witte, who is reported to have issued orders to quell the uprisings at all cost. It is stated that Witte has become convinced that the people's demands means the overthrow of the empire and consequently has consented to the use of force in suppressing outbreaks.

General Madarihoff, with a detachment of cavalry speedily came to the city from the outside and a fierce encounter ensued. The men fought desperately at close quarters, heading off those who were friends and who were enemies.

FASHIONABLE SINGER DOES NOT WEAR STOCKINGS COSTS NEW YORK $14,000 TO ARREST A VAGRANT

Mme. Sanadi Bramsen Creates Sensation by Appearing With Bare Legs and Sandals. Policeman Breaks a Record—Makes First Arrest After Serving 14 Years.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Dec. 11.—Because she appeared without stockings at a reception given by society women of the east and at a fashionable musical school yesterday, Mme. Sanadi Bramsen, head of the vocal department of the school and wife of the first cellist in the Pittsburgh orchestra, created a sensation. Mme. Sanadi Bramsen does not believe in wearing stockings and has not worn them since when a girl of 14 her stinging attracted the attention of King Oscar of Sweden, who had her educated in the conservatory of music in Christiania. Mme. Sanadi Bramsen has been much in demand at society functions but no one suspected her antipathy to hosiery until the reception at the musical institute, when a careless movement of the singer's gown disclosed a bare foot encased in a sandal.

(Journal Special Service.) Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 11.—The captured Spanish gunboat Don Juan De Austria was placed in commission at the Portsmouth navy-yard today with Commander William Branscomer in command. (Journal Special Service.) Washington, Dec. 11.—In his annual report Commissioner of Indian Affairs Francis E. Leupp recommends the preservation of Indian music, establishment of an Indian reform school and the erection of a sanatorium for consumptive Indians. It is understood that a site in Arizona has been suggested for the proposed hospital.

DEATH OF THE EVE OF HIS DEPARTURE OF HIS DEPARTURE

Mitchell Intended to Spend the Winter at the Capital

Senator Mitchell's death occurred just as he was making final preparations to leave for Washington, where, his friends say, he expected to devote his time largely to working for an adequate appropriation for the improvement of the Columbia river. To several of his friends he stated that he would go east not later than the 20th of this month, and Allen R. Joy, his law partner, says that the date of his departure had been fixed for the 10th or 12th inst.

Postmaster John Minto was another of the friends to whom Senator Mitchell confided his plans. "The last time I talked with him was just before Thanksgiving, when I met him on the street. He spoke of intending to go to Washington, though he did not name the date when he would leave. I did not see him again until he had been taken to the hospital."

Senator Mitchell spoke to me several times about going to Washington this winter," said William H. Galvani, "but I did not know that he was contemplating an immediate departure. I called to see him last Tuesday evening, but he said nothing then about going at once. He was doing all in his power to aid in securing the Columbia river appropriation and was constantly writing to friends in congress to enlist their aid. He was deeply interested in the matter."

Colonel David M. Dunne was an intimate friend of Senator Mitchell and knew of the latter's plans. To him Senator Mitchell said that he would go to Washington about December 20, and that he would remain there until the appropriation was passed, and he expected also to do some work for the Columbia river appropriation. I understood, however, that he would not go before the 20th.

Senator Mitchell's correspondence would doubtless throw full light on his plans and on the work he had been doing for the appropriation, but that some of his papers have not been disturbed, however, and will not be until after the arrival of his sons, John H. Mitchell, Jr., will arrive this evening, and Lieutenant Hiram E. Mitchell, on his way from New York. As yet it is not known whether Senator Mitchell left a will, but search will be made after his sons arrive. The value of his estate will be insignificant.

Senator Mitchell's long service in the senate had given him an intimate acquaintance not only with members of that body, but with influential men from all parts of the country, and his friends are confident that he would have been able to do some effective work for the state at the present session. Despite the fact that he was debarred from active participation in the proceedings of the senate, he would still have been able to do much by his personal intercourse with senators and congressmen and with other men of influence. For some time before the present session of congress opened he was writing to friends in the east in behalf of the Columbia river appropriation, and if he could have followed up his letters with personal appeals and arguments, he might have achieved substantial results. Senator Mitchell was always known as a man who accomplished much through his personal friendships, and he had strong confidence in his ability to enlist strong aid in the present session.

SENATE TAKES NO NOTICE OF MITCHELL'S DEATH BUT SUPREME COURT ACTS. (Journal Special Service.) Washington, Dec. 11.—When the senate met at noon today it took no notice of the death of Senator Mitchell. The late senator's desk was not draped. Senator Fulton has decided not to formally announce the senator's death.

There was no mention of Mitchell's death in the house, which adjourned on Wednesday.

Ex-Senator Thurston of Nebraska appeared in the supreme court this morning and called attention to the death of Senator Mitchell, whose case is pending. Chief Justice Fuller nodded his acknowledgment and the notice of death was inserted upon the docket, with the dismissal of the appeal, which was quashed by the death of the appellant.

A MILLION A DAY SPENT FOR LIQUOR IN GOTHAM. (Journal Special Service.) New York, Dec. 11.—The Press says that men of experience and discrimination say that in no large city in the world, with the possible exception of Chicago, is so much bad liquor sold over the bar as in New York. They also say that the quality of the stuff sold is getting worse every year, and that some drastic action ought to be taken to protect the people. New York spends more than $1,000,000 a day for alcoholic drink purchased at retail, the amount being about equal to what it pays for meat and more than it spends for bread and vegetables. The place purchased is no guarantee of quality, as in the most "swaggy" and expensive places the stuff is apt to be bad.

Final Services at Church. At about half past 12 o'clock the doors of the council chamber will be closed to the public, and the casket will be borne to the First Congregational church, for the funeral services. The funeral of Elks will assemble at the Marquam building hall at 1:30 o'clock and march direct to the church, under command of Exalted Ruler C. E. McDonnell. At 2 o'clock the services are to commence, the ritualistic work of the Elks being observed, with the addition of prayer and scriptural reading by Rev. E. L. House, pastor of the church. The Congregational church choir will sing two selections under the leadership of Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer. The services will be closed by benediction, which will be pronounced by Dr. House.

Fraternal Orders to Attend. Members of both the Elks and Odd Fellows will attend in force, reservations being made for the officiating order at the church. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the Multnomah Bar association will meet in the department No. 1 of the circuit court, name a committee on resolutions, and then proceed in a body to the First Congregational church to attend the funeral.

When the funeral convenes this morning, O. F. Paxton addressed the court regarding recognition of the death of the senator, who has long been an active member of the Bar association. "Senator Mitchell practiced in the local courts for many years," said Mr. Paxton, "being one of the leading members of the local bar, and it would be meet that the attorneys assemble here and attend the funeral as an organization."

Judge M. C. George, on behalf of the court, announced that the members of the bar would meet at 1:30 o'clock, to attend the funeral. In arranging the funeral services it was intended to

4 NEW CARDINALS ARE CHOSEN

Third Consistory Since Election of Pope Pius Is Held at the Vatican Today.

(Journal Special Service.) Rome, Dec. 11.—The convocation of cardinals and prelates which meets at the Vatican today is the first consistory called by Pius X since December of last year. As customary, it will be secret and will be followed by a public consistory on Thursday. The chief reason assigned for the long delay is that the pope was hoping that some arrangement could be made with the French government for the filling of the many vacancies among the French sees. The pope hesitated to the last moment, but finding himself disappointed finally called the consistory which was necessary to select some additional members of the sacred college.

The consistory which met today in secret session is of unusual importance, as it selected four new cardinals to fill the existing vacancies in the sacred college. The situation is unusually complicated and the pope was in an extremely difficult position in making a selection which would cause the least disappointment. It may be said

MME. REJANE'S HUSBAND IS GRANTED DIVORCE

(Journal Special Service.) Paris, Dec. 11.—A divorce was today granted M. Porel, the husband of Madame Rejane, the celebrated actress. Madame Rejane was the central figure in the scandal following the famous Sherry dinner given by James Hagen, Hyde last winter, during which she is said to have given a sensational dance on the banquet table. Madame Rejane toured the United States first in 1895 and secured an enormous success. Last winter she was also enthusiastically received.

BOY RUNS IN HIS NIGHT-CLOTHES TO GIVE ALARM

Seeing That Hotel Is on Fire, She Rushes Through Hall Arousing Guests.

(Journal Special Service.) In the intense and penetrating chill of a 4 o'clock this morning a dozen guests were driven into the street in needless attire by a fire which partially destroyed the Commercial hotel, 448 Washington street, entailing a loss estimated at several thousand dollars. The alarm was given by a boy, who ran from the hotel in his night clothing to the fire station, two blocks away.

A woman who was partly overcome by the smoke was rescued by Hoseman Shane of Engine company No. 2. Another woman, infirm because of her 79 years, refused to leave until she had dressed herself, and had to be assisted from the building. No accidents occurred and with the few exceptions there were no narrow escapes.

Sleeping guests were aroused and perhaps fatalities averted by the efforts of Mrs. F. A. Jones, a guest. Mrs. Jones was awakened a short time before the fire was discovered and was preparing to return to sleep when her attention was attracted by a brilliant glare in the rear of the building. She hurried to a window and discovered that the building was on fire. She quickly awakened her husband and then rushed through the hallways and corridors knocking at doors and crying the alarm.

Boy Gives Alarm. Meanwhile Harold Wood, a boy, who lived in the rear of the hotel, had also discovered the fire. Attired only in his night robe, without shoes or slippers, he ran through the street to engine house No. 2, two blocks away. He pounded on the door till Lieutenant Williamson responded and after seeing that his company was unable to handle the blaze turned in an alarm to central station.

Patrolman Venable saw the fire from Nineteenth street, and after running to the scene turned in another alarm at headquarters and at fire station. Fire companies responded and a detail of policemen was sent to the place by Captain Glover.

On their arrival there was commotion in the building. Mrs. Jones, with the aid of Proprietor Smith, had succeeded

PLACE OREGONIANS ON COMMITTEES

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, Dec. 11.—The secretary of war today submitted to congress the report of Chief of Engineers Mackenzie recommending no further appropriation for the improvement of the Clatskanie river in Oregon, and the Anacortes harbor in Washington.

Oregon was not slighted in making the house committee assignments today. Williamson was given a place on the irrigation and mines and mining committees, Hermann on Indian affairs and election of president. These are the same assignments as in the last congress. Speaker Cannon announced that on standing committees the Republican membership on each important committee is increased by one in order that Democrats may retain their previous numerical strength, one to each two Republicans. The chairmanships are the same, with few changes.

SENATOR MITCHELL'S BODY MAY BE VIEWED IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER OF THE CITY HALL FROM TEN O'CLOCK TO HALF PAST TWELVE—FRATERNAL ORDERS AND BAR TO ATTEND

Portland and Oregon will attend the funeral tomorrow of Senator John H. Mitchell, who died last night. The committee in charge of funeral arrangements this morning faced the necessity of providing larger apartments than at first were supposed, and decided to have the body lie in state in the council chamber of the city hall from 10 a. m. until about 12:30 or 1 p. m., when it is to be moved to the First Congregational church, where the funeral will be held there.

A guard of honor will be chosen from the Third regiment, Oregon National guard, to attend the casket from the time that it is opened for public view until the last rites are finished at the cemetery. Colonel C. U. Gantenbein expressed his purpose of detailing willingly whatever number of the guard was required. Senator Mitchell, in addition to being the senior United States official from Oregon, was one of the first majors of the Oregon militia.

Lieutenant Mitchell Coming. Lieutenant Hiram E. Mitchell wired yesterday that he would leave Sandy Hook early this morning for Portland, but no delay will take place in the funeral services on that account. He could not reach here under five days, and if he insists upon seeing the body of his father again, the vault will be opened when he reaches Portland next week.

Brief cablegrams have been received from Paris in response to the dispatches announcing the death of the senator and his daughter. Neither could possibly reach here in time to attend, without prolonged delay in the funeral, and their presence has not been contemplated in any of the arrangements. The daughter from Canton, Ohio, will not come, so that the only member of the family at the grave when the senator is laid to rest will be John H. Mitchell, Jr., who will arrive at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon, and Judge W. O. Chapman and his children of Tacoma.

Bier in Council Chamber. At 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the casket will be taken from the Finley chapel to the city hall. Floral offerings will be banked behind the casket, a large national flag being the sole decoration for the latter. Chief Grismacher has been asked to furnish a platoon of policemen, who will be stationed at various places about the city hall to prevent congestion of the throng and keep the procession moving past the bier. Those who look upon the face of the senator repose in funeral casket will be impressed with the remarkable likeness to his countenance as he appeared when seen on the streets last.
