good soldier, trying to overcome his wrongdoing and at least keep his face toward the light. Such a person may err time and time again and yet be deserving of the loyal cooperation of the church in trying to climb to a level of living consistent with the rule of Christianity—desire to do right.

"If, however, one really abandon the intention of making the right, willfully pursue a course that brings discredit on the profession he makes before the world, and obviously and openly align himself with a life that gives the lie to his membership in a vitiated organization bearing the standard of the world's Savior, he cannot expect to be retained on the list of those who are Christians.

"It is not a matter of abandoning a person because of his sin; it is merely a question of clearing the church rolls of the names of those who do not expect to continue the struggle, and who, after having been counseled with time and time again, persist in their wrong conduct. That is all there is to it."

COMFORT IN THE HOME.

So long as modern civilization continues those little articles, designed for personal comfort, which are so popularly known as furniture, will remain a necessity and the careful buyer strives to get the most for his money. The chair that will afford the greatest amount of comfort, rest and repose to the physical and intellectual, a chair must be not only good to sit in, but pleasing to the eye, is the Royal Morris Chair. There is no other chair made that affords so great a quantity of both these requisites. We say this advisedly, after an experience of thirty-six years in the chair market of Portland. We shall deem it a pleasure to demonstrate the Royal Morris' strong qualities. Its patent adjustment makes it not only possible, but easy to change your position to any angle as you recline. No getting up and walking around the chair to adjust it with a brass rod or calling an assistant. We have them in the latest design, Spanish leather cushions, patentose, plush, velour, damasks and tapestries. We have the exclusive agency. Chairs in weathered oak, golden oak and mahogany. They make elegant gifts. Pictures, clocks, ornaments, rugs, carpets, draperies.

Monarch Ranges are to the kitchen what the Royal Morris Chair is to the library—they give the greatest service and at the least possible cost of fuel and labor.

Our display of novelties has never been equaled before in Portland. They are specially adapted for Christmas. We have the exclusive designs, just the thing you were looking for. No such stock has ever been shown in this market before.

A special invitation is extended to the public to examine this magnificent stock, selected in the Grand Rapids and Chicago markets, the centers of the world for furniture manufactures, by H. E. Edwards in person, the oldest and most experienced furniture dealer in this city, possessing a practical mechanical knowledge of the trade. Established here in 1877. H. E. EDWARDS & CO., 185 to 191 First street.

Umbrella Sale.

We will sell umbrellas today and tomorrow regardless of cost. Among them some handsome styles suitable for presents. Umbrellas for men, woman and child. McClellan, take corner entrance to umbrella department. Established 1884.

HOLIDAYS UNLUCKY ONES FOR WIVES

One Dates Unhappiness From Christmas Beating, Another Discovers That Husband Has Deserted Her During Uproar of Fourth of July.

Darius Wells of Elkton, Oregon, is said to have been a busy man when it came to watching his wife, but to be a very busy man when it came to honest toll. Mrs. Julia Wells obtained a divorce this morning, and the story she told on the witness stand regarding Darius was unique.

"He expected me to do a great deal and do nothing," said Mrs. Wells. "While on the farm I worked indoors and out; then we purchased a store in Elkton, and I did the work while he sat around, used tobacco and drank whiskey. He falsely accused me of being intimate with Dr. W. L. Sharp, and peeped in the windows and cut holes through the floor and carpet and got under the house so as to look up and watch. I never gave him any cause for such accusations."

The Wells were married in Douglas county, Oregon, December 10, 1878.

The closing chapter in the romance of Florence M. Hutchins and Hamlet H. Hodson was written this morning when Judge Fraser granted Mrs. Hodson a divorce. The couple were sweethearts years ago in Minneapolis, Minnesota. They decided to wed, but had to elope to Andy to do so. Then Hodson is alleged to have forgotten the vows he had taken and treated her, so it is said, "in a cross and unhusband-like manner." The couple were married July 29, 1899.

Holidays Are Unlucky.

Christmas day, in 1901, was a sorrowful one for Mrs. Fannie M. Burns, for she states that just two days before her husband, Percival, had cruelly struck her in the face, rendering her unconscious and blackening her eyes. They were married in Vancouver, Washington, September 25, 1898. She was allowed a divorce this morning and granted $30 a month alimony.

Although the firecrackers cracked and firecocks roared on July 4, 1902, just as gaily as ever, Mrs. Sarah P. Jones did not join in the joys of the holiday. The day before, J. W. Jones, her husband, came home and informed her that he was going to leave. He left this morning and was allowed to resume her maiden name of Sarah P. Sarver. She had been married since March 6, 1901.

"He spent his earnings in riotous living," said Mrs. Emma S. Conway this morning, in referring to the manner of her husband's actions, and John J. Conway is her husband no longer. The couple were married in this city May 15, 1904.

Joseph Stamper Freed.

The many family troubles of Joseph Stamper and his wife, Sarah E., were ended this morning when the husband secured a divorce, alleging cruelty. The couple were married in Oregon City July 21, 1901.

All the above divorces were granted by Presiding Judge Fraser, who will this afternoon hear the testimony to be given in the divorce proceedings brought by Herman Frink against Cora J. Frink. The husband alleges statutory crimes have been committed by his wife. They were married at Plandreau, South Dakota, October 23, 1898.

"Alleging that his wife forced him to sleep out in the open," said August L. Schwabel of Troutdale is suing Clara Schwabel for a divorce and the case has been set to be tried before Judge George this afternoon. Mrs. Schwabel has denied the charges made against her by her husband, and says that he has treated her cruelly, failed to support her, drank to excess and did other things that she strongly disapproved of.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND AT BRITISH EMBASSY

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, Dec. 22.—Washington society is agog over the ball at the British embassy tonight for the young friends of Miss Josephine Durand and her cousin and house guest, Miss Everild Durand of London. It will be a costume affair, representing "Alice in Wonderland." Not only will be a regular list of those originally invited be on hand, but the company will be supplemented by many guests of various well-known society people, for whom their waitresses have written to Lady Durand begging that they be allowed the privilege of bringing with them the stranger within their gates.

WALSH'S RAILROADS NOT AFFECTED BY FAILURE

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Dec. 22.—With the exception of his three banks, it is now stated that the enterprises of John R. Walsh are unhampered, and that he will be assigned complete control of them. This statement in connection with the issuance of a check for $100,000 for payment of laborers on the Chicago Southern railroad, by the clearing-house committee, is taken to mean that the Clearing-house association has determined to see the road completed through to a connection with Chicago belt lines and to establish an outlet for the Walsh coalfields into Chicago.

FOREST GROVE WILL HOLD CITY ELECTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Forest Grove, Or., Dec. 22.—City Recorder J. C. Clark has been instructed to post the election notice for the election of five councilmen and one mayor. The three "dry" members of the council go out. John Cornwell has resigned, and the election will be held on January 1, and Harry Giff is filling the vacancy made by the resignation of C. W. Mc-Ness. According to the charter, Giff holds office only until the next general election. While George W. Markel has been elected councilman to fill an alleged vacancy in the office held by Cornwell, he has not yet qualified nor has he been sworn in.

New Considerations for the Purchaser of a Christmas Piano Are Offered in

The PIANOLA PIANO

The world-wide success of the "First Complete Piano" makes an investigation of this instrument a duty to the head of every home contemplating purchasing a piano

FOR years the piano has been regarded as the ideal Christmas gift. Hitherto its selection has had chiefly to do with a comparison of tone quality and constructive merits of different makes of pianos. But with the great success of the Pianola Piano new considerations are brought to bear so that now the purchaser of a piano must make his first decision on the type of piano to be purchased—whether it shall or shall not contain a Pianola.

The same uniform musical and constructive excellence may be obtained in either type of instrument, the question for decision being, "Which piano is going to prove the best investment: One that brings into the home an uncertain degree of musical enjoyment, depending upon the talent of the wife or daughter and abridged by their time and inclination to practice—or the modern piano—the complete piano—that instantly enables every member of the family to play any composition ever written?"

That no one can reasonably afford to purchase a piano this Christmas without first deciding this question to his own satisfaction is proved by the fact that hundreds of owners of high grade pianos, practically new, are found eager to exchange them for Pianola Pianos. An investigation of the Pianola Piano therefore becomes only a reasonable provision against future dissatisfaction with your purchase.

A great many far-sighted piano-purchasers for Christmas, 1904, chose the Pianola Piano. This year the attention of the public, in general, centers upon it. Certain it is that today if every one desiring a piano could receive the one instrument he or she preferred above all others, the Pianola Piano would unquestionably be chosen with practical unanimity.

Any make of piano will be accepted in exchange for a Pianola Piano. Balance on easy payments if desired.
