

WILLIE WESTINGHOUSE GREETS THE NEW YEAR WITH A NEW INVENTION

Dear Tommy—Papa engaged a table for New Year's Eve at a Broadway restaurant. So I made a spring rattle to have some fun with.

After a bit Papa got tired, but the thing wouldn't stop, and the waiter and guests came running up to our table.

Papa insisted on manipulating it, and was so anxious he could hardly wait for 12 o'clock.

Some of them tried to help stop it, and they all got mixed up together.

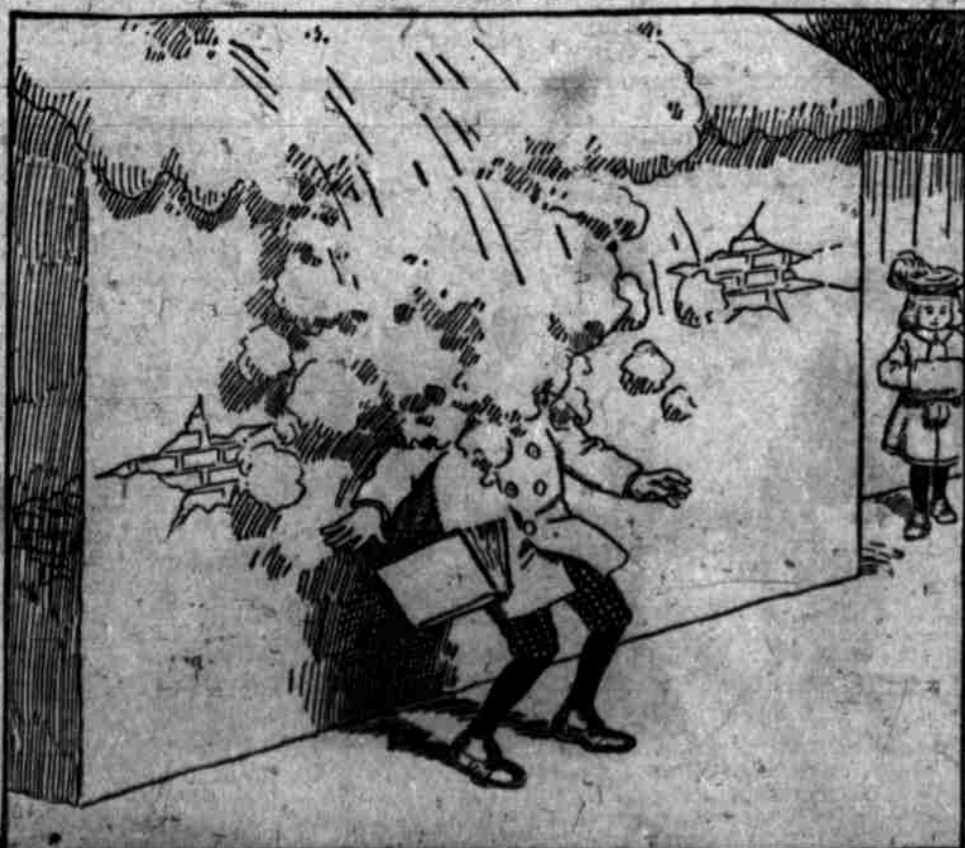

At the stroke of 12 he touched the button. Gracious, Tommy, he made more noise than all the rest put together!

My, wasn't Papa angry when the waiter brought the bill! Youse, etc., Willie.
