

ARE READY FOR BIG STRIKE

Union Printers and Employers Will Start to Lock Horns on Monday.

FIGHTING FOR AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Both Sides Have Been Collecting Funds for Months to Carry on the War—Employers to Fight for the Open Shop.

(Journal Special Service.) Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 30.—One of the greatest contests between employers and employees ever witnessed in the United States—the printers' eight-hour movement—is to be launched Monday morning. Officers of the International Typographical union, the headquarters of which are in this city, say the organization is prepared to carry on the struggle until it is terminated successfully in its favor. The defense fund of the journeymen printers has reached immense proportions under the rule which makes an assessment of 50 cents per week on every employed type, and it is estimated that already there is enough money on hand to continue the struggle one year. Future contributions will be provided, it is said, by every one of the hundreds of crafts affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

A leader of the union made the important statement today that before the strike of the printers is concluded "every trade not now enjoying the eight-hour day may be drawn into the controversy, resulting in a historic struggle which may involve nearly all the great industries of this country."

The attitude of the printers is defined as follows by James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical union:

"The strike of book and job printers on January 1 is inevitable if the United Typothetae of America maintains its present hostile position. The eight-hour movement will not be abandoned by the International Typographical union. Several hundred local unions have already made arrangements with employers for the eight-hour day. About 10,000 union printers will be involved in the strike, and this will indirectly involve about 100,000 wage-earners. The total yearly earnings of union printers are about $40,000,000, and book and job printers receive more than half of this amount. The total membership of the International Typographical union is 40,000."

The movement for the eight-hour day dates as far back as August, 1902, when the International Typographical union, at a convention, declared that the eight-hour work day to be introduced "as early as practicable." The membership was asked to make no contract beyond October 1, 1906, requiring them to work more than eight hours a day. The officers were directed to bring the matter before the employers' association. The committee declared that it was treated with scant courtesy and that the overtures for a peaceful introduction of the eight-hour day were contemptuously repudiated.

Then, carrying out their plan of campaign, the employing printers in the book and job trade began an attack upon printers' unions in several parts of the country. The hope was entertained that by attacking a union here and there in advance of the time when the International Typographical union would be unprepared to meet the employers. Realizing the dangers of these tactics, if allowed to be carried out without any counter move, the officers in charge called upon the membership that wherever it was not in violation of existing agreements the printers in the book and job trade working longer than eight hours should demand from their employers an agreement to introduce that system at once, or not later than January 1, 1906. This resulted in a number of employers agreeing to the eight-hour day immediately, or for its enforcement on the first of January. In a large number of establishments strikes were inaugurated. Since then the reports from the officers show large successes, many acceding to their demands, and the eight-hour day enforced in many of those offices.

MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG AND SICK WOMEN WELL.

Forty years ago, Dr. Pierce searched Nature's laboratory for a remedy with which to supplant the ignorant and vicious methods of treatment, with alcoholic stimulants, then in vogue, and still too commonly prescribed and advised for woman's peculiar ailments.

Nature abounds with most efficient remedies, and in Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root and Ginseng root, Dr. Pierce found medicinal properties, which when extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure glycerine, have proven most potent in making weak women strong and sick women well. It contains alcohol; is not a "patent medicine," nor a secret one either.

"I was suffering with nervous headache, pains in the back and distress, so that I almost had to lie down for hours before I could raise my head," writes Mrs. Mary M. Thomas of 227 Winston Street, Los Angeles, Cal. "After taking the first bottle of Female Prescription," however, I was so pleased with the results that I kept on taking it until I was restored to health. I can now do all my usual work without the least trouble, and shall take a few doses when I do not feel strong."

One of the principal uses of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the preparation of prospective mothers for the time of trial and danger that comes when a child is born. The "Prescription" is strengthening and invigorating and lessens pain and danger. It insures the perfect well-being and the perfect health of both mother and child. Every woman should know these things before she really needs them, for there are many things in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, that every woman ought to know. This celebrated work reaches a sale of 600,000 copies at $1.50 each. The expense of production having thus been covered, it is now being given away. A copy will be sent to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, or, in lieu thereof, for 21 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WENATCHEE WANTS SUNDAY CLOSING

County Takes a Hand in the Fight Against the Saloons.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Wenatchee, Wash., Dec. 30.—A determined fight against Sunday opening of saloons of Wenatchee is being waged by the churches of this city. For the past six months the town has been run "wide open" on Sundays, in direct opposition to the ordinances of the city. Sunday, December 17, Rev. L. R. Kufus of this city, with a party of Wenatchee citizens as witnesses, made a round of the eight saloons of the city. All but two were open. The evidence was placed in the hands of the city attorney and tried in the justice court. The judge held that the title of the ordinance was not broad enough to cover the criminal portion and dismissed the case against the saloonmen. The case has been carried by the city attorney to the superior court on a writ of review, and will be heard at the next term of court.

DISTRICT UNION OF Y. P. S. C. E. SOCIETIES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Aberdeen, Wash., Dec. 30.—The formation of a district union of the Y. P. S. C. E. societies of the harbor this week marks the culmination of a long-cherished plan on the part of George Nye, formerly state president of the society, and now president of the new union.

He has long felt that such an organization would be most beneficial in bringing the members of the society into closer touch and relationship and increasing their working efficiency.

The new union comprises six societies with a total membership of 250. The officers are: George F. Nye, president; J. A. Griggs, vice-president, and Mrs. J. A. Griggs, secretary-treasurer. The first public meeting will be held at Hoquiam, January 25, and will consist of both afternoon and evening sessions. Addresses and papers with good music will constitute the program.

WEATHER PUTS STOP TO RAILWAY WORK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Dec. 30.—Ira C. Webb's party of surveyors for the Pacific Railway company, which has been working in eastern Lewis county for about two months past, has withdrawn from the field on account of the winter weather. It is understood that they run a preliminary survey from Morton to the Cowell Pass section and it is also generally understood that they were out for the Milwaukee. This makes three surveys into that section that have been made inside of a year. The Northern Pacific has a survey made from a point about four miles south of Chehalis to Cowell Pass, which was completed in the fall, when its engineers were ordered to Vancouver to work on the north bank project.
