Chicago, Jan. 13.—The wheat market was very quiet during today's session and prices changed but little. The May was the leading option and showed a rise of ⅛c at the closing while the July was unchanged. The market sentiment is in a dull rut and is influenced only by great changes abroad. Weather conditions are such that there are mixed reports as to damage done the crop in this country. The drought in India is still worrying the shorts and as the crop of that country is moving with little delay, potato they cover their sales.

VISION OF ROCKPILE SUBDUES W. LOFTIS

While his weeping wife was telling Police Judge Cameron the story of her wrongs this morning William G. Loftis maintained a bold front. Once or twice he sneered. Judge Cameron asked him a few questions and he answered with nonchalance.

"I think about 50 days on the rockpile would do this man more good than would anything else," remarked the court.

Then Loftis did the lightning change act. His air of bravado vanished and the tears started. He expressed a desire to be permitted to talk to his wife in a private room and on her consenting the privilege was granted him.

The couple there patched up their difficulties and the husband promised the court that in the future he would do better and provide properly for his family. He was charged with intoxication, and the testimony showed that his wife had been taking in washing for the support of herself and their two little children.

Loftis is said to have slapped her and forced her to give him a part of the money she had earned over the washtub.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TRUSTEES ORGANIZE

At its first meeting the new board of trustees of the Portland chamber of commerce this morning organized and talked over plans for the new year. The meeting was attended by R. R. Hoge, Edward Newhegin, E. C. Giltner, Jay Smith, Philip Boehner, A. Feldenheimer and Fletcher Linn, comprising the full board with the exception of J. Couch Flanders, who is absent from the city.

M. Mosessohn was reelected assistant secretary, to serve his third term in this office. Mayor Frank Watters of Salem appeared before the board and asked that the chamber support the application of the Willamette Valley company for a franchise to build an electric road into this city. Some of the members were not familiar with the proposition and the matter was laid over for investigation.

Albany Man Promoted.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., Jan. 12.—Robert B. Montague, who for the last three years has been manager of the Albany Canal & Water company, has been promoted to the Salem office of the company, where Mr. Welch is manager of the electric systems recently purchased by eastern capitalists in the Willamette valley. Mr. Fleshire of the Salem office has been transferred to the Albany office temporarily.

WIRES ARE DOWN ON ACCOUNT OF STORMS

Continued storms between this city and San Francisco have interfered with the telegraph wires of the Postal Telegraph company over which The Journal secures reports of outside markets. For this reason they are incomplete today.

HIGHER PRICE FOR BEST APPLES

Shortage in Crop Is Just Beginning to Be Felt Over the United States.

INFECTED STOCK IS IN HEAVY SUPPLY

Wholesale Trade Wants Fruit Inspector for This Market Alone—Lewis Would Remain Force Until Such an Official Is Appointed.

Front Street, Jan. 12.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:

Fancy apples are higher.
Wheat is better shape.
Flour trade quite nominal.
Chickens are firmer than ever.
Various prices rule in eggs.
Two cars sweet potatoes arrive.
Fancy potatoes continue firm.
Dressed meats eagerly sought.
Hop market looking better.

Fancy Apples Are Higher.

Throughout the week a better demand is being shown in the apple market. Droughtmore prices are responding to the new call for supplies. The shortage in the crop is just now being felt and from this time forth there will be a premium for supplies. In this city the better movement is sadly distinguished and, while a short time ago the trade was complaining of the high prices that rule, higher values are now being paid with less quibbling. Strictly fancy Oregon apples—the better Hood River fruit—are now selling in this market around $2.50 a box, while grades that are slightly off are ranging around $2@2.25 per box. There is an abundance of "culls" in the market. This clash of fruit is always low in price, no matter what the supplies of good fruit are. Culls are "culls" and they sell at "cull" prices. Cheap apples—what are classed as the 50-cent box kind—still along the street as low as 25 cents a box and from that up to 75 cents the price runs. From 75 cents to $1.25 a good variety may be purchased. The wholesale markets are wonderfully bare of infected fruits, but the outside markets are full of them on account of the lack of inspection. Farmers bring their infected fruits to market unmolested by any official and will continue to do so until the laws are more strictly enforced. There is a clamor among the wholesale trade for a fruit inspector for this city alone. Such an official is needed in this market all the time and unless one is appointed the present law will likely remain much of a farce. More money is said to be needed for this purpose and the trade is going to ask for it; likewise a city inspector.

Wheat Is in Better Shape.

The wheat market is in better shape and some dealers are paying an advance of 1 cent over present quotations. There is a good feeling to the export trade, but small business has thus far been reported. California continues a very heavy purchaser in this market. The southern part of that state is now buying. Orders from interior points are the heaviest, San Jose, Sacramento and Bakersfield being liberal buyers. Most of the shipments go via Los Angeles and are then distributed in cars.

Flour Trade Is Nominal.

The flour trade is nominal. The trade is not discouraged, however, for all believe that the orient will come into the market for supplies in the near future. There has been some talk of cutting a slice out of the export values, but the higher price of wheat makes this practically an impossibility from a business point of view.

Chickens Are Firmer Than Ever.

A firmer tone even than that formerly ruling is shown in the chicken market. Supplies continue very light and prices hug the top mark each day. There is a very liberal demand for fryers and broilers and prices range between 16 and 17 cents. Geese and ducks are firm. Arrivals few.

Many Prizes in Eggs.

Again a change has appeared in the egg market. Today various prices are reported along the street. Some dealers continue of the opinion that arrivals are not yet heavy enough to demand a lower figure and keep their price at 30 cents. Others claim receipts are too liberal and only 28 cents is asked. Many sales are made between these two figures. Receipts are for shorter receipts during the last few days—and lower prices.

Many Dressed Calves Here.

All reported exclusively in The Journal yesterday, the demand for fancy Oregon dressed is increasing at a good rate in California and prices have advanced. Ordinary stock shows no improvement as yet and none is looked for in the immediate future. Culinge are not firm; just fair. One dollar is the buying price for No. 1s at country points.

Dressed Meats Eagerly Sought.

Receipts remain only light in dressed meats along Front street. There is a small increase in supplies of dressed hogs, but demand takes everything that comes at quoted figures. Veal is likewise coming slightly better, but the increase in arrivals is hardly noticeable.

Fish receipts are more liberal in all lines except Columbia river smelt. Prices as yesterday.

Better Feeling in Hop Market.

There is a better feeling in the hop market and some fair-sized sales are reported made with values as high as 10½ cents. This figure seems to be the very top of the market, dealers being unwilling to offer more for any quality.

The trade pays the following prices to Front street for first-class product in round lots. Prices paid producers are as specified:

JOURNAL'S DAILY TIPS ON MARKETS

"We predicted a firm poultry market for this week and were not at all mistaken, for while the receipts have been quite large, there have been none too many and prices have held up well. Hens and good springs have sold at 13 and 13½ cents live, and fancy dressed about a cent advance over this. Ducks are very scarce, and if you can rustle up any do so in the near future, as the market is much in need of all it can get. The Chinese are in the market for a lot of them at this time of the year. Price ranges at from 15 to 15½ cents alive. Geese are in fair demand at 10 and 11 cents alive, with fancy dressed at from 13 to 13 cents. Try and ship some fat ones. Live turkeys are not as firm as they might be at about 15 cents, but fat dressed ones go readily at 20 cents. Don't ship any dressed goods unless it is fat and fancy. While receipts have been quite large this week and while it is true that high prices always bring the goods out of hiding, we are quite sure that shippers will not miss it if they will ship freely the coming week. Good goods hardly ever go begging and we ask that shippers endeavor to ship prime stock only."—From a circular of Everding & Farrah.

AIN'T MEN THE WRETCHES?

Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.

1—GALDERS—Say, Snooks, your wife was telling my wife that she was going to buy you a three hundred dollar amethyst ring for a Christmas present. She said she had eleven dollars saved up, but she knew you would be glad to pay the balance. You're in for it, old man.

2—MR. SNOOKS—Ye gods! I must hurry home to nip this game in the bud. Say, old man, don't tell your wife you told me. If you keep mum I think I can change my wife's mind. Ta, ta!

3—MR. SNOOKS (that evening)—My dear, I heard of a sad case to-day. A wife gave her husband a beautiful amethyst ring for Christmas, and the very next day that man failed in business. All the men say that for a woman to give her husband an amethyst ring is bad luck for seventy-seven years.

4—MRS. SNOOKS—Oh, John! You don't say so! How glad I am you told me. I was going to buy you an amethyst ring for Christmas.

MR. SNOOKS—Good gracious! What a narrow escape! Don't do it for anything, dear. You know I believe in bad omens. Buy me something for about eleven dollars, sweetheart.
