

BUY ENTRANCE TO SEATTLE

Harriman Purchases Outright Seattle-Tacoma Interurban Line From Puget Sound Electric Company.

SOLVES THE QUESTION OF TERMINAL GROUNDS

Entrance to Sound City, Depot Site and Rights of Way Secured for an Extension of Road—Sale Consummated Two Weeks Ago and Every Effort Made to Guard Secret.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Jan. 16.—The great railroad syndicate represented and controlled by E. H. Harriman has purchased outright the Seattle-Tacoma Interurban line owned by the Puget Sound Electric company. The deal was consummated more than two weeks ago or prior to the coming of Joseph Hellen, the man who purchased all of blocks 393, 394 and 395 on the east waterway for the Union Pacific.

There has been a very strong rumor out for the past two months that some transcontinental line was flirting with the interurban people, although the fact that a sale had been effected has been denied by Jacob Furth, president of the road, ever since the rumor first started.

PETITIONS ARE WORTHLESS

Fields this morning. My interpretation of the law is that no voter who has not registered since the books were reopened on January 1 is eligible to sign a nominating petition. Even if he was registered last year that does not help him now. The nominating petition recites that the signers are registered voters and the certificate attached is to the same effect. As I understand the language it means that the signers are all voters whose registration is in full force and effect at the time when they sign. Now, the old registration ceased to have any effect after January 1, and therefore signers of nominating petitions must have been registered at the time their names were on the books.
