143d Grand Friday Economy Sale

From now till February 10—the start of the store's next fiscal year—we shall push with might and main to rid our stocks of all surplus, all ends and oddments and short lots, remainders—balances. We're willing to take a loss on these goods right through. Now to run a store at a positive loss for two weeks—and two days—would hurt mightily. But luckily we have helps like these: Millmen and importers are also "cleaning shop," and they allow us a good, liberal margin to sell their ends of lots—all generous portions for a retail store to handle. So, all in all, we will come out even—and help the store. It's our aim to have stocks at their lowest on February 10 for stock-taking, or annual inventory, and there's a lot of fun ahead for you—the fun of saving. The fun starts in earnest tomorrow, when the bargains told of on this page will be ready.
