

THEOLOGY SCHOOL AT WILLAMETTE

Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Kimball of Spokane Will Build and Endow Department.

WILL COST THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

Dr. Kimball to Be Dean, Without Pay—Will Be First Methodist Episcopal Theological School in Pacific Northwest—Ready Next Fall.

At a special meeting of the board of trustees of the Willamette university last night Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Kimball of Spokane, Washington, made a formal offer to build and endow a theological school in connection with the Oregon institution at Salem. The offer was accepted by the trustees by a resolution passed by unanimous vote. The school is to be known as the Kimball College of Theology of the Willamette university, and will cost about $30,000.

Dr. Kimball was elected dean of the college immediately after the offer made by himself and wife was accepted, and he will devote the rest of his life to the work of the school, giving his services as dean free of charge. The new college will belong to the university, but the expense of maintenance and operation will not be borne by it.

This afternoon a committee, composed of Dr. Kimball, Dr. B. F. Rowland, T. S. McDaniel, C. P. Bishop, J. O. Colton, President A. M. Smith and the members of the board of trustees and President Coleman of the university, will go to Salem on Saturday will select a site for the new building. At the same time plans for the school will be discussed and it will be decided whether the building is to be a two or three-story structure.

Dr. Kimball is at present pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Spokane. He and his wife are wealthy and they have desired for a long time to do something to further the cause of the Methodist Episcopal church. Learning that the trustees of the Willamette university were desirous of having a theological school in connection with the institution, they made their offer. It was without conditions, except the one that the building would always be used for a theological college. The new school is to be ready for use at the opening of the university term next fall, and President Coleman of the university said last night that he was confident the department would open with not less than 25 students.

The Kimball college will be the first Methodist Episcopal theological school in the northwest. It is believed by the trustees of the university that it will become popular, because at present

HERE TO TALK TEMPERANCE TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Herbert C. Shattuck Arrives in Portland to Organize Loyal Temperance Legions.

Herbert C. Shattuck, national organizer and lecturer for the Loyal Temperance legion, arrived in Portland yesterday and will spend two weeks in the city and vicinity lecturing and organizing temperance legions among the young folk. The legion is a branch of the W. C. T. U. and is designed for the benefit of the young people. The legion is composed of boys and girls up to the age of 14 years. The Senior legion takes in young men and young women and any others who desire to identify themselves with the work of the organization.

Mr. Shattuck is one of two young men who spend their entire time traveling over the country in the interests of temperance work. He started from his home seven months ago and will be on the road for seven months before returning. For the past six weeks he has been in Oregon organizing legions and lecturing in small towns. He will lecture at Immanuel Baptist church in this city tonight and next Sunday will address a mass meeting at the Taylor street Methodist church.

During the week Mr. Shattuck will appear at the following places on the dates named: University Park, Friday; Sunnyside, Sunday; St. John's, Monday; Tuesday; negro church on Tenth street, Wednesday; Taylor street Methodist church, Thursday night; Lents, Friday; Albina, Saturday. On Wednesday of next week he will be at Woodlawn.

Mr. Shattuck is a graduate of Cornell and the New York Law school and for four years was president of the New York Senior legion.

QUIT CHURCH FOR HORSE RACE

Rev. Mr. Leiper Says Indians Take Sacrament, Then Spend Day Gambling.

PRESENTS REPORT TO SABBATH ASSOCIATION

Members Declare Against Sunday Papers, Cars, Trains, Theatres and Ball Games but Admit That Public Conveyance Is Often a Necessity.

The east side arm of the Journal is in the store of J. M. C. Miller, 250 East Morrison street. Telephone East 275.

"The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath" was the text that caused considerable discussion yesterday at the annual convention of the Northwest Sabbath Observance association in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, East Twelfth and Taylor streets. A liberal view of keeping Sunday was advanced by some of the ministers present, though the streets, train, newspaper, theatre and public game that catered to the needs and desires of people on that day were condemned.

At the same time it was admitted that the streetcar is almost a necessity and that its use in doing after school work was scarcely a desecration. The Sunday newspaper was especially disliked, though one minister admitted he took such a paper for the boys of the family. His sermon, reading it until Monday morning. It was asserted that the Monday morning paper was not so bad, as the force employed in getting it out might go to work on that day having been done was cited. The annual report of Field Secretary Rev. J. H. Leiper was presented. It told of work among the Warm-Springs Indians.

After Church the Horse Race.

"It was somewhat discouraging, however, to learn," says the report, "after the services in which the Lord's supper was dispensed, the elements being served by the assistance of the Indian elders, that it was the custom of part of that Indian audience after each Sabbath morning service was over, to retire to a place of common rendezvous to engage in the elevating pastime of horse-racing; almost as flagrantly violating the sanctity of the day as the indulgence in games of baseball and other worldly amusements on the day which was given man for the elevation of his soul."

The report also told of the trip of the superintendent to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Washington, Iowa, and his work in eastern and southern cities. The afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of this report and the discussion of various topics, among which was the biblical standard of Sabbath-keeping, and the relation of good citizenship to Sabbath observance.

Employers Held to Blame.

The blamable Sabbath desecration on the part of carmen, railroad crews and factory hands was placed on the shoulders of the employers, who were held responsible for their servants' condition. One speaker brought out the fact that even a mule worked better if he had a day's rest in seven, and thought the Sabbath provision a wise one from merely the physical standpoint.

Mr. Leiper asserted in positive terms that the Sabbath as observed by orthodox churches in Christendom was the same day as that which God had commanded the people to keep from the times of the ancient Egyptians, and asserted further that the alleged seventh-day observers were without scriptural backing except that given by an incorrect translation.

Resolutions stating that the keeping of the Sabbath was a divine command, and asserting the responsibility of the church to enforce this observance and of the state to uphold the church in this duty by closing public places of amusement and enforcing laws against labor for profit of every sort were adopted. In discussing the Sunday theatre it was stated by one minister that he had heard the church and theatre people complain on occasions by the worldly and the insinuation made that people sought the amusement in each place and paid for it in one instance with a ticket, in the other by contributing to the collection.

Rev. M. Steele President.

"I would not so much object to the open theatre on Sunday," said this minister, "if it was content to depend on a collection, but so far as I have been able to discover, no manager desires to do business on that basis." Election of officers closed the afternoon session, the following being chosen: President, Rev. R. R. Steele; first vice-president, Rev. E. Quackenbush; second vice-president, J. R. Swiney; corresponding secretary, Rev. S. Earl Dubois; recording secretary, Rev. E. Nelson Allen. Mr. Leiper was continued as field secretary of the association. As last evening an address by Rev. S. Earl Dubois on "The Municipalities and the Lord's Day," and another by Rev. Dr. W. H. Heppie, closed the session. Resolutions were adopted commending the work of the field secretary and recommending him to pastors and churches as an able advocate of Sunday observance.

SEEK HOMES FOR BABIES.

Two Score Children at Aid Society Home Wait for New Parents.

More than two score babies and young children are waiting homes in this city, the Boys' and Girls' Aid society has at present in its receiving home 46 children, and is crowded with applications for the admission of others. At present the home is well filled and the officers of the society are desirous of placing children now here in the hands of those who will care for them and in time give them an education and a chance in life. At present the agency has more than 70 children in homes in Portland, and more than 400 children who came from the local home are being raised throughout Oregon. Applications for children are considered only after a thorough investigation into the financial prospects and character of the foster-parents, and so careful has the society been that few instances have occurred where the adopted child has not been given every advantage possible.

agreement on the question of making the terminals of these lines on the east side. The trouble experienced by several roads in securing a franchise in Front street has led the association to believe that were the attention of the management of these lines called to the newly filled streets on the east side commanding the entire waterfront and enabling the roads to cross any bridge to the west side without antagonizing men, advantage of the opportunity would be taken.

The east side has the only large tracts adjoining the Willamette that are vacant and can be purchased at reasonable prices. Such sites for terminals are held to be indispensable for the full development of the lines coming into the city, and the committee will endeavor to induce the location of the terminals on the east side of the river, even should the Front street line be chosen by roads like the Willamette Valley company.

FILL WELL ADVANCED.

East Morrison Street Already Open to Traffic on One Block.

At the present rate of progress it will be but a few days until the East Morrison street fill between Union avenue and East Water street is completed and traffic resumed over this, the most important highway of the central east side. Practically two blocks of the fill have been completed and more than 50 per cent of the dirt still needed has been delivered. For two blocks east of Water street work progresses more slowly owing to the number of buildings under which the dirt has to be shoveled and the amount of propping and strengthening that has to be done. Work has been commenced on the laying of a plank roadway from Union avenue, and it is the intention of the contractor to open each block to traffic as soon as it is completed. Already the first block is ready on the north side and work has been started on the other half of the thoroughfare.

CONCERT AND VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT PLEASES

The Musicians' Musical association gave a decidedly successful concert and vaudeville entertainment at the Marquam theatre last night. It was attended by a good-sized audience. Because of a cold Mrs. Walter Reed was prevented from appearing in the number that had been assigned to her on the program.

The piano performances of Frankie Richter were one of the most delightful features of the entertainment. The first part of the program was devoted exclusively to local musical talent, while the second part was provided by vaudeville contributions from local theatres. The program follows: Part I—March, orchestra; overture,
