

CHAFFEE RETIRES FISHERY WORK IS FROM ARMY NEGLECTED

Official Connection of Old Hero and Head of the Army Expires Today.

TODAY IS SIXTY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH

Rose From a Private in the Ranks to Be Commander-in-Chief of American Armies—Will Reside in California.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The official life of a gallant old warrior expires today, when, by reason of the fact that this is the 64th anniversary of his birth, Lieutenant-General Adna R. Chaffee, late chief of staff of the army, was relieved from active service. The usual leave-taking was not observed, for the fact that General Chaffee two weeks ago relinquished his office of chief of staff in favor of his successor, General Bates, and has gone to southern California, where he is to make his future home.

It is a grand record that General Chaffee leaves upon the pages of the department from which he has now taken his departure. From a private in the ranks, he entered freckled and bronzed, he worked his way step by step to the highest rank within the gift of the United States army.

General Chaffee was born in Ohio in 1818, and entered the service as a private soldier in the Sixth cavalry in July, 1841. In March, 1843, he was commissioned second lieutenant, becoming a first lieutenant in February, 1845, and was promoted to captain at the close of the war. He took part in all the campaigns of the army of the Potomac, being severely wounded at Fairfield and Brandy stations, and was brevetted for gallantry in the battles of Gettysburg and Dinwiddie Courthouse.

During the Spanish war he served first as a brigadier-general and later as a major-general of volunteers. At El Caney, General Chaffee having been given command of a brigade, the fight was opened by him, and his men bore the brunt of it throughout the day. Chaffee's conduct was magnificent and excited the admiration of the entire army.

RIGHT NOURISHMENT.

We think of nourishment as food—meats, soups, vegetables, etc., but that's only half. It's not the food alone that counts but the good that we get from food that furnishes nourishment. A pound of steak is of less value to a weak stomach than a crust of bread is to a strong digestion. But weak stomachs can be made strong. Begin by eating less; have regular hours for meals; avoid fancy things and about a half hour after eating take a tablespoonful of Scott's Emulsion. It's a fact of medical history that people have lived on not much else but Scott's Emulsion for a long time—not only lived but gained flesh and recovered their strength and health. From the pure Norwegian cod liver oil to the last drop of glycerine, Scott's Emulsion contains just the strengthening and health-building elements needed for low vitality, weak digestion and poorly nourished bodies.

WOULD DISCONTINUE ALL GOVERNMENT AID

Commissioner Would Punish Western States—Would Curtail Season for Salmon Still Further—Fish Shut Off From Spawning.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, Feb. 1.—All eyes over the attitude of a number of western states, including Washington and Oregon, in regard to the protection of fishes, Commissioner George M. Bowers of the bureau of fisheries, has set out to teach these states a lesson that they ought to know. He would be happy to see the secretary of the department of commerce and labor, under whose supervision the fisheries bureau comes, would follow his advice to discontinue all government money given for those states that exhibit no healthy sentiment in favor of the preservation of their supply of food and game fishes. There are a few other punitive measures he would take in spanking the western states.

California has been very thoughtful, the commissioner believes, in its provision to insure the unimpairment perpetuation of the various species, particularly salmon in Oregon and Washington. He speaks of the curtailing of the "already too short closed seasons" on the Columbia and other rivers by the erection of impassable dams in streams that salmon to spawn and in the "unrestricted operation of fishing devices in localities where they are known to be unnecessarily destructive."

A model soldier in the field, with a true soldierly way of doing things, General Chaffee was always the idol of his men. It has often been said that one of his favorite commands, when in hot chase after Indians, used to be: "Follow me, men, and every man that's killed I'll make a corporal."

LIFE IS SAVED BY PROOFER TIME

Dutch Officer Captured by Natives of Sumatra Escapes Horrible Death in Jungle.

GEM WAS A GOD IN THE EYES OF THE SAVAGES

Talisman Was Present From Dying Aborigine Who Had Been Cared for by Hollander—Slashed by Head Hunter.

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, Feb. 1.—A moonstone, which was held in reverence by the natives of Sumatra, and used as eyes of their gods, saved Lieutenant A. E. Dronkers of the Dutch army from a horrible death at the hands of warring natives on that island. He had been upon a punitive expedition with Lieutenant J. J. Donner and 21 soldiers, when in the jungles remote from the garrison, natives in great numbers attacked the camp at night and killed every man except Dronkers, who was taken prisoner.

Dronkers was brought to camp, and in the presence of hundreds of natives was threatened with death. The Dutch soldier remembered a moonstone ring on his finger, which had been given him by a native who was shot in a fight and taken to the Dutch by Dronkers and given medical treatment. Flashing the ring before his eyes he dared them to kill him, and at the sight of the moonstone the natives fell upon their knees.

The leader, enraged at the probable loss of a head, sprang at the officer and slashed at him with a long knife. Dronkers caught it in his hand and though he saved his life, he received an ugly gash, the scar of which is still visible.

SIX MILLION DOLLAR GAIN IN METAL OUTPUT

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Good crops throughout the country have had a direct influence upon the mining industry of the west, even to the remotest camps of Alaska. Big crops increased the demands upon the railroads for more cars, the railroads ordered more steel, the smelters more coal and coke, which increased confidence in the outlook and sent more prospectors into the wilds, and the men who hiked for the gold fields sent more of the yellow metal back to the Atlantic coast.

According to a report just issued by the geological survey, the year 1905 shows a gain of approximately $4,000,000 in gold and 1,000,000 ounces of silver over the output of 1904. The gain in gold is represented almost entirely by the increased output of Alaska, which is placed at $14,650,100, as against $9,160,500 in 1904. The Alaskan gain is entirely all in the Tanana or Fairbanks district, the returns for which are $5,107,000. California shows a loss in gold product of about $1,500,000 due to prolonged drought, which not only brought hydraulic operations to a standstill but interfered to some extent with quartz mills.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Echo, Or., Feb. 1.—Men who are employed on the Furber ditch near this city found the remains of an Indian at a depth of 12 feet in the ground at the Crane cut, a mile below the intake of the ditch. The bones and skull were in perfect state of preservation and it is believed that he was a Umatilla Indian. A number of Indian relics were buried with him, among them a tomahawk which had 28 notches cut in it.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Badly Affected With Sores and Crusts—Extended Down Behind the Ears—Some Years Later Painful and Itching Pustules Broke Out on Lower Part of Body—Son Also Affected.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About ten years ago my scalp became badly affected with sore and itching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, without effect. Saw your Cuticura advertisement, and got them at once. Applied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle.

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered dreadfully. In two months under the skillful treatment of my doctor, accompanied with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I found myself cured.

"Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cuticura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithful use of same was as well as ever in two weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness, as far as I know.
