Into Which Pennies Are Dropped and From Which Dollars Are Returned

Plan to get an early start for the store tomorrow—the occasion is an important one for those folk who care for saving in the purchase of daily needs. It's possible to have greater throngs in the store than we have had at some of the sales this week we want them tomorrow. Every reader of these special announcements should join the merry multitude. We have ample full stocks of fresh, bright, spring merchandise for every one. But practically all departments have extra values to offer—some are described here, some are crowded out. Hundreds of things suited for wear and use these early spring days are marked at special reductions for the 146th Weekly Friday Economy Event. Hundreds of practical, useful everyday things are marked way below value because bought way below value—and for other reasons—as told of below. 'Twill be a busy day—come early.

An Enlivening Sale of STYLISH SUITS

GRAND SALON—SECOND FLOOR

$25 AND $35 Suits for $11.95

When we told you—some two weeks ago of a fortunate purchase made by our garment buyer—now in New York—where more than half the price was saved on a lot of new tailored suits for wear of dressy femininity, we did not know the full extent of the purchase—for some of the suits had not then left the workrooms. Along with the first lot came word from authoritative fashion sources that long coated suits would still hold favor in the realm of correct dress. A few days ago the second shipment—and last, of our monster purchase came to hand. The first lot melted away before the onslaught of eager purchasers like dew before the rising summer sun—and as even lower price is affixed to this lot, which comprises tomorrow's offering, we expect 'em to go out like "hot cakes." Only about 100 in the convention to start with, so be early. Suits have long, tight-fitting coats, tight-fitting backs with loose, boxy fronts, others straight-cut in mannish effect. Coats silk lined through or half lined with rich, heavy satin. Cheviots, serges and Scottish tweeds comprise materials, all plain tailored, some having collars of velvet, others of materials, still others being collarless with trimming effects in silk and fancy braids. Skirts are full plaited and in the modish round lengths. A full color line embraced—blues, blacks, browns, light greens, gray mixed and fancy tweedish effects, Regular.
