de Parrott Testifies-Chin He Saw Man Who Looked Like Nun Standing at Foot of 2 From Which Yee Came.

Letters which Deputy District Attorney Gus C. Moser says will prove that Jew Nun was expecting to have trouble with Lee Teck Yee were introduced as evidence staring the trial of lew Nun this morning for having murdered Yee hast January. The letters were identified by Captain of Police John Moore and Patrolman Bobinson is those taken from Jew Nun when the Chinese was prought to the police station soon after Yee's murder.

Lee Wing, who translated the letters was a witness at the trial this morning. Wing does not bear all the features of a Mongolian, and Henry S. McGinn, one of Nun's coupsel, asked the witness if he was a Chinese.

"My mother was frish, my father Chinese," replied Wing.

Among those who testified this morning was Deputy Sheriff Dode Parrott, who accompanied Yee to the police station after the Chinese had received the fatal wounds. Lee Goon said that he had seen a Chinese who looked like Nun standing at the foot of the stairway from which Yee came just before he was, shot. Lee Poy Ming told of Yee's visit to a rooming-bouse kept by him.

During yesterday's trial Kiu Heng, a Chinese woman, testified that she had formerly been Nun's slave in San Francisco, but fied from him because he had threatened to sell her. She said that she fied with Yee, and that he had intended to marry her. Detective Jos Resing, who captured Nun, was on the witness stand yesterday, as were F. N. Rankin, W. A. Bell, J. P. Strowberg, P. B. Colville and O. Larsen, who witnessed the shooting.

The case was resumed this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and the defense began

Rev. H. M. Street Delivers Sensational Address to Corvallis Audience.

Covallis, Or., Feb. 17.—Declaring that saloons had the sanction of Christ, and that any measure to prevent asloons or the liquor traffic is an assault on the Almighty himself, Rev. H. M. Street. a Christian minister, late of Prinsville, held the attention of a Corvallis audience, at the courthouse Thursday night, Among the listeners were the chief actors in the recent club cases that have caused so much trouble in Corvallis. This preacher stated that he had been for years a preacher of the gospel in Kentucky, Arkansas and other places, and he attempted to prove his position on the liquor question by the Bible. In closing, Rev. Mr. Street declared:

"I am opposed to this local option law because it is a condemnation of the teachings of Jesus Christ and a denial of the teachings of Almighty God."

of the leachings of Almighty God."

The speaker declared that wickedness came from the heart, and that bad whiskey had nothing at all to do with the matter, and in many instances used Bible quotations to show cases when Christ had used or commended the use of wine.

The dinner which was to have been given at the Portland hotel tonight by the governor's staff has been postponed until next week owing to the fact that Governor Chamberlain has been indisposed for several days past and did not feel in condition to attend a function of the sort. The date of the dinner has not been definitely set, but it will be given some time during the latter part of the week, it is said. Those present will be the governor and his family and the members of his staff and their families.

FLOYD DAILEY'S CONDITION MOTHER A IS VERY SERIOUS

Boy of Ill-Fated Family May, Die as Result of Injuries Received in Recent Fire.

A change for the worse took place during the night in the condition of Floyd Dailey, the third eldest son of L. T. Dailey, who lost his life as a result of being burned in the East Water street fire. At St. Vincent's hospital, where the boy was taken after he had jumped from the burning building owned by his father, it was stated that the young follow passed a very bad night. He was restless and had more fever than expected. This morning he was unable to take solid neurishment. Whether the change for the worse will result fatally cannot be told at this time, although it is feared at the hospital that the boy's valiant fight for life is nearing an end.

The mother, Mrs. Dalley, is reported to be improving and out of danger.

Deputy Coroner Finley said this morning that he would hold the unidentified body at the morgue until Monday, when it will be buried in potter's field. No one since yesterday has put in a claim for the body or called at the morgue in the hope of recognizing it.

SWARTZ CHARGED WITH SECOND DEGREE MURDER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Or., Feb. 17.—The preliminary hearing of Henry Swartz, who caused the death of Fred Neuhaus last Sunday night by a blow on the nose, and who is charged in the information that District Attorney Lomax filed yesterday, with murder in the second degree, is having his preliminary examination before Judge White in the circuit court this afternoon. The intention first was to try him in the justice court on a charge of mansiaughter, but after an autopsy was held over the deceased and considering the testimony of those present at the time the blow was struck the district attorney withdrew the first charge, filing information charging a more serious crime.

The defendant has retained prominent attorneys of this city and is fighting for his acquittal on this first examination. It is probable, however, that he will be held to the grand jury by Judge White.

Mayor Says Messure Compe Attendance of Witnesses at investigation is illegal.

RETURNS THREE OTHERS WITHOUT HIS APPROVAL

Gayer Thought Shepherd's Bill Gave Councilmen Too Much Authority Bill for Preight on Materials for Cremetory Not Approved.

Four ordinances were returned to the city council today by Mayor Lane with his stamp of disapproval on them. The most important of the vetoed measures was the one introduced by Councilman shepherd making it compulsory for witnesses to respond to a subpoens of any member of the council and compelling witnesses to respond to a subpoens of any member of the council and compelling witnesses to respond to a subpoens of any member of the council and compelling witnesses to answer such questions as might be propounded, under penalty of a fine and imprisonment. The mayor thought this ordinance conflicted with the charter, and gave the councilmen too great authority. His message accompanying the veto follows:

"I return to your ordinance No. 15,151, entitled, 'An ordinance providing for the altendance of witnesses before the council and providing a punishment for fallure to obey subpoense or refusal to testify, without my approval, for the following reasons:

"The ordinance applies to all cases where subpoense may be issued by any member of the council, whether it is a matter authorized by the charter to be investigated by them or not. Section 47 of the charter authorizes the council to issue subpoense in cases when the official acts and conduct of any city officer, amploys or agent are being investigated. This section is a limitation upon the power of the council to issue subpoense, and any attempt to punish for disobedience of a subpoense or refusing to testify should be limited to the cases stated therein.

Meets Old Acquaintance Who Tells
Her Where to Find Man Whom She Had Long Sought.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., Feb. 17.—After years of separation, during which time mother and son have made avery effort to find each other and when both had given up the task, believing that the object of their search was dead, Mrs. Woodworth and Charles Purcel, her son by a former marriage, were unexpectedly re-united near this city yesterday.

Mrs. Woodworth, a worker in the Salvation. Army, has been in the city so liciting subscriptions for that dramainstion. While here she was recognized by a former sequaintance in Washington, and asked as to the whereabouts of her son, Charles Purcel, Purcel being her name at that time. She replied that she had lost all trace of him and had not seen him for years. She further stated that her son had left for the const some years ago and possibly had shipped on some wassal and been lost. This man told her that her son was working on a farm near this city for Frank Trites, that he had shipped on a vessel, had told her that her son was working on a farm near this city for Frank Trites, that he had shipped on a vessel, had been to South Africa and other parts of the globs. Mrs. Woodworth immediately procured a conveyance and drove as fast as possible to this farm, and once again was face to face with the son she had given up as lost. The reunion between mother and son was most happy and surprising.

After the son's return from South Africa he again went to the old home in Washington, and on account of the fact that his mother had again married and moved away from that place he was unable to locate her, although he had made every effort to do so.

"If contractors can put additional work on a building other than that contracted for at a certain sum and then file a lien on that structure in order to collect for extra work not contracted for, the owner of the structure can have little protection by his contract."

Thus remarked Judge Cleiand this morning in deciding the case of George H. Bonville and George Packingham against Gueleppe Cordano, who was sued for $470 alleged to be due for extra work done in repairing cottages owned by the defendant. Judge Cleiand said that it had been shown that Cordano had paid the amount he had agreed to pay for work done, as stated in the contract. Findings were for the defendant.

"But the contractors state that they were forced to put on extras which the architect had overlooked in making plans for the changes," said Judge Cleiend. "One of these extras was for the putting of a roof on a porch, it being stated by the plaintiffs that the architect had provided for the porch but not for a roof. The court thinks that such work as this does not entitle the contractors to charge for extras."
