Reconciliation and Love Feast Follow Quarrel Between Strangely Assorted Couple and Mizner Is Again in Yerkes Mansion.

(Journal Special Service.)

Denver, Col., Feb. 27.—Edith Crater, the actress whose name was widely exploited in the career of Wilson Misner, ploited in the career of Wilson Misner, said in an interview:

"I met Mr. Misner more than four years ago. He was so handsome, kind and affectionate that the grief that almost overwhelmed me when my hushand, Harry A Samms, was taken to the insane asylum was removed by his presence. He proposed that I marry him. After I heard that Mr. Samms had died in an insane asylum in California, I gladly accepted Misner's proposal and went with him to Alaska. There we were married.

went with him to Alaska. There we were married.

"We lived together in Alaska and here for three years, until I learned that my husband was still alive."

A New York dispatch states that Mrs. Yerkes-Mizner has forgiven her husband and taken back Mizner into her affections and that he is now installed in the Yerkes mansion on Fifth avenue. The reconciliation is said to have occurred at the Hotel Netherlands last night.

Mrs. Yerkes-Mizner is quoted as statcurred at the Hojel Netherlands last night.

Mrs. Yerkes-Minner is quoted as stating that there was a plot by interested parties to separate her and her husband by the circulation of malicious false-hoods, but that the conspiracy, had failed. She said that she was told all sorts of dreadful things about the young bridegroom and foolishly credited them until investigation showed them false. She says that Minner never asked her for a cent either before or after marriage, but always gave her the best of advice in regard to financial affairs. She states, however, that all she has now is his, if he wants it, as but for his intervention she would have resigned her rights as trustee under the will and begun a contest.

Mrs. Minner is quoted by her friends as saying that she had found keys to safety vaults containing securities and believes the estate to be worth fully $50,000,000.

FUGITIVE GAMBLER IS HEARD FROM IN HAVRE

Walla Walla, Wash., Feb. 27.—Joe Wright, one of the three men alleged to have fleeced John Elsler, a Montana mining man, of $1.342 in a three card monte game at Pasco a week ago has been heard from at Havre, Montana. Wright sent a magnificent pair of buffale horns to John Smalls, a local salonekeeper, and wrote a letter to friends telling them where he might be found. Although warrants have been issued for the three men it is doubtful, it is said, if the Pasco authorities will ever serve them.

Wright and his pals, it is said, would fleece some innocent and they in turn have been relieved of their coin by Pasco men, who are acknowledged past masters at draw poker. Some high stakes it is said have been played for at Pasco the past winter and the return of the three sharpers for trial would stir up a scandal that several JAIL FOR LAND FRAUDS

(Journal Special Service.)

Chappaqua, N. Y., Feb. 27.—This quaint hamist, famous for having been the home of Horace Greeley, is boping that Miss Eva Booth, the Salvation Army woman, will move to some other town and take her dogs with her. Sho has over a score of vicious pups on her place. Miss Booth lives in Chappaqua and goes daily to New York. While she is busy in the great wicked city saving souls, her immense pack of dogs acatives around town, attacks teams, causes runaways and other annoyances.

Chappaqua people regard the dogs as nuisances. Just what part these numerous canine pets, most of them handsome collies, have in Miss Booth's unselfish campaigs for the salvation of sinful folk is not apparent.

Among other evidences of abundant means about Miss Booth's estate, with the big handsome three-story country house and 65 acres of lawns, are a man secretary, a woman amanuensis, a housekeeper and other servants.

Guild's lake," said the mayor. "Should the park board because of a little sentiment stop these enterprises? Would it be right for them to do so? Let Pence continue with his scheme and within four weeks he may become busted and want to so back to Colorado from whence he came."

"If they desire to fill cuild's lake why do they not purchase a dredge, make a basin in the center of the lake and fill in around it for sites for machine shops and factories, and make a harbor?" asked Levinson.

The mayor said that he had investigated into that very thing several months ago and that government engineers had decisred that it was not fessible and could not be done.

Would Give Pence Chance.

"It seems to me." continued the mayor, "that if Pence signs a contract and gives a bond that he will not damage the park in any manner, we should give him permission to run water through this fiume for a few months. I have no interest in this man's schemes, or in him personally, but I am willing to give him a chance. I think he should be permitted to develop these resources if he can."

When the vote was taken Commissioners Lewis and Meyers voted in the affirmative and Colonel L. L. Hawkins in the negative. Pence told Commissioner Meyers he would write an apology to the board for building his flume across the park without permission.

Immediately after the meeting Pence notified his engineer to have the break made by the mayor in the flume repaired. As soon as it is finished he will begin studing down the hills again.

MOHUNDRO REFUSES TO DISCUSS HIS FAILURE

Walla Walla. Wash. Feb. 27.—
Walla Walla Politicians are astir today over the receipt of news from Washington last night that Senators Ankeny, and Piles had recommended A. J. Gillis, receiver of the Walla Walla land office, to succeed J. L. Mohundro as register, and Jesse G. Miller of Dayton as receiver. Register Mohundro was out of town yesterday and was not aware the nominations had been sent in until informed of the fact by a reporter at the land office this morning.

Mohundro refused to discuss his failure to secure the indorsement of the Washington delegation for reappointment further than to say that his friendship for Eugene Lorton and Warden Kees had incurred the displeasure of the Crocker-Stevenson-Baker crowd and that they were mainly responsible for the fight being waged against him.

WHOLESALE ARREST OF SAN FRANCISCO GAMBLERS

(Journal Special Service.)

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—This morning 240 gamblers and visitors who were arrested last night at a new joint opened by Daroux & Harvey were arraigned in four batches and their cases postponed until Thursday. Regrigan Eas Bone Hothing.

Captain Bruin says that unless Detective Kerrigan, who is supposed to be conducting the investigations in behalf of the police department, produces some results within two days, he proposes to take the case out of his hands and turn it over to some one who will accomplish something. The captain says that as yet Kerrigan has not secured anything definite. Kerrigan asserts that he has been working diligently but admits that he has been unable to secure any clues.

It was learned several days ago that a former bartender of Kuhn's working a few miles out of the city might possess valuable information on the case, and the detectives admit they have not attempted to see him yet and secure his evidence. When asked about this man and what he might know Kerrigan replied:
