

GOOD EVENING

THE WEATHER.

Rain and warmer tonight; Saturday rain, southeasterly winds.

Journal Circulation

Yesterday Was 25,436

VOL. IV. NO. 310.

PORTLAND, OREGON, FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 2, 1906.—SIXTEEN PAGES.

PRICE TWO CENTS. OF TRADE AND NEWS STANDS, FIVE CENTS.

PRESIDENT REFERS BRISTOL CASE TO OREGON BAR ASSOCIATION FOR REPORT

LOCAL BAR TO DECIDE

Oregon Lawyers Find That District Attorney Bristol Is Not Guilty He Will Be Reappointed.

WILL BE NAMED AGAIN ON FAVORABLE REPORT

Official Will Be Permitted to Serve Until Grievance Committee of Oregon Association Investigates Accusations of Unprofessional Conduct Made in Charges Filed.

(Washington Bureau of the Journal.) Washington, March 2.—Attorney-General Moody today placed District Attorney Bristol's explanation before the president and recommended that the entire matter be referred to the Oregon bar association for investigation and report. The president accepted this recommendation, and pending the receipt of the report from the bar association the government will take no further action for or against Bristol. The act of the attorney-general was in compliance with a request from the bar association, which has a grievance committee whose duty it is to investigate such cases and which desired to go into the matter fully before final action should be taken.

Bristol will be permitted to serve as district attorney under his present appointment until the association reports, and while it is not saying so in so many words, the attorney-general indicated that if the reports should be favorable Bristol would be reappointed.

When the foregoing dispatch was read to United States District Attorney Bristol he said:

"If such a decision has been reached I am not yet advised of it. In the meantime I do not think it would be proper to say anything on the subject. I must follow the same policy to which I have adhered from the beginning."

But while Mr. Bristol declines to express himself at this time, some of his friends speak with satisfaction of the fact that the charges against him are to be investigated here at his home, and before an impartial body such as the grievance committee of the bar association.

When Frank S. Grant, as special prosecutor for the grievance committee of the Oregon State Bar association, wrote to Washington suggesting that the charges against Mr. Bristol should be investigated here, he acted without the sanction or the knowledge of any member of the grievance committee. Mr. Grant himself is authority for this statement, for when interviewed on the subject three days ago he said that he had received no instructions from the committee or any member of it.

So far as can be learned no one of the grievance committee has any knowledge of the charges further than has been published in the columns of the daily papers. Mr. Bristol has himself uniformly refused to make any statement, saying that it would not be proper for him to do so until action had been taken at Washington.

RECORDS PRODUCED IN PACKERS' TRIAL

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, March 2.—The court in the Packers' case this morning instructed the government attorney to produce in court all the records procured for the prosecution for the department of commerce and labor. The documents admitted, Morrison says, prove the existence of a combination.

KILLED BY TRAIN NEAR COLUMBIA CITY

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) St. Helena, Or., March 2.—J. D. Bird, aged 73 years, was struck by a train at 5:26 o'clock this morning near Columbia City and was killed instantly. He was founder of the Government range lights and was on his way home from Houston. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

MORBID CROWD HEARS TRIAL OF WHITE SLAVE

New York, March 2.—The morbid crowd increased this morning at the Bertha Clatche murder trial. Patrolman Morton was recalled to the stand to continue telling of his relations with the accused girl.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF PROFESSOR LANGLEY

Washington, March 2.—Funeral services over the remains of Professor S. H. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, were held this afternoon. Interment will be in Boston.

ONE UNWELCOME PURSUER THAT JOHN D. CAN'T SHAKE OFF

SEATTLE SPIRIT HOGS BEST SEATS AT CHINESE BANQUET

HERD REPUBLICANS AGAINST WORD

Liquor Dealers Plan to Kill Him at Primaries by False Registration.

TEN IN EACH PRECINCT TO MAKE FALSE OATH

Manager Crofton and Subordinates of Liquor Association Persuading Republicans to Register as Democrats and Vote for Malley.

RECORDS PRODUCED IN PACKERS' TRIAL

In the effort to prevent Sheriff Word being renominated in the Democratic primaries the Brewers' and Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association is resorting to methods as crooked and as unscrupulous as Portland has ever witnessed. From the office of A. Crofton, manager of the association, 413 McKay building, a secret campaign is being carried on all over the county against Word. It is a campaign of stealth, dishonesty and treachery. Realizing that if Word recovers the nomination of his party in the primaries there will be little chance of defeating him in the election in June, the liquor dealers have determined that he must not be the Democratic nominee. That Word is the choice of a large majority of the Democrats admits of no doubt. The liquor dealers have therefore resorted to the scheme of stuffing the registration rolls with the names of Republicans who falsely register as Democrats, for the purpose of voting against Word in the Democratic primaries.

A. Crofton, manager of the liquor dealers' association, has been entrusted with the conduct of this campaign of knavery. Scores of Republicans, some of them men who registered only a year ago as Republicans, have been sent by him to the county clerk's office to register as Democrats. To a citizen who called to see Crofton early this week on other business, the latter said:

Crofton Explains Scheme. "You're a Republican, aren't you? You want to see a Republican sheriff, don't you? Then go up and register as a Democrat and go into the Democratic primaries and vote against Tom Word. We want to kill him off the first time he shows his head—then the rest will be easy. It's the only way you can do it. Go up and register to-day."

And Portland Chinaman, Who Contributed Most to Cost, Sits Farthest Away.

PORTLAND PARTY NEVER RECOGNIZED AT SEATTLE

W. D. Wheelwright's Jocular Remark in Speech Brings Vehement Reply From Orator Who Took Him Seriously.

Manager Crofton and Subordinates of Liquor Association Persuading Republicans to Register as Democrats and Vote for Malley.

The Portland delegation to Seattle to assist in the reception and entertainment of the imperial majesty's Chinese commission, returned home last evening, after four days' enjoyment of a trip on the sound. A number of the party went to Port Townsend, where a day was pleasantly spent and courtesies were received from Lieutenant-Governor Charles Cook, the Union club and the commanding officer at Fort Warden. The Portland delegation had not been in Seattle long until the members came to regard their relations with the reception as a joke. Not once did the Seattle newspapers or the Seattle chamber of commerce recognize Portland's part in the affair. The hoggish Seattle spirit ruled in all matters pertaining to the reception and banquet. There seemed to be a fear in the Seattle heart that Portland had come to steal something. The fact that Portland furnished the larger part of the money for the expense was ignored. It was not permitted to become public knowledge that Portland sent a delegation of 40 men, including the city's most prominent Chinese merchants, and committees from the Portland chamber of commerce, Commercial club and board of trade, to represent formally this city in the reception to the Chinese commission.

Generosity Kept Secret. A secret was made of the fact that one Portland Chinaman paid more money than all of Seattle's participants combined, to make the reception and banquet the success it attained. When the banquet hall doors were thrown open the Seattle "push" made a rush for the best seats, and after they were through with the scramble among themselves for places nearest the prince and his party the visitors from Portland filed in and found seats in a remote part of the hall. The generous Portland Chinaman, who should have been a guest of honor, but who was busily devoting his efforts to securing seats for his fellow townsmen, afterward found himself occupying the seat actually farthest of all from the speakers' table. The Portland people took the whole matter good-humoredly, and were none the less gratified by the extreme consideration shown by Prince Tsai Tseh

IS A MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Ida Tarbell States That John D. Rockefeller is a Pauper in Good Will of People.

OIL KING A MONUMENT TO FALSE IDEAS OF LIFE

Billionaire Passes Through Pittsburgh at Night in Private Car Carried as "Dead Car" by Railroad—Fears to Be Seen.

(Journal Special Service.) Kansas City, Mo., March 2.—"Missouri's attorney-general, Mr. Hadley, has, I think, gained a very important point in the case against the Standard Oil company. In my opinion he has done more to bring out in evidence the methods and practices of the Rockefeller monopoly than any other attorney-general who has attacked his wit and courage against the high-salaried, crafty and even brilliant attorneys of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Hadley has secured powerful and telling evidence."

Generosity Kept Secret. A secret was made of the fact that one Portland Chinaman paid more money than all of Seattle's participants combined, to make the reception and banquet the success it attained. When the banquet hall doors were thrown open the Seattle "push" made a rush for the best seats, and after they were through with the scramble among themselves for places nearest the prince and his party the visitors from Portland filed in and found seats in a remote part of the hall. The generous Portland Chinaman, who should have been a guest of honor, but who was busily devoting his efforts to securing seats for his fellow townsmen, afterward found himself occupying the seat actually farthest of all from the speakers' table. The Portland people took the whole matter good-humoredly, and were none the less gratified by the extreme consideration shown by Prince Tsai Tseh

ALL HE KNEW WAS 568

A. E. Wilhelm Comes From Indiana to Wed and Forgets Where Bride-to-Be Lives.

REMEMBERED NUMBER—FORGOT THE STREET

So Wilhelm Looked Up Number Five Sixty-Eight on Nearly Every Street in Town, Spending Four Days in Search—Finally Finds Miss Sadie E. Clauson on Fifth.

To marry the woman who had promised to be his wife, A. E. Wilhelm came all the way from Indianapolis to Portland only to discover that he had forgotten the street in which she lived. He remembered the number was 568, but scratch his head and frown as he would, he could not recall the street. So he started out to find No. 568 and visited that number in nearly every street in the city before he reached Fifth street. He made inquiries at 568 Fifth street last night and found the girl he loved waiting for him. The wedding was performed at once.

Wilhelm is a prominent contractor of the metropolis of Indiana. Until several months ago Miss Sadie E. Clauson resided there and they were fast friends. He was not until Miss Clauson had gone to Oregon, three months ago, that the contractor realized how lonely he was without her and told her so in letters. The correspondence finally resulted in an engagement. She consented to marry him on one condition: "The one condition was that he come to Portland and have the ceremony performed here. She gave the address where she could be found."

Wilhelm boarded the first train for the west after receiving the letter and reached Portland Sunday night. He had telegraphed her that he was coming, so she was ready for the wedding. There was no need of a delay, he thought. A broad smile of anticipated happiness overspread his countenance as he alighted from the train at the Union station Sunday night. He knew she was waiting for him and he would go to her and get away with all more determined when told she did not.

All day Monday he searched, and Tuesday he rose at daylight and went on the east side. There were many 568's over there, but no Miss Clauson who was waiting for a bridegroom. Wednesday he came back to the west side and found many more 568's. That evening he went to 568 Fifth street, where his search ended.

Miss Clauson is a nurse. She recently arrived in Portland from Eugene and has lived at the residence of Dr. J. N. Woodie, 568 Fifth street. She had anxiously awaited the arrival of Wilhelm and when he found her the wedding was performed at once. Rev. S. A. Slight officiated at the ceremony. The couple will make Portland their home.

"I had almost given up all hope of ever finding the girl I was to marry," said the bridegroom. "I had about reached the conclusion that the only thing for me to do was to return to Indianapolis and write for her to send me her address again. I had no idea how many 568's there were in Portland. But our troubles have ended and, as they say in the story books, we'll live happily ever afterward."

TAUGHT BOMB THROWING

Western Federation Officials Had Regular School for Dynamiters on Prairie Few Miles From Denver.

ORCHARD TELLS STORY OF CRIMES TO JURORS

Cipher Key to Startling Disclosures Found in Orchard's Trunk Implicating the Inner Circle—McParland Corroborates Assassin's Confessions Regarding Crimes.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Boise, Idaho, March 2.—Harry Orchard, the confessed assassin of former Governor Frank Steiensen, resumed his testimony before the grand jury at Caldwell this morning. His testimony occupied the entire morning session. According to the testimony of Detective McParland before the grand jury Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone experimented with bombs on the prairie four miles north of Denver and had a regular dynamiting school there. Orchard knew about this.

McParland also gave testimony corroborating Orchard's confession in regard to the murder of Superintendent Martin Glasgow at the Criddle Creek mine of the Telluride mine and Superintendent Barney of Telluride, who has been missing since 1892. McParland classed Haywood as the engineer of the murders, Moyer as the dupe, and Pettibone as "in it for the money."

CHAMBER TO LOOK INTO DELAY OVER BRIDGE

Dilatory Tactics of Port of Portland in Selecting Site Rouses Business Men.

By special request the navigation committee of the chamber of commerce will meet tomorrow afternoon and take action concerning what is believed to be the dilatory tactics of the Port of Portland in arriving at a decision concerning the most suitable bridge for the northern Pacific to build across the Willamette river. A big attendance at the meeting is anticipated. The Port of Portland will not meet before Monday afternoon, when it is expected that Commissioner Ainsworth will have returned from San Francisco. The majority and minority reports of the committee sent east to gather data relative to bridges were distributed this morning. Until today the reports had been read by only one or two of the commissioners. William E. Wheelwright, who was elected to fill the vacancy created by the absence of C. F. Swigert from the city, returned home from Seattle yesterday afternoon. When asked this morning if he intended to qualify for the position he said:

"I have no statement whatever to make on the subject."

Stopped As One Man. At the corner of Third and Salmon streets the prisoners stopped as one man. Charles H. White, a spokesman for the prisoners, informed the guards that the gang would not move another step toward work so long as Johnson was with them as guard. They were put back in their cells and the guards reported to Judge Webster. The judge immediately issued an order that the rebels be put in the dungeon on bread and water until they are willing to return to work. The dungeon is not large enough to hold all the men. Charles White, spokesman for the men, told this story:

Called Johnson Brutal. "We simply refused to go to work under Johnson," said he, "because he is brutal in his treatment of us, and we do not propose to be beaten and tortured by him any longer. We have no complaint to make against the other guards and do not object to working, but we will not work under a brute. We are prisoners and at the mercy of our guards, but because we are helpless" (Continued on Page Two.)

CLAIM GUARD BEAT THEM

County Jail Prisoners Refuse to Go to Work at Rock Pile Till James Johnson is Removed.

REVOLT WHILE BEING TAKEN TO THE BOAT

Prisoners Say Guard Beat Them With Fists and His Cane and Strung Them Up by Wrists—One Claims Johnson Hit Him on Head With Pickax.

Rebellion against the authority of the county court to force them to work under Guard Johnson, whom they accuse of brutality, caused the county chain gang to revolt on the public street this morning. Thirty-seven prisoners, awaiting time for misdemeanors stopped in the middle of the street and flatly refused to budge another step toward the Linnton quarry, where they have been at work. Though the prisoners were handcuffed and shackled, the three guards were powerless to control them and were forced to conduct them back to the county jail. The prisoners are now in their cells in defiant rebellion against the county court. They say they will not do another stroke of work until Guard James Johnson, against whom they are aggrieved, is removed and some other man put over them.

Judge L. R. Webster of the county court has ordered the mutinous gang to be put on bread and water in the dungeon until they consent to go to work under Johnson. Say Guard Beat Them. The prisoners charge Guard Johnson with having beat them with his fists and walking cane; with having chained them to posts and flogged them, and with having tied them up to rafters by their hands and left them swinging in mid-air for punishment.

Guard Johnson says the prisoners are "a pack of liars," that they simply want to shirk their work and have concocted blood-curdling stories of brutality in an effort to enlist public sympathy in their behalf. It is his assertion that the prisoners mutilated because he refused to permit them to smoke during working hours as a punishment for petty thefts committed by them on the way to and from the rock quarry. Judge Webster says the prisoners have no just cause of complaint against Johnson.

The prisoners have been in ugly mood for several days, the guards say. Open rebellion came this morning when the guards turned out the gang for work. A dozen or more refused to leave their bunk. The guards dragged them out and there two or three lively scrimmages before the chaingang was got on its way to the boat. As they marched along the street under the guard of Johnson, C. E. Briggs and Harry Burkie they began to lag.

Called Johnson Brutal. "We simply refused to go to work under Johnson," said he, "because he is brutal in his treatment of us, and we do not propose to be beaten and tortured by him any longer. We have no complaint to make against the other guards and do not object to working, but we will not work under a brute. We are prisoners and at the mercy of our guards, but because we are helpless" (Continued on Page Two.)

Sunday Journal Better than Ever

THERE are no end of good things to interest you in The Sunday Journal. "The Plum Tree," the great novel of practical American politics, by David Graham Phillips, will be published in The Sunday Journal, the only paper in Oregon having a right to publish this interesting story. The first installment will appear in the next Sunday Journal. Be sure and get it, for you will enjoy every word. Theatrical managers adopt many schemes to boom their shows. Some of those that have been employed with great success are written this week for The Sunday Journal by a well-known Portland manager. In Vienna there is a handsome deserted palace of Archduke Ludwig Victor. Why it is vacant and who may possibly occupy it is told in The Sunday Journal. These are only a few of the features of Oregon's leading Sunday paper. Get The Sunday Journal and enjoy them all.