Engineers From Nattonal Fire Underwriters Declared That System Was Not Up to Standard of Other Equipment of Fire Department.

Preparations are being made for the installation of an improved fire alarm system for which the city council has made an appropriation of $21,000. The improvement will consist mainly in a change from the present slow alarm system to a system nearly three times

The apparatus for which funds have been provided includes 16 large registers, $2,900: 10 small registers, $1,000; 20 small gongs, $400: 1 transmitter, $500; cable across river, $1,000: new tines and labor and repairs, $7,000. There will also be at least 17 new fire alarm boxes installed in different parts

There will also be at least 17 new fire alarm boxes installed in different parts of the city where they are most needed. The present fire alarm system is said to be defective. It is old and much of the equipment is practically worthless. A portion of it will be used in the reconstruction of the system.

When the engineers from the National Pire Underwriters of New York were in Portland making surveys of fire conflagration hazards, they severely criticaled the avaious. They said it was not up to the standard of the other equipment of the fire department and that it ment of the fire department and that it was 25 years out of date.

C. E. Savarian, the newly appointed superintendent of the fire alarm system, will superintend the proposed changes. He is an expert electrician of wide experience. wide experience. Formerly, under the Pennoyer regime, he held the position he now occupies, and afterward he served in a like capacity in Tacoma, Washington. Several new men will be employed by him when the work begins.

The bridge is the only structure that today connects the greater east side, which is bisected by Sullivan's gulch. Aside from the Twelfth street bridge it is the only structure remaining across the gulch and there are no car tracks on the Twelfth street bridge. Under the present arrangement the entire east side district north of East Morrison street depends on the Burnside bridge for transportation and the great majority of this district depends on the bridge for transportation and the great majority of this district depends on the Sullivan gulch bridge for car service.
