And the remedy is the drug store is just as good as the sample we send out. As, for instance, here is a man who got such immediate relief from the sample that he at once bought a box. Was just as good, undoubtedly, since it cured him after all sorts and kinds of things had failed. And it wasn't one of those simple cases of a few years' standing—it had existed 50 years.

Here is a sample of the kind of letters we get every day and we don't have to ask for them:

"Friend: I write to tell what good your Pyramid Pile Cure has done for me. I used your sample, and it did me so much good I went and got two boxes, and I used one and I am another man altogether. I have no pain, no piles, and I have been troubled with them for over 50 years and could find no relief till now, thanks to your timely cure. Use by name if it will do you any good. Isaac Smith, Whar-ton, New York."

UNEASINESS IN ENGLAND OVER EDWARD'S HEALTH

King's Knee Troubling Him a Great Deal—Southern Trip Ordered by Doctors.

London, March 27.—Considerable uneasiness has been caused throughout England by the attempts to keep secret King Edward's condition. His majesty's left knee is troubling him a great deal the last few months, and the trip to the south of France was really ordered by Dr. Frederick Treves, his physician. On account of the king's diplomacy in going to the Riviera for political reasons, and his visit to the new French president and the king of the Belgians, it was thought best to keep his physical infirmities secret.

Dr. Treves and one or two other expert surgeons whom King Edward called in consultation said that neither operation nor the king's knee was absolutely necessary.

The facts have been kept so secret that only a few persons in royal and inner circles of society were aware of the king's condition. The medical profession know nothing about the true situation.

- Jew Nun, a Chinese, charged with having shot Lee Yick Yee, on the evening of January 10.
- Paul Musa, who is said to have killed Julius A. Kuhn, a former saloonkeeper, at the corner of Williams avenue and Welder street, February 17.
- George L. Hines, who murdered his former mistress, Mrs. Alice Milligan, in her room at the Van Noy hotel, last Friday afternoon.

STICKS OF DYNAMITE SHIPPED IN THE MAIL

Fort Dodge, Ia., March 27.—"Mail me some sticks of dynamite at once," telephoned John Johnson, a farmer near here, from Graettinger to Estherville today. The telephone is in the postoffice. When the postmaster heard the message, he nearly fell in a faint. Investigation disclosed the fact that Johnson had broken a drill at the bottom of a well he was sinking and the first stick of dynamite lowered into the hole had failed to explode. Fearing that a second stick may have already been mailed, postal clerks on all routes running into Graettinger are handling mail sacks as if they contained cut glass. The firm which sent the dynamite by mail will be prosecuted.

JUDGE WILLIAMS 63 AND HEARTY

Men Who Were Associated With His Administration Call to Present Congratulations.

WAS CHIEF JUSTICE OF OREGON TERRITORY

Elected to United States Senate and Served During Strenuous Times at Close of Civil War—Only Survivor of Grant's Cabinet.

Ex-Mayor George H. Williams, the only surviving member of President Grant's cabinet, in which he was attorney-general, celebrated his 63d birthday yesterday. He was in the best of health and spirits and during the day received many callers at his residence, 41 North Eighteenth street.

Judge Williams was tendered a surprise last night by a number of the former city officials who were associated with him during his term as mayor. They called at his residence in a body and were given a cordial reception. The visitors congratulated the judge and wished him many more happy birthdays. Several short speeches were made.

Those present who were formerly associated with Judge Williams in the city administration were: City Auditor Thomas C. Devlin; L. Zimmerman, Dr. Sanford Whiting, C. E. Rumelin, B. D. Zigler and John W. Sharkey, councilmen; H. W. Goddard, H. C. Wortman, Charles F. Beebe, Whitney L. Boise, Rodney L. Gilaan, Professor H. D. Curtis, members of the executive board; L. A. McNary, city attorney; Howard Whiting, building inspector; Dr. William Jones and Dr. Mae H. Cardwell, members of the health board; Dr. Joseph L. Allen, Lewis of the city water board; Superintendent Frank T. Dodge and Engineer T. T. Clarke of the water department; J. D. Meyer and Ion Lewis of the city park board; Dr. J. C. Zan, city physician. Other friends present were: A. L. Mills, Colonel McCracken, David Dunne, Dr. A. Morrison, C. E. S. Wood and B. B. Lathrop.

Judge Williams has been closely associated with the history of Oregon for many years and has been a prominent figure in American politics. In 1853 he was appointed by President Franklin Pierce to the office of chief justice of Oregon territory and was reappointed by President Buchanan, but resigned. He was elected a member of the Oregon constitutional convention in 1859; was elected to the United States senate in 1864, and was a prominent figure in congress during the strenuous times at the close of the civil war.

While in Washington he was recognized as a man of much ability, and in 1871 was chosen a member of the joint high commission that framed the treaty between the United States and Great Britain relative to the Alabama claims, the northwest boundary question and the dispute over the right to fish off the coast of Canada.

President Grant tendered Judge Williams the position of attorney-general in 1871. He remained in the cabinet until 1875. In 1873 he was nominated by the president as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, but his name was withdrawn. After leaving the cabinet he practiced law for a number of years in Washington, D. C., then returned to Portland, where he has since resided and practiced his profession, except during the two years he was mayor, following the adoption of the new city charter.

POWER OF ADVERTISING.

Approximately 2,000 Shoppers Attended the Special Sale of Olds, Wortman & King.

A demonstration of the power of advertising was given this morning when the entrances to Olds, Wortman & King's department store on Fifth and Washington streets were blocked by a crowd of shoppers. The proportion of a mob by the time the doors were opened at 3:30 o'clock.

This progressive firm used a page advertisement on Sunday and additional space on Monday in exploiting a special sale of embroideries for today, and the advertising was read and acted upon was conclusively proved. Every car from the suburbs brought in more shoppers—two thousand strong, they learn and buildings puzzled over the fact of the hastened morning meal and employers wondered at the tardiness of their workers, for the feminine portion of Portland had read the advertisement of the special sale and were at the store, and there bright and early, too.

This sale marks an innovation in the handling of special lines, as never in the history of American salesmanship has a store converted so much space and stock to one sale. The entire lower floor was turned over to embroideries, and every aisle was filled with purchasers. This stock was composed largely of embroideries from St. Gall, Switzerland, amounting in total value to something like $10,000 worth of factory ends for the 1906 spring season. This stock would ordinarily suffice for special sales throughout the season, but which Olds, Wortman & King offered the unique proposition of one great day's sale.

PACKERS GET BIG PLANT

A member of one of the leading packing firms in Portland said this afternoon that the transfer had taken place. His information was that the Swift people had bought out Mr. May, who owned a majority of stock in the Union Meat company and would take over the firm's business about May 1. The business of the Swifts in Portland would be conducted in the Troutdale plant until the new establishment could be built on the peninsula, he said.

WALSH INVESTIGATION POSTPONED TWO WEEKS

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, March 27.—Upon the request of John R. Walsh's attorney, who has just returned to the city after an absence of a week, United States Commissioner Foots today continued the preliminary hearing of Walsh, accused of illegal practices in the Chicago National bank case, to April 6.

Walsh was arrested some time ago on charges growing out of the failure of the Chicago National bank, of which institution he was president. Much interest is manifested in the proceeding, as it is expected that some startling details regarding Walsh's financial methods will be brought to light as a result of the government's investigations. Particular interest centers in the memorandum notes for sums aggregating $600,000, the discovery of which led the bank examiner to order the bank to close.

MANITOBA LIBERALS IN ANNUAL MEETING

(Journal Special Service.) Winnipeg, Man., March 27.—The provincial Liberal convention of Manitoba, assembled in Winnipeg today for a two-day session. Nearly 500 delegates and visitors are in attendance, every constituency being well represented. The resolutions to be discussed with reference to their incorporation in the party platform will include among other things planks in favor of government hall insurance, a government liquor dispensary in local option districts and federal control and regulation of telephone rates. Other matters that will probably receive attention are the project for a Hudson bay railway, a simple and inexpensive franchise law and methods for the suppression of graft and corruption.

MUSA INDICTMENT IS FILED

Alleged Murderer of Kuhn Will Be Tried in Circuit Court Despite Weak Case.

POLICE HAVE LITTLE FAITH IN EVIDENCE

Prosecution Admits There is Slight Liability of the Accused Being Convicted Unless New Testimony is Secured.

An indictment charging Paul Musa with the murder of Julius Kuhn, the east side saloon man, who was shot and killed in his saloon on Williams avenue on the night of February 17, was filed in the circuit court by District Attorney Manning this afternoon. The instrument charges murder in the first degree. Musa will be taken from the city to the county jail during the afternoon.

Both the police authorities and the district attorney admit that they have little confidence in their ability to convict the young German with the evidence they have, but in view of what they have they propose to make him go before the court anyhow. The attorneys for the accused prisoner feel confident that they will clear their man without the necessity of going into any extensive defense. They still maintain that they will produce evidence that will reveal startling facts as to the identity of the guilty parties.

It was at first planned by the police to have Musa arraigned in the lower court, but because of the small amount of evidence they possessed against him, it was finally decided that it would be better to file a direct indictment in the higher tribunal to avoid exposing their testimony to the defense before the final trial.

"I must admit," said Captain of Detectives Bruin, "that our evidence against Musa is rather weak and unsatisfactory. If he is guilty we want to hang him. If he is innocent we want to turn him loose. I don't believe the evidence we have is enough to convict him beyond the shadow of a doubt."

The detectives have endeavored to trace Musa's movements from the time he is alleged to have purchased the revolver and cartridges at the Northwest gun store, but they have been unable to do so.

The only evidence upon which the officers are going into court consists of the affidavit of Joe Miller, the identification of Musa by the proprietor of the Blinger Hermann case and yesterday and agreed upon Monday, April 16, as the date for the trial of the case.

MARK TWAIN'S BOOKS BARRED FROM LIBRARY

(Journal Special Service.) New York, March 27.—Literary circles were surprised to learn that the Brooklyn public library had placed Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer" on the restricted list on the ground that the books were unfit for children under the age of discretion. When the author learned that the books had been declared "not good for small boys and girls" he set down and wrote a letter concerning the banishment to grown-up readers of two healthy, normal, fun-loving boys, in which he made comments in a crisp, direct style that permits no misunderstanding. Library officers have not yet seen fit to make the letter public. Clemens said that it had been written privately.
