WILL APPEAL

Immigration Inspector Authorized to Fight Escaped Sailor's Case

J. H. Barber, in charge of the immigration office, received a letter this morning from the department at Washington, authorizing him to take an appeal in the case of the United States against John Quatrevaux, master of the French bark Jules Goumes, who was recently exonerated from blame by Judge Wolverson for permitting a sailor afflicted with a contagious disease to escape from the vessel.

After the case had been decided in the local federal court in favor of the skipper, Mr. Barber laid the entire history of the matter before the department. This action he took after consulting District Attorney Bristol. Mr.

HEALTH IN THE FOOD

Every one knows that Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. The housewife uses it with confidence, and she is justified in so doing.

But how few realize that Royal Baking Powder is a direct product of the healthful and delicious grape! The product of the grape, crystallized and ground, is the cream of tartar which forms the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Fruit properties are needful for the healthfulness of the body, and the grape as used in Royal Baking Powder is the most valuable and healthful of all.

Royal Baking Powder

produces food remarkable both in flavor and wholesomeness.

SACRIFICES LOVE FOR HONOR

Woman Forced to Choose Between Justifying Husband and Defending Name.

CLAIMS FIRST DUTY IS TO HERSELF AND CHILD

Man Shoots to Death Former Friend and Calmly Lets It Be Known That He Trusts to Unwritten Law to Protect Him.

(Journal Special Service.) Memphis, Tenn., March 31.—Mrs. Emma Shelton Chalmers, 21 years old, forced to choose between the defense of her honor and the justification of her husband, H. R. Chalmers, who shot to death her former friend, S. A. Arnold, whom he accused of stealing Mrs. Chalmers' affection, said today that her good name and the future of her baby boy had the first claim on her.

After the killing, Chalmers calmly let it be known that he trusted to the unwritten law to protect him.

"I saw my husband last night," said Mrs. Chalmers today. "He asked me what I was going to do for him. I told him I could not promise to do anything. I have told his brother, Drew Chalmers, the same thing."

"So far as I am concerned my husband killed an innocent man. I believe he did it deliberately and am certain that Arnold did not even know he was suspected of any wrong."

"My first duty is to my own name and the future of my boy, David. He is three years old and I love him. I believe, as much as I value my own honor, even to save his father I could not say that I was guilty of dishonor and blight the baby's life."

In Learning to Walk a Child Must Be Helped

How many parents help their children to habits of thrift and saving? These habits ought to be trained into a child at an early age; nothing can add so much to the happiness, contentment and character as learning to live within one's means, with a sum laid aside in case of necessity. No matter what the income, a person is rich who has learned this truth. Open an account with us in your child's name. The child will find more pleasure in adding pennies to this account than in buying sweets.
