

ARE THEY FEELING OVER FUNDS

Relief Committee Nonplussed at Manner in Which Appropriation Was Grabbed.

WAR DEPARTMENT TAKES NEARLY ALL OF CASH

Despite Snubs, However, Work of Rehabilitating City is Progressing Rapidly and Many Business Houses Will Soon Resume.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) San Francisco, April 25.—The local relief committee, composed of the foremost citizens of San Francisco, has been greatly nonplussed and rattled by the statement that it is to have the handling of but $100,000 of the $2,500,000 appropriated by congress.

Chairman Phelan of the finance committee reported that he only had on hand something like $15,000, and that people must be made to understand that this entirely inadequate fund was that the committee had for present use.

Second Snub Kurts. Coming on top of President Roosevelt's first snub of the citizens' committee, when he sent Dr. Devine of the Red Cross to handle the major fund, this second snub by the war department has caused a lot of bitterness.

But notwithstanding the rebuffings caused by the apparent intention of President Roosevelt and official Washington to treat the citizens' committee as designing grafters the work of rehabilitating the city is going ahead very rapidly. More from the clearing-house bookmakers have announced that they are ready to pay all tickets showing winners on the races r.n. on the days before the earthquake.

Santa Rosa, the county seat of Sonoma county, was the center of a great disturbance and the business part of the pretty city was thrown flat. There were nearly 300 deaths, but already Santa Rosa has nearly all the wreckage cleared away and rebuilding will commence at once.

A unique plan for relieving the ready-money stringency in San Francisco is to be put in force by the commercial banks. They have established what they call "The Clearing House Bank."

As an evidence of the force of the tremor in some parts of the country, Superintendent Shaffer in Marion county reports that near Olama the ground opened and engulfed a cow, closing again and killing the animal.

CAUGHT SELLING LIQUOR TO TWO GIRLS AND BOY

Accused of selling liquor to minors, K. W. Baker of Johnson & Baker was arrested last evening. The firm conducts a saloon at Third and Taylor streets. Baker was caught by an officer in the act of serving liquor to Earl Wall, Miss Agnie Dapper and Miss Pauline Wyman, minors. The girls claimed they were 19 years of age, but cross-questioning by the detective made them forget the exact year they were born.

Captain Bruin asked the full bail limit. This amounted to $50 each. The girls spent the night in charge of the matron. They say it was the first time they had been in a saloon. Baker's bail amounted to $100, which he paid in cash.

THE Needlecraft Shop, 382 Washington St., has been advertising in the display columns of The Journal regularly and the management is much pleased with the returns therefrom.

As an instance of the resultfulness of The Journal as an advertising medium, the Needlecraft Shop inserted an ad in last Sunday's Journal which brought eighteen letters with orders from out of the city besides numerous calls at the store from the local readers.

Mrs. White, the proprietor of the Shop, says that she gets handsome returns from all the money expended for Journal advertising.

CUPID AND THE STORK ARE WORKING OVERTIME Plans for Rebuilding Under Ideas of Burnham Are Being Given Serious Consideration—Fire Has Removed Most Serious Obstacles.

By Charles Alfred Williams. (Special Dispatch to The Journal) San Francisco, April 25.—Doubtless the fact that San Francisco is nothing but a vast pile of smoking ruins, and despite the fact that the estimated losses will reach $225,000,000, San Francisco business men are up and doing, packed for a fortnight has passed the rebuilding of the city will be in full progress.

The clearing house banks today organized the "San Francisco Clearing House Bank," which will open on Tuesday morning in the United States mint building with a cash capital of $7,500,000 and an ability to raise $50,000,000 within a reasonable time. All these banks will operate through the new institution, which will honor orders for cash in sums not exceeding $500 to persons or firms doing business with the clearing house banks.

Thousands of Visitors. While the U. S. troops parade the streets and the roar of dynamite followed by the crash of falling walls and incidents that warn the visitor of danger, martial law no longer rules and visitors by thousands cross the ferries daily from the Oakland side of the bay and wander over the ruins.

The wholesale merchants, retail dealers, commission men, stock brokers and others formally resolved to reopen business at the earliest available moment. The city engineer began the official work of re-establishing property lines, the electric cars are up and doing, and thousands of teams are at work clearing away debris, the newspapers are receiving more advertisements than their temporary equipment permits them to print and the new and greater San Francisco is on the way.

Every day there are stable incidents of the big earthquake. There were 17 shocks on April 18 and including a slight tremor last night there have been fifteen shocks, two of considerable force. As a result, many women are suffering from nervous attacks and several cases of insanity have been reported.

W. H. Hurlburt and Carmen Will Picnic at Estacada Next Tuesday. Engraved on the heavy silver plate 5 by 8 inches, enclosed in heavy Russia leather envelope, the invitation that was delivered to President W. H. Hurlburt of the Oregon Water Power and Railway Company Friday, asking him to attend the annual picnic to be given by the men May 1 and 4 this year, read as follows:

Portland, Ore., April 20, 1906.—Hon. W. H. Hurlburt, President of the O. W. P. and R. Co., Dear Sir:—Wishing to show our appreciation of the many privileges extended us, we beg your attendance at the picnic given us at Estacada Park Tuesday, May 1, and Friday, May 4, 1906. Special trains so kindly tendered us by you will leave Portland on above dates at 8 a. m. Respectfully, YOUR BOYS, Employees of O. W. P. and R. Co.

An invitation similar in make-up was given Superintendent G. C. Fields. The presentations were made at the offices of the respective officials by the following committee representing all departments of the road: Conductors Fisher, Fitzwater, Mathre, Wolgamot, Wassam, Mortman David, Murray, Bush, King, Kleinschmidt, Jones, Reed, Freight Agent Strauss, Truckman Joe Price; Frank Gilman, assistant chief engineer; F. E. Ilge, foreman of roadway; A. S. Flatland, foreman Milwaukie shops; J. F. Renke, foreman Portland shops; Alfred Drill, superintendent of power; L. Viggors, power plant engineer; H. E. Labrecque, inspector; A. K. Lamont, telephone man; B. F. Boynton, assistant superintendent.

The committee managed the presentation so as to completely surprise President Hurlburt, who accepted the invitation and added a few appropriate remarks. The annual picnic of the employees this year will be attended by about 400 persons, including the men and their families. To avoid crippling the service the attendance is divided and two days given to the event. It has been Mr. Hurlburt's custom to furnish cars free and to cooperate with the men in making their annual outings successful.

DIVORCE CASES THE ORDER AT OREGON CITY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) Oregon City, Ore., April 25.—Two divorces were granted today by Judge Brice as follows: Dora McKinstry from Richard McKinstry; Della Arnold from George Saun Sr. and an order of default was entered in the divorce suit of Sallie Atkins against R. W.

The original complaint in the suit for divorce of Sophia U. Holzman against Fred G. Holzman was dismissed and the plaintiff filed another in which she asks to be legally separated and granted the privilege of retaining her maiden name, Sophia Philippin.

FAIR PLAY OR ELSE NO SEATTLE

Mr. Harriman Quoted as Giving Unconscious Interview in San Francisco.

WILLING TO EXTEND UNDER EQUAL RIGHTS

SHIP FOR ALL CARGOES

The docks are intact. There was little injury to shipping. The rail transportation lines are not badly hurt, which is perhaps the most fortunate thing attending the disaster.

Referring to a report that the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific companies had lost valuable records of their lands in the fire, he said:

"I do not think there is any serious loss of records of our companies. But the loss of records of many San Francisco people must be heavy, and will entail much hardship on those whose possession of property depended on such records, and who were without vaults in which to keep them."

"San Francisco will, of course, be rebuilt at once. Merchants are already doing business in temporary quarters. I cannot particularize, but I know of a dozen or more who have already selected sites and are making preparations to rebuild warehouses and business houses. The people are being taken care of as well as is possible under existing conditions. They have plenty to eat and there is money for their immediate needs. They are the most cheerful people ever seen under similar circumstances. While their necessities now are provided for, the really hard time for them is yet to come—when they have to start in all over again with the material things of life and fight it out. But they will have help. The means will come."

"I don't like the way Seattle is using me. Up to date, I have asked for nothing unreasonable. I have gone into that city and spent a mint of money. I want to go to Seattle. I want to send my trains there. I want to send a share of Seattle business and I want to help build up the city and the great north-western disposition to help. I am granted the same privileges accorded rival railroads, I will never go north of Portland as long as I live."

"Yes, I know conditions are not the same as they were 20 years ago. But do you realize it means just as much to Seattle to have me there as it does to me to be there? The coming of the Union Pacific simply means the making of Seattle as the Oriental depot. I can't discuss all my plans at this time simply because I have not completely formulated them of course, but I do not intend to go to Seattle for my health and once there you may depend upon it that I will not leave a single stone unturned in the development of trade. Yes, sir, I am personally going to Seattle to talk to the leading men and the city council. I want a franchise on Fourth avenue and I think I should have it. I believe I can make it see that, if not, well, anyway, while I've sunk good investment and I can get all that money out and more too, any time. It is up to Seattle, whether or not Union Pacific rails ever reach that city. I will continue to the time I leave Seattle, when I begin on New York. It will be definitely settled for good and all. It all depends on the outcome of my present trip north."

UNION COMPANION SOLD FOR HALF A MILLION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) Baker City, Ore., April 25.—The Union Companion mine, a property of the Comstock Mines company, situated in the Obispo district, sixty miles east of this city, was today sold to the Guggenheimer smelter trust people of New York. The consideration of the deal is a half a million dollars. This mine is a new producer in the coal and iron industry. It is still in doubt cause it is in a new country. It is a new producer in the coal and iron industry.

STATE TO AID OF CONSUMPTIVES

Board of Health Decides to Draft Bill for Public Hospital.

PLAN IN EAST HAS PROVEN SUCCESSFUL

Best Method of Preventing Spread of Tuberculosis Has Been Found to Be Such Resorts and Measure Will Be Strongly Advocated.

At the meeting of the state board of health held Friday and yesterday in Astoria it was decided to draft a bill to be presented before the state legislature at the next session providing for the appropriation of funds for the maintenance of an open-air sanatorium for tuberculous patients. Dr. J. C. Smith of Pendleton was appointed to draft the bill.

This action of the state board of health is in keeping with a movement throughout the east, where war is being waged against the white plague. A number of the eastern states have established open air hospitals for consumptives and the results obtained have shown that open air treatment is one of the best methods yet employed to check the spread of tuberculosis. Hundreds of patients have been cured.

The open air sanatorium near this city, which was established two years ago by private individuals, has met with unexpected success. The members of the state board have closely watched results and the question of state aid for the maintenance of such an institution has been discussed by members of the board and others of the medical fraternity for many months.

The time is now thought to be opportune to start an agitation for an appropriation of funds to establish a state open air sanatorium for consumptives, and the members of the board and others in sympathy with the plan are preparing to make a strong fight for the passage of the bill.

THE WARY WORLD

"Don't you care to be known as a reconter?" "No," answered Senator Sorghum. "It is getting so nowadays that whenever you tell a man a funny story he thinks you are trying to get into his good graces for the purpose of making some kind of a financial play."
