Sigma Sigma, a junior honorary society of Stanford university, has sent out a circular letter to all alumni requesting that they do everything in their power to correct the exaggerated reports concerning the amount of damage done at Stanford by the recent earthquake. It announces that the university will open on schedule time, that by September all the buildings used last year will be in perfect condition and that the machinery in the shops and the apparatus of the laboratories have not been damaged. Encina hall, the men's dormitory, is ready for use, as is Roble hall, the home of the women. Stanford will lose none of her faculty and all of her old students will return. The football field and athletic grounds are uninjured and all athletic activities will be continued next year on the same scale as in the past.

A campaign of destruction of infected fruit trees was commenced yesterday by District Fruit Inspector J. H. Reid and Fruit Inspector A. J. Lewis of Clackamas county. Pursuant to the law giving them authority to destroy all trees not properly sprayed, the inspectors and a force of men armed with axes entered the farm of T. R. A. Sellwood at Milwaukie and destroyed a portion of his prune orchard. They also destroyed a lot of trees on the Minthorn Springs tract. Mr. Sellwood is threatening to sue for damages. The inspectors express the hope that suit will be brought so that the law may be tested.

A mother's circle, a branch of the Home Training association, was established yesterday afternoon at West Avenue school in Mount Tabor. This is the sixth circle formed this year. Principal E. J. Adams presided and addressed the mothers and Mrs. W. W. Payne and Mrs. R. H. Tate also spoke. Officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Mrs. J. C. Elliot King; vice-chairman, Mrs. A. H. Harding; secretary-treasurer, Miss M. E. Pease; members of the executive board, Mrs. R. H. Tate and Miss Mary E. Peary.

According to the schedule which was prepared before his departure, Dr. E. P. Hill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will return to Portland May 25. No definite announcement to that effect has been made by him, and nothing has been heard from him since he was in Jerusalem. However, it is believed that he will return on schedule time.

A special meeting of the Portland Ad Men's league will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be the last meeting before the "Made in Oregon" exposition, and members are urged to be present. Every member will be expected to make a two-minute talk. All window dressers in the city are invited to be present.

County Judge Lionel R. Webster and County Commissioners W. L. Lightner and F. C. Barnes are the guests today of the Eastern Star grange. Judge Webster was invited to address the meeting and spoke on the subject of good roads, promising that he would do everything in his power to have the highways of the county the best to be found in America.

Successful Incubators.—Cornell Incubators are very successful. They won gold medal at Lewis and Clark exposition for best hatch. If you want to raise chickens for pleasure or profit buy a Cornell. They are made right, work right, give no trouble. We know from experience, as we have operated them here in our store. If interested, call and see them. Portland Seed company, western agents.

E. S. J. McAllister will make a special address to women tomorrow afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. "at home" from 4 to 6 o'clock. There will be violin, piano and vocal music and readings. The delightful feature of these weekly "at homes" is the social good cheer followed by a fellowship lunch. All women interested are invited.

If you want to see your dollar magnify and increase spend it here. We make any suit in the house to order for $25, no more, no less, and guarantee value received for every dollar. We have over 2,000 patterns to select from. Style, fit and workmanship guaranteed. Unique Tailoring company, 209 Stark street, near Sixth.

The Polish national holiday will be observed tomorrow with high mass at St. Francis' church at 8:30 a. m. An address will be delivered in Polish by Father Seroski. The holiday falls on May 3, each year, but the local Poles decided to celebrate the day on Sunday with religious services.

Remonstrances against the improvement of East Washington street between East Sixth and East Eighth streets were filed yesterday by J. Wesley Ladd, executor of the estate of W. S. Ladd, deceased, and Joseph M. Healy. No reasons were given for the remonstrance.

East Main street between East Water street and Union avenue will be improved. Although there was considerable objection from affected property owners, the limit in which objections to the proceedings could be filed passed yesterday and none was presented.

Charles V. Galloway, Democratic nominee for congress from the first district, is arranging to make an active campaign during the next four weeks. He has already made a half dozen speeches. He will address a meeting at Corvallis Monday night.

A banquet and debate will be given at the White Temple Tuesday evening by Martin's Men of the White Temple. The subject for debate is, "Resolved, That the Business Man Is a Greater Benefactor Than the Professional Man." The speakers on the affirmative will be Rev. Elnathan Sweet and W. P. Baker; on the negative, J. A. Beckwith and Edgar Anderson. The banquet and debate will be held in the lower temple.

CONTRACTORS LIE TO GAIN TIME

Such Is Declaration Made to Executive Board by C. A. Cogswell.

EXTENSIONS ASKED WHEN MATERIALS ARE AT HAND

City Engineer Taylor Declares Time Allowed for Competition of City Contracts Is Sufficient and Should Not Be Lengthened by the Board.

"Many contractors on city improvements actually lie to this board when they say they cannot procure material to finish their work and ask for an extension of time on their contracts. When dishonest contractors do such a thing, it disheartens the honest ones and they will all misrepresent facts to this board. It is my opinion that we should draw them up short and force them to complete their contracts within the time specified."

This was the statement made before the city executive board yesterday afternoon by C. A. Cogswell, in a discussion of the advisability of lengthening the time for the completion of all city contracts. R. L. Sabin, who is a member of the street committee, said that recently many contractors had been asking to have the time extended on their contracts because they were unable to procure the necessary material with which to do the work. He desired to know of the city engineer and the board if they did not think it advisable to extend the time on contracts.

City Engineer Taylor said he thought the time fixed on all contracts was sufficient. Many of the contractors would frequently wait until the time for the acceptance of an improvement before they began work, and with only a few days left would petition the board, alleging one reason or another, for an extension of time. He thought that if a contractor on a city improvement would begin work as soon as the contract was awarded there would be no difficulty.

As a result of the discussion, the board hereafter will not be so lenient with contractors and whenever an extension of time is asked the contractor will have to give sufficient reason why his petition should be granted before the time is extended.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that whenever a contractor on city work desires an extension of time it shall be necessary for him to make an application for the extension at least 20 days before time on the contract expires.

FIRST SUNDAY EXCURSION.

The Fast Steamer Charles R. Spencer Will Tomorrow Carry Excursionists Up Through the Wild Mountain Scenery to Cascade Locks and Return—See the Celebrated Castle Rock.

The first river Sunday excursion of the season will depart from Oak street dock tommorrow morning at 9 o'clock when the elegantly equipped steamer Charles R. Spencer will steam away for the delightful trip up the Columbia to Cascade Locks. Every mite and atom of the world-famous scenery of the Columbia is seen on this run, including the now more than ever famous Castle Rock, the destruction of which is now in progress. This is one of the most noted sights of Christendom, appearing as it does to have been fashioned by the hand of some wonderful giant sculptor solely to entrance the human eye. Aside from this huge rock, rearing its massive head hundreds of feet toward the clouds, there are the $3,000,000 locks and and such a wealth of mountain scenery as beggars the most fertile descriptive powers of the most imaginative pen. Streams of water leap and bound from the pinnacles of the highest projections, dashing as in madness to the depths below, and the weird canyons, crevices and rocky cliffs create a panorama of gorgeous grandeur unparalleled on earth. The steamer will return to Portland at 6 p. m. Meals and refreshments may be had on board. Round trip $1.

SUBURB CLEANING TIME ARRIVES

Peninsula Leads in Seconding Work of Initiative One Hundred.

VACANT BLOCKS MAY BE USED AS PLAZAS

Parking of Streets, Tearing Down of Fences, Cleaning Up of Back Lots and Burning of Rubbish Goes on All Over East Side District.

East Side Department.

St. Johns and the peninsula is in hearty accord with the Initiative One Hundred in its desire to clean up the suburbs and bring the era of civic improvements closer to complete realization, and not only on the day set apart by the committee will the horizon near St. Johns glow with the crimson of burning rubbish heaps, but commencing next week a systematic effort is to be made to clear up vacant lots and sweep the streets regularly.

At a recent meeting of the newly organized Commercial club of St. Johns a board of directors was chosen and the work of the Initiative One Hundred was heartily supported. The board is: L. B. Chipman, C. W. Potter, F. W. Valentine, A. R. Jobes and R. W. McKeon. The club expressed its desire of cooperating in every way possible with the initiative committee and decided to start a publicity campaign for a cleaner town.

The University Park board of trade has also lined up with the general committee and the business men of that suburb and the adjoining one of Portsmouth are planning a neighborhood campaign similar to the one started last year by the women of the district, but more extensive in its scope. Through the peninsula there are many idle lots that would make admirable plaza sites, if the undergrowth was cleared away, and many of these are being held as an investment by outside owners. It has been suggested that such tracts be cleared of brush and weeds and serve as public amusement places until they are improved.

The nearer suburbs of the east side have not yet taken the interest in the cleaning campaign that the peninsula has, but several push club meetings will be held the coming week, at which the general plan will be considered and doubtless adopted. The individual residents of the suburbs like Irvington, Hawthorne Park and Piedmont have long had a well-developed local pride to sustain them and these suburbs are as beautiful as any suburb in the city on either side of the Willamette. The plan of tearing down unsightly fences and replacing these barricades with rose hedges has been popular during the last three summers in the better residence districts of the east side, and gradually the plan of parking the strip of lawn between the curb and the sidewalk is being adopted.

The present improvement campaign is expected to unite the thousands of individual lovers of a beautiful home to one general improvement plan and there is every indication that the east side will at the end of the summer be tenfold more attractive than it ever has been before. The extension of the water service to a dozen dusty suburbs will greatly aid this work, some of the most beautifully situated suburbs, like Mount Tabor, having in years before been a yellow, dusty desert before the middle of summer.

Dr. N. J. FULTON
NATUROPATH

Successful is the word that best describes her career since coming to Portland. Successful in curing disease, successful in building up what is today the largest office practice of any doctor in the city.

She Cures the Sick

This is why her offices are at all times full, and that people sometimes wait for hours to see her.

If you have any ailment, chronic or acute, such as rheumatism, la grippe, bronchitis, goiter, catarrh, stomach and bowel troubles, nerve troubles, etc., etc., you would do well to consult her. She can cure you.

TESTIMONIALS OF PEOPLE SHE HAS CURED.

"Portland, Oct. 17, 1905.

"To Whom It May Concern:

"I suffered a long time with serious stomach trouble, the disease having progressed so far that I was unable to retain my food, and finally found water to cause nausea; in short, my entire system was in a seriously depleted condition. On or about July 15 last I advised with Dr. Nancy J. Fulton, of this city, and was induced to take treatments from her, and after taking the twelfth I was discharged. I can now eat anything I desire, feel perfectly well and am constantly gaining strength. This marvelous change I can truthfully say is due to Dr. Fulton. CLYDE VAUGHN,
"Home, Jefferson, Or."

Note—Mr. Vaughn can be communicated with at Jefferson, Or., or his father, Eli Vaughn, can be seen at the New Grand Central, corner Third and Flanders, this city.

"October 20, 1905.

"To Whom It May Concern:

"It affords me great pleasure to write a word in praise of Dr. Fulton. I suffered untold agony for one week with pain in my whole body. My husband called in whom we supposed was one of the best physicians in the city. He was not sure, but thought I had neuralgia, or it might prove to be gallstones, left medicine and thought I would be better next day; but I gradually grew worse; got no relief from pain except under opiates. Having heard of Dr. Fulton through friends of ours, we decided to call her in; so my husband went at once and brought her to the house. Upon examination she pronounced it a case of acute gastritis, and after one treatment I was able to get up, dress myself and go about my usual household duties. I have now taken a week's treatment and certainly think her the most wonderful doctor I ever met.

DOUBTFUL ABOUT MERGER.

Arleta Divided Over Question of Annexation to Portland.

The Arleta Improvement association will endeavor to determine on Monday evening what the attitude of the residents is concerning the question of annexation to the city. This move was started at a meeting of the East Side Improvement association some weeks ago, and received the support of the leading members of that organization. Later Arleta business men appeared before the association and secured the indorsement of that body to the annexation petition they were circulating.

It developed afterward that many residents of Arleta and the Mount Scott district were opposed to annexation to the city, and the session Monday evening will be for the purpose of deciding what the majority regard as the best action to take.

Those who oppose the merger with the city assert that they settled in Arleta to escape heavy taxes and city burdens, and that when they moved six and eight miles from the city they supposed they were beyond the reach of the annexation germ.

Those who favor the merger say the district has grown until there are about 10,000 people without adequate water facilities, fire protection, sewerage systems or police oversight and that the rate of taxation for the school needs of Arleta is at present nearly as heavy as it would be in the city for the entire assessment. In return those opposing annexation remark that it would be years in any event before sewerage service and fire protection would be afforded in the district of Arleta, and that the need of police protection is far from urgent.

DISCIPLES ARE ORGANIZED.

Cooperative Christian Community Is Started at St. Johns.

The Disciples, a Christian cooperative community, has been started in St. Johns, and should the same growth be experienced that followed the inauguration of the sect 10 years ago in Wisconsin the formation of the congregation at St. Johns means the growth on the peninsula of a Christian industrial community that will endeavor to carry out the ideals of Christianity on a business basis.

Rev. E. A. Childs is the head of the movement, and recently closed a two weeks' meeting in St. Johns, during which time he enrolled 40 men and women in the new congregation. A tent has been pitched in the town, and during the summer Mr. Childs will personally superintend the new flock.

In Wisconsin Mr. Childs built up a community in Marquette county, and finally the town prospered so that a site was purchased, named Endeavor, and in a few years became one of the busiest towns in central Wisconsin.

A college, a brickyard and manufacturing plans of various sorts were successfully operated on the cooperative plan, and the business ability of Mr. Childs became noted throughout the state. The sect has simple beliefs, approaching those of the Quakers, or Friends, the absolute division of property and the sharing of their fellows' burdens being the foundation of their simple creed.

CHILDREN ARE GENEROUS.

Central Mount Tabor School Pupils Give Liberally to Relief Fund.

Of all the east side schools the Central, in the Mount Tabor district, probably did more for the San Francisco sufferers than any other, though the number of pupils attending this school is less by half than the attendance at several of the city institutions. The appeal for children's clothing that came shortly after the disaster appealed especially to the scholars, and from the eighth grade down to the primary tots there was an outpouring of garments. A big truckload of children's clothing was sent from the school to the Portland relief committee.

The children also purchased and donated more than 100 quarts of canned fruits, and raised in cash nearly $10.
