

LOCAL PREACHERS TRY TO BECOME CHESTY

Anti-Flannel Brigade Swoops Down Upon Portland Pastors and Teaches Them It Is Sinful To Be Weak.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, except a man refrain from wearing flannels he cannot enter the kingdom of heaven." That is Professor Flynn's revised version of the family text.

Professor W. Earl Flynn and Mrs. Louise MacIntyre have come to Portland as physical evangelists, as opposed to spiritual evangelists, declaring that poor health is a crime and not a misfortune at this stage of civilization. Sunken chests and rounded shoulders are a sign of willful ignorance, and people must be educated. They have come to Portland to convert the city and have made an excellent start in winning 35 ministers.

Ministers Are Won Over.
These ministers believe in spreading the gospel of physical strength and will proceed to help in converting the whole town. They have agreed to rise at an early hour every morning and to appear for rollcall at 8 o'clock to go through their "one, two, three, four" exercises. This morning they sat and listened passively to Mr. Flynn while he robbed them of their prerogative of speaking and preaching. They all agreed to become chesty, and more than that to make their congregations chesty, and to do this a committee was appointed to arrange for passing the good word along.

Mass Meeting To Be Held.
A mass meeting for men and women both will be held at the White Temple at 8 o'clock next Tuesday, which will be addressed by Professor Flynn, Mrs. MacIntyre and several of the pastors. Demonstrations will follow for the men and women in separate rooms by Mr. Flynn and Mrs. MacIntyre. A similar meeting for the east side residents will be held at the Cumberland Presbyterian church Wednesday evening.

Professor Flynn and his co-worker give lectures to interest people in medical gymnastics. Ten of the most prominent homes in the city have been thrown open to their lectures and the attendance will be by invitation only. Mrs. H. W. Corbett's home will be the place for the first lecture at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. William Ladd's home will be thrown open on Friday, and Mrs. A. E. Rocky's the following Tuesday. At these parlor meetings ten lectures will be given preparatory to the work at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Mr. Flynn and Mrs. MacIntyre will be advance agents for their own work, which will follow in the shape of seven special lessons in medical gymnastic work. These lessons will be free to those who take out membership in the association gymnasium.

Will Give Special Lessons.
The special lessons for men and women will be given at the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. One of the indirect results looked for in the introduction of this work is the enforced realization of the need of a gymnasium at the Y. W. C. A., that the young women may not be confined only to such little athletic work as the facilities of the men's gymnasium can spare them.

Professor Flynn and Mrs. MacIntyre and their corps of teachers have just arrived from San Francisco, where, after a thrilling escape from the eleventh story of their hotel they succeeded in departing with none of their stock in trade remaining but their knowledge. They have given these lectures in many of the leading cities of the east, usually in connection with churches or Christian associations, and have met with great success. Their special lessons give instructions as to the care of the eyes, the digestion and many points of general health which should be general knowledge.

TO FLOAT THE ELDER

four large pumps of immense capacity. When the slides are covered with canvas the pumps will be used to work and water pumped from the main deck. It is estimated that there are 2,000 tons of water on the main deck and the elder will be lightened in that amount before tomorrow. Cleared of that weight, her main deck the stranded vessel will be held to the rock only by the weight of the water in her hold. It is believed that the immense volume of water in her hold will be pumped out by Saturday morning, when the old steamer is expected to right herself in condition for her voyage to Portland. The work of reclaiming the aged vessel has been abandoned in her distress by both owners and insurance underwriters in charge of Captain H. W. Baker of Detroit, who has had wide experience in reclaiming wrecks on the great lakes and on the Atlantic coast. He is positive that he will raise the vessel Saturday and arrive in Portland with her early next week. He and all who are working on the vessel are firm in the belief that she will again resume the run she had for 32 years.

Condition Is Desperate.
Though confident the vessel will be raised, Captain Baker admits that her condition is desperate and that the work of raising her has been retarded by the eddies and currents which abound in the river at that point. One hundred feet to the starboard side of the steamer lines were dropped to a depth of 100 fathoms, or 600 feet, and no bottom was discovered. Between that point and where the submerged vessel lies there abound large rocks that reach to within 10 feet of the surface. The bow of the boat rests over 100 feet of water, while a current of from eight to ten miles an hour races alongside her. On her port side the stream breaks with huge rocks, which rise menacingly above the surface. Approach by other vessels to assist in raising her is accordingly precarious and the only one to venture close to the wreck is the tug Resolute, which moves the scows and pontoons that cluster around the elder.

The old vessel lies only partly submerged with her port side high above the water's edge. She leans heavily on her starboard side, which is completely submerged. Her steel hull is badly corrugated and tons of machinery lines were dropped to a depth of 100 fathoms, or 600 feet, and no bottom was discovered. BIG RAILWAY SUIT CONTINUES

Examination of Witnesses at Vancouver Is Proceeding Slowly Before McCredie.

CROSS EXAMINATION OF SENATOR RAND RESUMED

Of More Than a Score, but Three Have Been Before Court and Several Days Must Elnapse Before Case Is Concluded.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., May 9.—The suit of the Portland & Seattle Railway company against the Columbia Valley Railway company to compel the latter to either give up certain rights of way or show reason why it should retain the same, now being heard before Superior Judge McCredie, is by far the most interesting and important case to come to ever take place in the northwest. Out of the 20 or more witnesses to be examined only three have been before the court.

The first witness yesterday was N. D. Miller, chief engineer of the Portland & Seattle Railway company. He told in a straightforward way of what the company had done and the work now mapped out. The next witness was James B. Kerr, assistant secretary of the Portland & Seattle and one of its attorneys. He told of the organization of the company and gave general information as to what it intended to do. With the testimony of Mr. Kerr the Hill company rested its case and Senator E. M. Rand, secretary of the Columbia Valley company, was put on the witness stand.

Senator Rand admitted openly that the Columbia Valley company was a Harriman institution, giving the names of Frank G. Bletcher and J. P. Boyle, partners of Harriman, as the principal stockholders. The court adjourned with Senator Rand on the witness stand. This morning his cross-examination was resumed by Judge McCredie. So slow are the witnesses being examined that it is expected it will be Friday before arguments are commenced. Yesterday and today's session brought forth an array of legal talent. For the Columbia there were George W. Stapleton, Judge M. L. Pipes and W. E. Stone. For the Portland & Seattle, James B. Kerr, T. R. Reed, G. R. Avery and A. L. Miller.

MRS. JOSEPH JEFFERSON AND CHILDREN QUARREL

(Journal Special Service.)
Boston, May 9.—A quarrel has broken out between the children of Joseph Jefferson, the actor, and the widow over the estate. Mrs. Jefferson is appearing in court here to defend her claims. She claims that the children, with the exception of her husband's care of her during her lifetime and of the provisions in his will and expressed a determination to enforce the agreement that the money to be of Jefferson's pictures netted $239,000 and the children claim that the proceeds should go to them instead of to their mother.

Speyer to Construct Philippine Railroads

(Journal Special Service.)
Manila, May 9.—On motion of Commissioner Cameron Forbes, the Philippine commission decided to send a telegraph secretary Taff recommending the acceptance of the bid of Speyer & Co. for construction of a railway system in the Philippines. The bidder and the government mutually eliminated several objectionable features contained in the original bid. The commission is now satisfied with all the proposed terms except the period of construction, which it thinks unnecessarily long.

No Literary Students at Cornell This Year

(Journal Special Service.)
Ithaca, N. Y., May 9.—Although Cornell University has a student enrollment of more than 3,000, the university faculty is unable to find a single student proficient enough in English literature to be awarded the Browning prize, a $100 award made annually by the English department to the student who should write the best competitive essay on the great English poet and author. Several essays were submitted, but none came up to the standard, so the prize will not be awarded this year.

Poor and Rich Alike Suffer From Lack of Good Food

We notice that John Spargo, in his new book, "The Bitter Cry of the Children," says no less than two million American children between the ages of five and fourteen are victims of chronic under-feeding. They are the easy prey of disease, nervous, irritable, weak and physically and mentally unfitted for that perfect development which Nature intended for them. Mr. Spargo speaks particularly of the children of the poor, but what he says is in thousands of cases, true of the children of the wealthy and the comfortably well-to-do. Many children who have "all they can eat" are really under-fed. For the food which they are given is not food from which they can get the nutrition they need. There is no other food, so far as we know, so well adapted to strengthening the children as Malta-Vita, the perfect malted whole-wheat food. This is not only because Malta-Vita is so rich in the nutrition the body needs for sustaining health and strength. More important by far is the fact that the nutrition of the malted wheat is so easily digested and assimilated that all its life-giving elements are taken up by the system, forming rich, red blood in abundance and giving growth and vigor to body and brain. Malta-Vita is insurance of perfect health for children and it is so good to eat! All grocers.

Visit of Harriman to Seattle Has No Significance With San Francisco Situation.

NORTHERN TOWN TO BE THIRD PORT OF SYSTEM

Union Pacific Sending Oregon as Much of Its Trade as It Can Divert Temporarily—Metropolis Will Not Be Deserted.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, May 9.—In the Wall Street Journal officials of the Union Pacific say the earnings in freight traffic and in passenger traffic for the past two weeks have shown a considerable effect from the destruction of San Francisco and from the large amount of free transportation given by the Harriman lines. Overland traffic for the transpacific routes is expected to be moving freely and in normal volume about the middle of this month, but it is undoubtedly true the Union Pacific is sending as much of its Portland as can be diverted from San Francisco. This is a temporary arrangement, as Harriman has announced that he intends to hold all possible trade at the Golden Gate. The visit of E. H. Harriman to Seattle has nothing to do with the San Francisco situation. It does not mean that Seattle has gained any new importance to the Harriman system since the fire.

Seattle is to be the third Harriman port on the Pacific ocean with San Francisco first, Portland second and Seattle third. It will probably be a great many years before the Harriman line into Seattle has assumed anywhere near the importance of the Harriman line into either of the other ports.

ARTIST KILLS HIMSELF NEAR REFUGEE CAMP

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, May 9.—What is supposed to be the remains of G. Cadanasso, a San Francisco artist, was found in the underbrush near the refugee camp at Fort Mason. Identification was made by means of papers on the body, the corpse being so badly mutilated that identification was impossible. It was evidently a case of suicide. Cadanasso lost everything he had in the earthquake and fire, but opened a studio a few days later in one of the refugee camps. He had been missing for some days and was supposed to have gone over to Oakland.

WOMAN COMES TO RESCUE OF TRADERS' INSURANCE COMPANY

(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, May 9.—Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, who before her marriage was Rosalie Sturges, is making a determined effort to save the Traders' Insurance company, despite a receiver, and pay all claims, at least all San Francisco claims, in full. Today she came from her home in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, to see what could be done. "Heirs of the Sturges estate certainly do not want the company which our father helped to found to go out of existence, and especially without paying its losses in the San Francisco fire," she said. Her husband came over with her and they, after interviewing other stockholders, she holds a very large block of Traders' stock. It is said other stockholders would favor almost any plan that would preserve the Traders' stock, and that they would cease without a blemish upon its career.
