BRUIN AND SLOVER ATTACKED

Their Case Against McGinnis Termed a Malicious One.

ATTORNEY C. M. IDEMAN MAKES STRONG CHARGES

Asserts That Police Officials, Instead of Patrolman, Should Face Jury on Charge of Contributing to Girl's Delinquency.

"Police Captains Bruin and Slover are the men who should be arrested and held on trial before a jury on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of this girl. I haven't any time for these stoopidities and this manufactured testimony.

Looking squarely into the faces of the police captains and denouncing former Attorney-General C. M. Ideman this morning rebuked Captains Bruin and Slover for the part they had taken against former Patrolman E. P. McGinnis, now on trial before a jury in Judge Sears' department of the circuit court on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of Kitty Moore, aged 15 years.

"The state's testimony in this case will be principally the story told by this girl," continued Ideman, "who will show that at the time this crime is said to have been committed Mr. McGinnis was at the police station.

"The testimony will show that if anybody is guilty of the delinquency of this girl it is Captains Bruin and Slover, who put up a job to have the girl get McGinnis off his best so that they could get him out of the police force. The evidence will show that the testimony against this defendant is manufactured. This girl told Mr. McGinnis that a Mrs. Dornaise wanted to see him regarding her drunken husband, McGinnis went to see Mrs. Dornaise and she told him she could not talk to him then. Later he was talking with the girl about the case. And then he was arrested by Bruin and Slover."

"The police captains referred to sat in the courtroom all morning. Judge Sears ordered all spectators other than witnesses excluded. Deputy District Attorney Gus C. Moser, in telling the jury the state's side of the case, said that McGinnis might have been indicted on a far more serious charge than the one he now faces. McGinnis was arrested on the evening of March 8 by Captains Bruin and Slover. The policeman was said to be sitting, talking with the Moore girl, at the time of his arrest.

HE WAS NOT A CITIZEN

(Continued from Page One.) of intention to become an American citizen. I do not know whether he ever took out final papers. I supposed that his act in declaring his intention not only made him a citizen, but also made me a citizen. I was then a minor. I voted for Hayes in 1876 and continued to vote thereafter, in the belief that I was a citizen. In 1888 some doubts arose in my mind as to whether any further act on my part was necessary to complete my citizenship. To set at rest all possible doubt, I took out naturalization papers. The evidence shows that the testimony indicates that Mr. Withycombe's father never took out final papers and therefore never became a citizen. James Withycombe himself admits that he does not know what his father intended to do. Plainly he was of the opinion in 1888 that his father never did take out final papers, otherwise James Withycombe would not have thought it necessary to apply for citizenship. No doubt Mr. Withycombe acted in entire good faith when he assumed to exercise the privilege of voting as an American citizen prior to 1888. But equally without doubt he had then no legal right to vote and in the eyes of the law was as much an alien as when he landed at Castle Garden.

Section 2172, revised statutes of the United States, provides that the minor children of a foreigner who becomes naturalized shall themselves become citizens. But the law is clearly established that a mere declaration of intention does not convert a foreigner into an American citizen, and when James Withycombe's father made such a declaration it did not operate to make either him or his son a citizen of the United States. This principle is established by the case of Lane vs. Ball, 4 Dillon, United States circuit court reports, and by numerous other decisions. In the case cited it was held that an alien who had declared his intention and who thereafter voted for 15 years was still an alien, for the reason that he had failed to take out final papers. But it took 17 years of residence in the United States to make James Withycombe a citizen with the law, despite its vital importance to himself.

In 1888 James Withycombe began to entertain political aspirations. He desired to be a candidate for the legislature and he seems to have come to a tardy realization of the necessity of becoming a citizen. He accordingly took out final papers and entered politics a year later. He was appointed state veterinarian by Governor Penoyer.

PRIMARY NOMINEES MUST FILE THEIR ACCEPTANCE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Albany, Or., May 11.—A question has arisen among the candidates for office in Linn as to whether or not it was necessary for the nominee to file an acceptance with the clerk after he notified them of his nomination. The petition that is filed by the aspirant for office before the primary nominating election reads as follows:

"I will accept the nomination, and will not withdraw, and I am elected will qualify as such officer." In the face of this Attorney-General Crawford has decided that the nominee of the party must accept before he can legally have his name printed on the regular ballot for the June election.

GRAND DUKE ALEXIS TO RESIDE IN PARIS

(Journal Special Service.) Paris, May 11.—Grand Duke Alexis is so discouraged by the insecurity of things in Russia that he has shaken the dust of his native land forever off his feet and he purchases a permanent residence in Paris. His new home, a sumptuous palace at Parc des Princes, close to the fortifications, will, when completed, be the possible exception of the Trianon, be the stately private residence in the French capital. Alexis has always been a Parisian at heart and is said out of sheer disgust with his own country, and above all with his imperial nephew, to have recently expressed a desire to become a naturalized Frenchman.

IROQUOIS THEATRE IS DECLARED INSOLVENT

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Ill., May 11.—Creditors of the Iroquois Theatre company, which was adjudicated bankrupt last month, met today to appoint a trustee and confer regarding their claims. Nearly all the merchandise creditors of the company have been paid out of the money secured by the sale of the theatre. The creditors who will suffer are those suing for injury by the great fire in December, 1903, and executors of the estates of the hundreds of victims of the catastrophe. These damage claims aggregate $1,000,000, and there is now little possibility that any of them will be realized on.

Immigrant's Big Head Keeps Him Out

From the New York American. The first case on record where an alien seeking admittance to this country has been refused passage to wit by the immigration authorities on account of the size of his head is Mordecai Feller, an 18-year-old Russian boy, who arrived recently on the steamship Campana. Young Feller was a descendant of Samuel Feller No. 72 Orchard street. "All of the members of my family have abnormally large heads," the elder Feller said last night. "I had no idea that my son would be excluded from this country on account of the size of his head, although it is so large that he can't get a hat to fit it. The size of my hat is 28, but I was never considered 'washed mentally.' I shall appeal my son's case to Washington."

ACCEPTS MONEY AND SUIT IS WITHDRAWN (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., May 11.—Jerry Henkle of Philomath, who recently filed an injunction suit against the new mountain water system of Corvallis, has accepted $700 from the water board and the suit will be dismissed. This agreement was reached at a special meeting held this week, and this will end one of the injunctions that has been pending. This was brought by Henkle for damages that he would suffer in lessened power at his mill near Philomath by the Rock creek supply being tapped by the new water company. The injunction suit of Dr. G. R. Farra, which was brought on practically the same grounds as that of Henkle's, is to be argued by Judge Harris at 2 o'clock Saturday. The outcome is awaited here with much interest. Dr. Farra is the owner of the old water plant and there has been much friction between him and the new company. The Cause Diagnosed. From the Baltimore American. "I wonder why there is so much talk and gossip in the city?" "Probably it is all due to the parrot game and repeating riles."

Works on His Farm at 84 Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Emery of Caro, Mich., aged 84 and 80 years respectively, unite in praising Duffy's Malt Whiskey, to which they both give credit for their remarkable healthfulness and vigor. It Makes the Old Young, and the Young Strong. MR. REUBEN EMERY. Mrs. Sarah Emery. Mr. Emery, who is nearly eighty-five years old, is as active as a boy, and takes pleasure in performing the most difficult and fatiguing work on his farm at Caro, Mich. Mrs. Emery, who is seventy-nine years of age, finds Duffy's invaluable as a tonic stimulant and strength-builder and cheerfully testifies to the great benefit she has derived from its regular and judicious use. The following letter from Mr. Emery is expressive of his deep appreciation: "I am now nearly eighty-five years old, having been born in Staffordshire, England, August, 1821. I have been a very moderate drinker of intoxicants for the past sixty-four years, and have taken scarcely any medicine but Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in all that time. I have had a doctor only twice in my life, and have always been able to do, and even at present, do all work necessary on my farm at Caro, Tuscola Co., Mich. "My wife, Mrs. Sarah Emery, has also been benefited by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. She is now seventy-nine years old. "Some years ago, when Mrs. Emery was run down, our family doctor, Clark, of Caro, Mich., recommended Duffy's, and after taking it for a short time she was restored to perfect health. "We both highly recommend the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for every one, young and old, on account of its wonderful rejuvenating and strength-building qualities and will cheerfully answer all letters of inquiry. We are at present staying with our daughter, Mrs. Kresin, but will return to our own farm at Caro, Mich., in the spring. REUBEN EMERY, 730 Chestnut St., Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 1, 1904. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey If you wish to keep strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions, and take no other medicine. It is dangerous to fill your system with drugs; they poison the body and depress the heart (quinine depresses the heart), while Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is the only whiskey that is pure medicine, and contains no fusel oil. This is a guarantee. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has stood above all other whiskeys for years and has always been found absolutely pure and to contain great medicinal properties.
