If 75 real estate firms in Portland sign the constitution promulgated the document becomes binding and the Portland realty board will be expected to become a living and vital force among the business organizations of the city. At a meeting held last right the progress of organization work was discussed and printed copies of the constitution were distributed. Forty-five dealers have already signed the board's membership list, but these are not regarded as sufficient to form a strong and effective organization. A committee will circulate the constitution for signatures and an opportunity will be given every dealer in the city to attach list name.
