There is a big fight on between the sugar refineries of the Pacific coast and today there was a sharp decline of 75 cents per 160 pounds in the quotations in the wholesale markets.

This is the heaviest decline ever shown in this market at one time and signified the decision of the Western Sugar Refining company—the western combine—to do battle with its competitor, the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining company.

For over a year prices on sugar in this market have been much too high on account of the tack of opposition. Sugar could be purchased in this New York market from the eastern trust and shipped to this coast and after paying the enormous freight charges stocks could be laid down in this city for less money than the same goods could be purchased and shipped from California refineries.

The fight between the sugar refineries has been anticipated for some time and there were fears among the trade a short time ago that the two interests had made up. The sharp cut in prices today proves otherwise however, and more cuts in quotations are anticipated.

Wenatcheer, Wash, May 15.—The steamer Selkirk of the Columbia & Okanogan company's fleet, en route from Wenatchee to Pasco, was wrecked in Rock Island rapids at 8 o'clock this morning. The boat had been sold to Coughran, Winters & Smith, railroad contractors of Spokane, who intended using the vessel to haul railroad supplies up the Snake river from Pasco to be used on the Northern Pacific litor from Lewiston to Pasco.

Rock Island rapids are very dangerous at all times, there being a ten-foot fall in the Columbia river in a distance of half a mile. It cannot be navigated in low water, but the owners thought the Selkirk could navigate it at the present high water. The boat was going slowly down stream and Captain C. C. Griggs, at the wheel, gave an order to back, which was misunderstood by the engineer. The vessel was turned broadside and struck starboard amidship on a large rock in the center of the stream. Scraping along the rock, the vessel turned and drifted backward down stream, Engineer Pitoux stuck to his post and the captain beached the boat on the sandy beach. The hull of the steamer will be a total loss. The engine, boiler and fixtures were sayed. The entire crew on the boat, six in number, escaped without a welting. No passengers were on board.

The sense of the meeting was simply favorable to some settlen by the city council that would give the city ultimate control on Front street. The bill of exceptions submitted by the committee indicates its views as to the details of the proposed franchise. The points raised show to some extent where the franchises should be medified if they are to be passed.
