

REPUBLICANS ARE PRAISING WORD

In Address, Judge McGinn Says
Sheriff Drove Parasites
From Portland.

MADE PROMISES AND KEPT ALL OF THEM

Speaker Exhorts Republicans to Be Sufficiently Patriotic and Broad-
Minded to Scratch Ticket in the Name of Decency and Morality.

"When Tom Word was elected sheriff of Multnomah county there were 17 big gambling establishments in this city, through whose hands $750,000 passed every year. Word promised to enforce the laws, but it was said this could not be done, yet within two weeks after he had taken the oath of office all of these places were closed. And they have remained closed."

Judge Henry E. McGinn began his speech last night at the Artisans' hall, at Front and Gibbs streets, with this statement:

"I am a Republican," said Judge McGinn, "and I am speaking to Republicans, but when it comes to the election of local officers, with me it is a question of merit. All of you know that when gambling was running here who aspired to office had to go to the gambling houses to get the nomination. The gamblers and their hangers-on dictated the politics of the city and county."

"I am not saying a word against Robert Stevens. He is an admirable kind of a man, but stop and look at those who are supporting him. I said a few days ago in a speech that Stevens' picture adorned every disreputable house in this city. Orders went out this morning for all of these pictures to be taken out and today not one of them remains. See how quickly the divekeepers obey their masters."

Drove Parasites From City.

"Tom Word is the first sheriff Multnomah county ever had who drove the parasites from the city. Since he came into office the Portland club, Fritz's, Blaziers and Erickson's are no more. The remark was made to me the other day that Tom Word has fed more people than any other man in the city. How is that? I asked. The reply was: 'Because more men have gone home on Saturday nights with their wages than ever before in the history of the town.'"

Judge McGinn ridiculed the idea of carrying politics into a fight for common decency and for law and order. He exposed the fallacy of the attempt of some candidates to get into office by hanging on to the popularity of a Republican president and other good and popular Republicans.

"The other day," he said, "a faro dealer stood on the street and whined: 'If you don't vote for Bob Stevens you will be going back on old Abe Lincoln and Teddy Roosevelt.' This is the size of the arguments that are being used against Mr. Word."

Gambling-Houses Mean Craft.

"Whenever you see a gambling-house running open in defiance of the law, know ye and know it well, some officer of the law is getting a graft. These flagrant violations of the law are being paid for and paid for in money."

Judge McGinn closed by again exhorting Republicans to be sufficiently patriotic to scratch the party ticket in the name of decency and morality.

"I am a Republican," he again said, "but when the Republicans begin to stand for the special interests and the favored few I do not know whether I am or not."

Preceding Judge McGinn, Attorney Miller Murdock made a short speech, advocating the election of Sheriff Word. Mr. Murdock is also a Republican.

The meeting last night was under the auspices of the Municipal league. At the close chairman McAllister made a few remarks on the question of the proposed amendment to the local option law. He opposed the amendment.

Sell it in the Clothing

If the first day of the sale is to be a criterion the dealer who has contracted for the men's suits remaining from our suit sale at the end of next week will have very, very few suits to take away. The manner in which Portland's economic buyers grasped the opportunity of securing a suit at factory cost proves conclusively to our satisfaction that our advertisement of this sale has attracted widespread attention. The fine stock and at factory prices has made a record in selling of clothing which has never been equaled in this city. Not more careful were we in the selection of merchandise, when buying stock for our new store, than in the selection of the language in which we clothed our announcement. The latter reflects the former—both dovetail and meet your unqualified confidence. We tell only of what is here—and as you'll find it—never an overdrawn statement, never an inflated valuation—always the truth about the truth. Every statement made we hold ourselves as responsible for as we do for the merchandise we sell. We repeat—Take Nothing for Granted! Come and look over the invoices on which the goods were billed to us by the manufacturers and convince yourself that you can buy these splendid bench tailored suits made for this spring and summer trade at FACTORY COST. These wholesale prices will prevail to the end of this sale, which enable you to secure Men's Clothing at Factory Cost, which means one half of the usual prices paid:

BUILDERS LIE AND HURT CITY'S REPUTATION

Injure Portland's Showing by Giving False Figures in Building Permits.

How to force property-owners to give the correct cost of a contemplated building when they ask for a building permit is the problem which the health and police committee of the city council will try to solve soon.

It has long been a thorn in the side of Portland boosters that Seattle's building permits showed a greater figure than Portland's. And it has always been known that the practice of builders and property-owners of giving less than the true cost was responsible for this distasteful fact.

The matter was discussed at the meeting of the council last night. Councilman Sharkey introduced a new building ordinance by which a flat rate of $1 for each permit was provided. By the present building ordinance $1 is to be paid the city for each $1,000 of the cost of the structure for which the permit is issued.

"Mr. Richardson of the Oregon Development league tells me that while Portland is doing twice as much building as Seattle our permits show that we are doing only half as much," declared Mr. Sharkey. "It is the custom to save a few dollars by understating the cost of nearly every building for which a permit is taken out. I would suggest that a special committee be appointed to revise the building ordinance and compel proper valuations to be given."

Mr. Shepherd is chairman of the health and police committee, and insisted that the ordinance be referred to that committee. Shepherd's committee will find its hands full of trouble before the problem is solved, for the custom has been employed so often and for so many years that various councilmen and special committees have wrestled in vain with the question.

The REALM FEMININE

By HELEN HAWTHORNE

The women who balk in the marriage service at the word "obey" have scored a victory in the Presbyterian church, for in the new book of service of that church the word that has caused worlds of discussion has been omitted. This victory will no doubt bring joy to the maids of Oregon who favor equal suffrage. No doubt many of them will avail themselves of the service which omits "obey," for if they do get the ballot they will not have to listen to the commands of their husbands to vote a certain ticket. When one, however, considers of what little importance that one word was in comparison with the importance of the other marriage vows, the victory is of rather trifling moment. Take the first vow; that to love her prospective husband as long as she lives, is rather a serious undertaking. To promise to love as long as you shall live is undertaking to fulfill a condition which the circumstances of life or of personality may render impossible some day. Many good women have learned how love can change, or rather how an altered life, either her own or that of her husband, has made impossible the love she promised at the altar.

The second vow, according to the old routine, was to honor. It is another matter, rather outside of mortal scope. The promise made of honoring a man is undoubtedly the intention of every woman when she makes that vow. Time goes by and it may happen that that man may become a drunkard. He may, he may intrude. He may be mean, or a scoundrel who has neither principle nor morality. Surely honor cannot be given to such a man, for where a woman feels contempt she cannot give honor. These are two vows given at the marriage altar which frequently run into conflict with human nature, while obeying is simply a matter of will. Therefore, the reformers have abolished something every woman could control and a thing that has seldom, if ever, proved a burden; yet they leave to be given vows which may sometimes become impossible of fulfillment.

STARTLED THE FACULTY.

The girls at Barnard college, New York, the other day presented their annual play and in several instances startled the faculty. First, by parading the stage in disguises that satirized the faculty and other university dignitaries. The real starter occurred in the second act. At that point of the play which had been reserved for a ballet, the lights in the theatre were suddenly extinguished. Imagine the horrified gasps and exclamations in the audience, especially from members of the faculty, when a spotlight suddenly brought to view what seemed to be eight pairs of bare legs dancing merrily to the accompaniment of a ragtime tune.

A PROBLEM SOLVED.

In reading some papers I came across the following, and while I have not tried it, I hope some of my readers will let me know how it works.
"In these days of thin shirtwaists and delicate neckwear it is sometimes a problem for the housewife to know just how to treat the waistline and lace so that they will not be too stiff. I have found the following rule an excellent one: Dissolve a tablespoonful of gum arabic in about three quarts of water and dip the articles to be starched into this liquid. Wring out and dry. After drying sprinkle them, roll them up and iron as usual. The gum arabic will not stick to the iron and it gives to the muslins and laces only the same amount of stiffness that is found in new goods."
"Once tried, it is found much superior to starch for delicate fabrics. The gum arabic can be bought for 25 cents per pound, and much cheaper at the wholesale druggists. An inferior grade is as good for this purpose as a high-priced quality."

SWEETBREAD SALAD.

Cook the sweetbread for 30 minutes in salted water, to which has been added a tablespoonful of lemon juice; then place it in cold water to harden; break it into small bits and mix with it one half its quantity of diced cucumber; pour mayonnaise dressing over all and serve on lettuce leaves garnished with slices of hard-boiled eggs.

NOTES OF WOMEN.

Mrs. Charles J. Corbett of Camden, New Jersey, like her husband, is a "steepie jack," and a few days ago went with him to the top of a 150-foot chimney in Camden and helped him to tear it down.
Miss Josephine Durand, daughter of the British ambassador, is an ardent horsewoman and frequently spends seven hours in the saddle galloping over the good roads near Washington.
Queen Wilhelmina is expecting the birth of an heir. A report to that effect was confirmed in court circles the other day.
Sarah Herring Sorrin of Tucson, Arizona, has been admitted to practice in the supreme court of the United States. She makes the twenty-fifth woman admitted to practice in the court.

BUILDINGS WILL BE ERECTED AT HERMISTON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Echo, Or., May 17.—Government buildings will be constructed at Hermiston within the next 30 days, to be used for work on the east Umatilla irrigation project. There will be a residence, office, cookhouse, wagon shed, storeroom and granary. All preliminary work is now under way for the construction of the big ditch, and actual work will soon be in progress.

view what seemed to be eight pairs of bare legs dancing merrily to the accompaniment of a ragtime tune. It was a mystery that needed explanation, and the girls fully expected they would have to give one. It came when the lights were again put up. A piece of black cloth had been drawn across the stage and in some manner the girls had hidden every portion of themselves except the supposed legs. They were not legs, however—only arms. Each small hand had been fitted tightly into a slipper and long practice after lecture hours had enabled the girls to keep accurate time to dance music with their arms.
