

WILL MAKE BRIDAL TOUR ALONG YUKON RIVER IN SMALL LAUNCH

through the chapter—the meeting, the engagement, the wedding and all that—and she begins on the last half—the best half—today, when she leaves Marshfield on the steamer Brookwater for the start of her long bridal journey. She and her husband will be in Portland tomorrow, will leave the next day for Seattle and then hurry to White Horse, Yukon territory, where the puffing white launch awaits them.

The launch is 30 feet long, beam 8 feet, draft 12 inches. It is fitted with a comfortable cabin, toilet-room, cook galley and combination pilot-house and engine-room. It has folding berths, folding table, locker, sideboard and all necessary conveniences. The engine is 10-horsepower. The boat is so constructed that it can be readily handled by a crew of one.

The groom is W. A. Reid, a prominent W. M. C. A. member now serving in Alaska as an international secretary. He has been in the north country since 1898, and there met Miss Sehlbrede, whose father, Hon. Charles A. Sehlbrede, was a government official.

The wedding took place at Marshfield yesterday. Miss Eickworth and Miss Hazel Jewett of Roseburg were bridesmaids. Misses Kruse, Bradley, Alkon and Risge, all of Marshfield, were flower girls. Mrs. Fred King Gettins was matron of honor. Franklin C. Birch attended the groom. A reception was held afterward. Each member of the bridal party was presented with a dainty souvenir in the shape of a gold nugget pin made in Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. Reid will make their home at Fort William, H. Seward, Alaska, after their return in September from the bridal tour.

A romantic meeting in faraway Alaska, a swift wooing, a fervent exchange of love promises under the soft light of a northern moon, a wedding afterwards in the girl's handsome Oregon home, with dainty bridesmaids in shimmering, silken gowns hovering about, and then, to crown all, a wonderful bridal tour along the golden waters of the Yukon to the vast, Arctic circle itself in a trim little launch designed especially for the comfort of two lovers. This is a chapter in the life of Miss Emma Sehlbrede of Marshfield, daughter of Charles A. Sehlbrede, late candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Oregon.

TUNNEL ROOF UNDER RIVER FOUND TO HAVE SAGGED

Tube Railroad Between New York and Brooklyn Delayed in Construction.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, May 18.—The rapid transit tunnel under the river from the Battery to Brooklyn may not be completed for two and a half or three years was the startling information unfolded by Mayor McClellan at a meeting of the rapid transit board when closely questioned by the mayor. Chief Engineer George F. Rice of the commission admitted the roof of the tunnel on the Brooklyn side had sagged from three to 18 inches and that 1,200 feet will have to be rebuilt. The company constructing the tunnel is a branch of the Interborough Rapid Transit company. The contract calls for its completion by the first of September. McClellan charged that the rapid transit board and the police had been deceived concerning the progress of the work and a resolution was adopted calling for a report from Rice giving the true condition.

"SAILOR" HARRY LANDERS IS NOW CANDIDATE FOR ASYLUM

"Sailor" Harry Landers of "Me and Dewey Fame" is in the county jail on the charge of being insane and unfit to run at large. Landers is telling his cellmates all about his brave deeds in the phantom navy, and dreams that he will soon pace fore and aft the quarter-deck of America's newest battleship. The latest thought that has flitted across the prisoner's mind and which caused an insanity warrant to be issued against him is that he is the sweetheart of a fair maiden, whom all the young men in the land are trying to steal from him. It is said that he even threatened to kill some of the gallants whom he thinks are trying to win his love from him.

Landers has done many queer things during his abode in the city of roses. He always told those who would listen to his talk bloodcurdling yarns about life in the navy, and generally ends his story with a vivid description of how "me and Dewey captured Manila bay." Every time one of Uncle Sam's men of war visited this harbor, Landers decked himself in a sailor's uniform and gambled about on the bosom of the Willamette in a cockle-shell row-boat, much to the amusement of the visiting jockies.

Once upon a time, Landers thought he would like to be appointed a consul to some foreign city. It is said that he can neither read nor write, and he appeared before Attorney Jay Upton, so the story goes, to have him fill out a blank. On one line in the paper was to be written the answer to the question, "How many languages does the applicant speak?" Upton was well acquainted with the "sailor," so the following answer was written: "Italian, English and Profane."

Some time afterward, Landers received a reply to his application from Washington. Upton could not be found, so Landers took the letter to another friend to read. The epistle proved to be a severe rebuke to Landers for his daring to tell of his ability to speak the "profane" language. The next time Landers saw Upton, the tribute paid to the attorney was forceful.

NEW A GOOD THING.

Wasn't All Day About Getting It. "I gave $475 for just such an instrument at another store," exclaimed a lady to her friend, who was selecting one of those largest size, strictly high-grade, fancy mahogany-wooded, upright pianos, at our closing-out sale, yesterday afternoon. She was sincere. Probably she paid $475 for just such an instrument, although we sold this style of piano for $435 during the past six months, but is now $327. See advertisement on page 3 for today's great bargain list. Eilers Piano House.

BOGUS CHECK MAN BREAKS INTO CITY JAIL

Shows His Nerve by Walking Into Police Station, Knowing That He is Wanted.

Jim Brown practically broke into the city jail last night, regardless of the fact that several charges of passing bogus checks stand against him. It was reported to the police, April 7, this year, that Brown was about the city passing bogus checks. Detectives Snow and Reasing followed the man until he surreptitiously left the city. Night before last he returned from Elgin, Oregon, and, it is alleged, at once began his criminal operations.

Yesterday afternoon the fellow attempted to pass a check calling for $14.79 on Ben Smith, the proprietor of a saloon at 125 North Sixth street. Smith suspected that the paper was worthless, although signed by J. H. Benson, the lumberman, for whom Brown said he worked. Smith said he would go to the bank and ascertain whether the paper was good, but as it was after banking hours he decided to accompany Brown to certain places where the latter said he was well known. Smith led him through Second and Oak streets and made an excuse to go into the police station.

KELLY BENEFIT TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

A vocal and instrumental musical concert will be given at the Heilig theatre tonight to assist the aged parents of Leonard J. Kelly, late night clerk in the Western Union office. Tickets, which may be exchanged for reserved seats at the Heilig box office, may be obtained at Graves' music store, J. K. Gill company, Woodard, Clarke & Co., Y. M. C. A. and the Postal Telegraph office.

Levy in More Trouble.

M. Levy, the second-hand dealer of 156 Columbia street, is in bad repute with the police for more reasons than one. He is the man who is accused by Detective J. A. Mears and Captain Bruin with an attempt to bribe a police officer while in the discharge of his duty. Today a warrant was issued for Levy's arrest on the charge of evading the ordinance which makes it necessary for persons in his class of business to keep a full register of all goods purchased. The attempted bribery case, if proven, will be taken up later.

Mighty Busy Times At "QUARTER-BLOCK OF FINE PIANOS"

The great closing out sale of fine Pianos, Pianolas, Pianola Pianos, Pipe and Reed Organs, Music Rolls, Cabinets, Office Fixtures, etc., at Eilers Piano House is attracting most widespread attention. The big establishment is crowded every minute of the day with people to take advantage of the great sacrifice.

There are some who are inclined to think that things are a little slow since the San Francisco catastrophe. "Nonsense." Give the people a "genuine" bargain in anything and there are buyers galore to seize the opportunity.

No combination of circumstances has ever brought piano prices so low as appear on our price tags now.

We're not "busted," but "boosted" out bodily by an unreasonable landlord who demands a rent that is actually 333 1-3 per cent higher than in Seattle and 20 per cent higher than in San Francisco. No use harping on this any longer, the published statements have told the story. We are to get out, and get out quickly. Only 12 more days in which to dispose of the largest, most complete and costly stock of strictly high-grade pianos and organs ever brought together under one roof.

Brand new beautiful Baby Grands and Uprights, Webers, Kimball and the time-honored Chickering, Hazeltons, Hobart M. Cables, Schumanns, Story & Clark, Haddorffs, and beautiful Pipe and Reed Organs, Pianolas, Music Rolls, Cabinets, etc., at virtually your own prices. Think of choicest of brand new Pianos, in fancy oak or mottled mahogany, or in elegant walnut cases, reliable New York makes for $156, $138 and even less; $325 styles for $182, $187 and $196. Regular $450 styles for $268, $253, etc., and several exceptionally fancy ones for $273, $314 and $327.
