

DAY IS DENOUNCED AT SYRACUSE

Defense of Standard Oil Trust May Lose University Chancellor His Post.

ENTIRE CITY INDIGNANT AT ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

Financial Support Annually Extended by John D. Archbold Puts Institution in Bad Light, but is Necessary to Meet Expenses.

(Journal Special Service.) Syracuse, May 18.—Chancellor Day of Syracuse university, who pushed to the defense of the Standard Oil company, and denounced President Roosevelt as an anarchist for his interference with corporations, may lose his position as a result of his attack. The entire city of Syracuse is indignant and denounces the chancellor, while Methodists are openly clamoring for his retirement. Day is out of town in the Adirondacks, where it is said he is fighting on the amount of deficit which John D. Archbold, of the oil trust, will be asked to meet this term.

Dr. Day is universally condemned in Syracuse for having committed a serious blunder, which will work great injury to the university. Prominent men in Syracuse—educators, bankers, merchants—are practically a unit in bitterly resenting the defense of Standard Oil methods for which their university is compelled to stand.

It is generally believed that as a result of Day's stand he will have to retire from the university. The one thing, it is said, that will prevent such a consummation is the fear that by Day's retirement the support of the Standard Oil company might be withdrawn from the institution.

But it is a fact that the university of the University of Syracuse is the money given it annually by Standard Oil. Therein by common consent is to be found the basis of Chancellor Day's harsh condemnation of William Randolph Hearst and the methods that are making to curb all trusts, and particularly the Standard Oil trust.

Millions Given. Archbold's contributions to Syracuse already amount to millions. They have frequently been made the subject of proud boasts by Chancellor Day in his public utterances. Archbold is relied upon regularly to make out a check for the financial deficit of the university corporation at the close of each university year.

Coming back to Archbold's financial connection with the university, the concrete reason for Chancellor Day's frantic defense of trust methods is found in the fact that Mr. Archbold is president of the board of trustees of the university, and in the past few years has given to it the athletic field, the new stadium, $400,000 toward a fund of $500,000 of which John D. Rockefeller contributed $100,000 more; he has recently built a new dormitory for the institution at a cost of $200,000; he has equipped the laboratories, helped to furnish libraries, given down into his pockets for general supplies, and, said before, writes a check for the annual deficit.

Students Disgusted. The students out at Syracuse university, by the way, are more or less disgusted. Many of them are farmers' sons who have had some experience of what the trusts have done to the agricultural interests. There are rumors that many of the boys will be withdrawn from the institution at the end of the present term. Many others had intended to enter but will be sent elsewhere. Those of the students who spoke of the matter at all today ridiculed Chancellor Day, who was formerly pastor of Archbold's church in New York.

LARGE TIN LODES IN ALASKA

Geological Survey Report Shows Valuable Deposits in Extensive Area.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, May 18.—An interesting account of the development of the York tin region, in Alaska, during 1905 is to be included in the forthcoming geological survey report of the United States geological survey concerning its work in Alaska during the past field season. The report gives a brief outline of the topography and geology of the York district and then describes the tin properties thus far known, which include both lode deposits and placer deposits. Should the lode deposits seem to carry sufficient values to pay for exploitation, they will have many advantages over placer deposits. They can be operated during the entire year while placer deposits can be worked only during the short open season, and the work is subject even then to the frequent delays and inconveniences caused by storms, floods and lack of water.

The lode deposits include those of the Lost river area, the Cape mountain area, the Buck creek area and the Ears mountain area. On Cape mountain prospecting for tin has been carried on since 1902, and a large amount of work has been done. Fine pieces of float tin were found at many places in the vicinity of Cape mountain, but it was not until 1904 that the first tin was found in place. During 1905 there were further discoveries of tin ore that made the outlook more encouraging. So far no producing tin lodes have been found in the Buck creek area, but several small tin-bearing veins were located last summer. Prospecting on Ears mountain continued during the season of 1905.

The only placer tin deposits found in Alaska that have had any output are those on Buck creek. They have produced to date about 91 tons of ore that would average probably 65 per cent of metallic tin. The other placer deposits described are those of Grouse creek, Lad, Fox creek and other creeks flowing into Loppa lagoon, Mint river, and of streams flowing from Ears mountain.

WEIRD POWER OF YOUNG GIRL

Strange Hypnotic Spell Exercised by the Wonder Child of New Hampshire.

EVOLVES POETRY WHILE IN STATE OF TRANCE

Writes in Horrible Convulsions and Attempts to Kill Herself at Times—On Trial for Shooting Sweetheart.

(Journal Special Service.) Hanover, N. H., May 18.—"The weird hypnotic power is possessed by this girl." This is the question that all the people of this section have been asking in regard to Ethel Sturtevant, a 17-year-old girl, who was given a preliminary hearing at Haverhill today on a charge of being implicated in the shooting of her sweetheart, Jesse Barden.

Whatever the outcome of the case may be, it will be long time before the neighborhood ceases to talk of "The Wonder Child," as the girl is called. Her mother, whose mysterious death three years ago, with the ensuing inquest, brought Ethel first before the public gaze, declared that the girl had been poisoned, others claimed that she had been hypnotized, but medical men, though puzzled, clung to the theory that she was afflicted with some disease akin to epilepsy.

Sinking into strange hypnotic trances and evolving poetry and prose on subjects far beyond her sane ken, again dreaming placidly and afterward averting she had spoken with spirits, at other times writhing in horrible convulsions, cursing, tearing her hair and often attempting suicide, the strange child seemed to be dominated by some fiendish mentality. In her normal state she was clever, though not precocious, bright and winsome.

The circumstances surrounding the shooting which has again brought her into the limelight are as mysterious as the other facts which have marked her young life. The shooting took place some three weeks ago, the victim being Jesse Barden, a young farmer boy who had paid court to Miss Ethel. He turned up at his home with a bullet embedded in his lung. For a week or more his life was despaired of. He accused his sweetheart of the crime, while she stoutly denied it. She was arrested, and on the long night ride to the county prison the unusual girl joked and twitted the sheriff and appeared to be in the highest spirits. There is a general feeling that the girl will be dismissed and left free to further mystify the community with her weird and inexplicable powers.

The raise includes the Northern Pacific main line, Gray's Harbor branch, Olympia branch, Port Townsend Southern and the old Union Pacific grade, all of which are now the property of the Northern Pacific railway.

No Trace of Tramp. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., May 19.—William Wilson, the soldier who was in charge of the car burned at Porter Tuesday, in which a man was found buried to a crisp, is still being held in the county jail. The body of the shepherd who was shot by one of the men of the posse who was in search of a man who escaped from the burned car, is being held awaiting the discovery of some of his relatives. The stranger who escaped and whose flight led to the death of Connelly, has not been found.

Child Badly Burned. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Weston, Or., May 19.—The 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bowers, who reside near the city in a serious condition from effects of a burnt. The child was sitting on a high stool near the stove and when the mother returned from an adjoining room where she had been for a few moments she found the child in flames. It is believed that the fire caught from a flying spark or match which might have been lying near. Physicians say that the child may recover.

ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup Pleasant to take and does not gripe or nauseate Cures Chronic Constipation, Stomach and Liver Trouble

Stimulation Without Irritation. ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup is a new laxative syrup combined with the delicious flavor of fruits, and is very pleasant to take. It will not gripe or sicken. It is much more pleasant and effective than Pills, Tablets and Saline Waters, as it does not derange the Stomach, or irritate the Kidneys, Liver or Bowels.

Constipation. ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup will positively cure chronic constipation as it restores the natural action of the intestinal tract. Ordinary cathartics may give temporary relief but the stomach is upset and the bowels are irritated without any permanent benefit having been derived.

The condition of the patient remains unchanged. The Stomach, Liver and Bowels have not been stimulated and in a few days a stronger purgative may have to be taken. This is why Pills and Aperient Waters never give permanent relief. Their violent action results in an unnatural movement of the bowels and it is necessary to keep taking them indefinitely.

Why ORINO is different. ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup is the only preparation that really acts upon all of the digestive organs. Other preparations act upon the lower bowel only and do not touch the Liver. It can very readily be seen that a preparation that does not act upon all of the digestive organs can not cure Chronic Constipation, Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, etc.

For Billousness and Sick Headache. Take ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup. It sweetens the stomach, aids digestion and acts as a gentle stimulant on the liver and bowels without irritating these organs.

Clears the Complexion. ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup stimulates the liver and thoroughly cleanses the system and clears the complexion of pimples and blotches. It is the best laxative for women and children as it is mild and pleasant, and does not gripe or sicken. Refuse substitutes.

OUR GUARANTEE Take ORINO Laxative Fruit Syrup and if you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Prepared only by FOLEY & CO., Chicago, Ill. SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY WOODARD, CLARKE CO. AND AND SKIDMORE DRUG CO.
