

GOVERNOR CHAMBERLAIN RETURNS TO PORTLAND

After Highly Successful Campaign Trip He Comes to Address Multnomah County Voters at Empire Theatre

Governor Chamberlain returned to Portland this morning after a highly successful series of meetings in the western and southern part of the state. He left Eugene at 7 o'clock this morning, stopped at Salem, where he transacted considerable official business, and reached here at 10:25 o'clock, going at once to his home on the east side. In the afternoon he spoke at the dedication of the Soldiers' monument. Great preparations are being made for the meeting here tomorrow night, which is to be addressed by the governor. All signs point to an immense crowd, as the friends of the chief magistrate, irrespective of party, are taking an enthusiastic interest in the affair, and are determined to make the closing rally in his behalf in this portion of the state a memorable one. The meeting is to be held in the Empire theatre. Several bands have been engaged and there will be no lack of good music. Besides Governor Chamberlain, the list of speakers will include Judge T. G. Hailey of the supreme court and C. K. Henry, who will speak as the personal representative of United States Senator John M. Gearin. Prior to his address in this city, Governor Chamberlain will speak at a meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon in Forest Grove. Provided the floods do not cause the suspension of railway traffic, he will start Friday for Umatilla county, where he is to close his campaign Saturday with an afternoon address at Weston and an evening address at Pendleton. He is slated over the political outlook, and confidently looks forward to his reelection by a decisive majority.

NUPTIAL CONTRACT SIGNED TODAY

King Alfonso and Princess Ena Attach Signatures to Paper Before Court.

FETES WHIRL ALONG IN BEWILDERING RAPIDITY

Marriage Ceremony to Be Performed Tomorrow—Madrid in Gala Attire and People Wild With Enthusiasm for Royal Couple.

(Journal Special Service.) Madrid, May 30.—The ante-nuptial fetes that have whirled along in bewildering splendor for nearly a week past have aroused the people to a high state of enthusiasm and everyone is agog in anticipation of the royal wedding. Venerable citizens of Madrid declare that tomorrow will add to their stock of recollections the memory of the greatest scenes of popular enthusiasm they have ever known. King Alfonso will be married to Princess Ena shortly after 11 o'clock and after the marriage the royal couple will pass before the people in open carriages accompanied by the usual accessories of military and official pomp. The line of march lies beneath seas of flags and red and yellow bunting and winds under beautiful arches adorned with ribbons of roses. Every housetop and window along the way has been sold for the pageant. Large numbers of mounted and unmounted troops drawn from every part of the kingdom will pit their strength against the masses of spectators who must struggle for positions in the streets. The people have entered into the celebration of the happy national event with intense enthusiasm. Their mood increased as Madrid took on fresh accretions of color, and today it appears as though everybody has quit business and lent his voice and presence to the popular revelry. The city is filled early and late with the crash and babble of voices. It is like a great circus, a huge blizzard and an endless succession of street fairs. Wherever the young king appears one sees repeated acts of the warm homes which distinguish the whole festival. The law of Spain requires the reading and signing of the nuptial contract and the "tomar de fijos"—a promise of marriage. This ceremony took place at the Prado palace this afternoon and was a most impressive function. It was witnessed by the whole Spanish royal family, the Prince of Wales representing King Edward, the English ambassador, the grandees of Spain and the exalted functionaries of the palace.

WATCHES FOUND ON CITY JAIL PRISONER

When arrested last night on a charge of assault and battery, John Dunn, a Syrian, was found to be in the possession of seven watches and a quantity of melted silver. Dunn is well known to the police and was arrested at one time on a charge of highway robbery. It is believed that he secured the watches and silver in San Francisco and the authorities there will be communicated with.

Boys Leave Home.

N. G. Taylor of North Yamhill, Oregon, has reported to the police that his two sons, Fred, aged 13 years, and Bert, 14 years old, have left home. At the time of leaving the youths took a double-barreled shotgun and a .22-caliber rifle. They are supposed to have come to this city and the police are endeavoring to locate the runaways.

Mining Man Dies.

J. C. Wilkinson received a telegraph message from Salt Lake City today announcing the death of his brother-in-law, W. H. Clark, a prominent mining man of that city. Mrs. Wilkinson left Sunday for Salt Lake and was at the bedside of her brother when he died.

STABBING AFFRAY SENDS ONE MAN TO HOSPITAL

As the result of a stabbing affray in the O. R. & N. freight yards at the foot of Russell street last night Edward Fogarty lies at the point of death at St. Vincent's hospital, and George Foley occupies a cell at the city prison, charged with having committed the assault. Foley was arrested this morning by Detectives Vaughn and Hellyer about half a mile from the scene of the crime. The razor with which the cutting was done was found by the police and booked as evidence.

PARISIANS FIND NEW WAY TO FIGHT DUEL AND SATISFY HONOR

(Journal Special Service.) Paris, May 30.—Two men have just settled a duel with the same result that usually attends a French meeting on the field of honor, but it was more easily achieved. The challenger, who imagined he had been insulted, wrote to his adversary, a newspaper editor, saying: "One does not send seconds to a scoundrel like you. I box your ears by letter instead." The recipient of the challenge replied: "I regard my ears as having been boxed. Cordially I thank you. In the same manner I blow out your brains with a revolver. Regard yourself as dead. I salute your corpse."

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT NORFOLK

HEARTILY WELCOMED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Union and Confederate Veterans Listen to Praise of Army and Navy and Its Deeds in the Past—Returns to Capital Today.

(Journal Special Service.) Norfolk, Va., May 30.—Never in the history of this city did the celebration of Decoration day attract so enormous a crowd of visitors from the surrounding districts as this year. This was due to the fact that President Roosevelt had consented to deliver the memorial address at the exercises of the Army and Navy union in the navy hospital cemetery at Tidewater, near Norfolk. President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Loeb and several personal friends, arrived here this morning on board of the Mayflower and landed at the pier of the navy yard. Rear Admiral P. F. Harrington and the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings, the president passed on foot to the cemetery, a grandstand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children. A few minutes later he continued on his way to the cemetery, where the union and confederate veterans of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Berkeley were already assembled, awaiting the arrival of the president. A salute was fired when the president entered the cemetery grounds and proceeded to the grandstand from which he addressed the assembled veterans and citizens. At the conclusion of the address the president returned to the navy yard, where he was the guest of Rear Admiral P. F. Harrington. In the afternoon, after luncheon, the president will receive the officers of the naval station and then he will return to the Mayflower and start for Washington.

Nothing in the barber shop was molested. The burglars effected their entrance by breaking the locks on the rear doors.

river, and was unable to get out, the building being surrounded by four feet of water. Farmers below were forced to take to the hills and many are living in a little church at the forks of the river. The river at Milton is three quarters of a mile wide and has overflowed a large area of garden, fruit and alfalfa land. The damage to the garden men all over the valley will be heavy. In Walla Walla many basements have been flooded and many gasoline and steam engines are being used to clear the cells.

DAMAGE AT WALLA WALLA.

Immense Harveo by Worst Rains in History of Section.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Walla Walla, Wash., May 30.—Bridges washed out, houses wrecked, streets flooded, electric and telephone stations out of commission and thousands of dollars worth of damage done to growing crops and hay in the fields of the lowland districts. Is the result of the worst rain in the history of the Walla Walla valley. Mill creek and the Walla Walla river are bursting over their banks and in the lowland districts whole farms are under water.

Bridge and Houses Gone.

Business was practically suspended in Walla Walla today. Thousands of people are lining the banks of Mill creek, watching the work of the flood. The Clinton, Park and Sixth street bridges went out early this morning. The rear end of No. 45 Rose street, a disreputable house, was swept away, with the piano and furniture. The inmates had a narrow escape.

Mill creek overflowed its banks at Merriam street early this morning and a big stream of water is now flowing down Alder street through the business district. The spreading waters flooded many residences in the city. In Spring Grove addition, east of the city, people have been compelled to seek safety in flight, leaving behind their household goods.

Towns in Darkness.

A foot and a half of water surrounds St. Mary's hospital. The Northwestern Gas & Electric company closed down its plant on the Walla Walla river at 11 o'clock last night, cutting off all electric power in Walla Walla, Waston, Athens and Pendleton. All the newspapers and many manufacturing and flour mill plants were forced to close down today, with little chance of resuming operations before Friday.

A telephone message from the power plant states that it is impossible to keep the intake for the big pipe line clear of debris, and that entire trees are being swept down the Walla Walla river. A message from Milton states that the railroad bridge is in grave danger. Work has been suspended on the new gravity water system on upper Mill creek, the flood forcing 100 men in the camp at Wickersham bridge to seek safety. The ditch line has been flooded with debris washed down from the mountainside. The damage is estimated at many thousand dollars.

The reservoirs are flooded with muddy water from Mill creek. Reports from Dayton state that the Touchet river is flooding the lowland country, causing considerable damage to alfalfa and garden tracts. Several bridges below Prescott have been washed out and others are badly damaged.

HOW FLOOD ENTERED CITY.

Pendleton Inundated by Means of Underground Race From Byers' Mill.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., May 30.—The flood which has inundated the business section of the city is due not entirely to seepage at the levee in the eastern end of town, but to the back water from the river entering through the outlet from the Byers millrace.

Power for this mill is supplied from the intake at the eastern edge of the city. The water is ditched along the eastern and southern slope toward the town and crosses to the mill of the Byers company under the city. It is sluiced from the mill by means of underground conduits, through the levee and back into the river at a point three blocks above Main street. Through this sluiceway under the levee the high water in the river reaches the streets of the business section. If there had been a gate in the archway under the levee the business section of Pendleton would not have been inundated. The East Oregonian building is not affected by the flood and the paper will appear as usual. The vicinity of the Tribune office is under water, and as the power has been shut off, that paper was not issued this morning.

A QUEER PROCEEDING.

Bank Taxes Remitted by County Court.

The personal tax for the year 1905 assessed against the Wells Fargo & Co. bank was $2,571.90, which with penalty and interest amounted on May 10, 1906, to $2,571.90.

On that day the following order was made:

In the county court of the state of Oregon for Multnomah county.

For the transaction of county business. In the matter of the cancellation of one half the taxes assessed against the Wells Fargo & Co. bank—Order. It is hereby ordered that upon the payment by the Wells Fargo & Co. bank of the sum of $1,375.95, the taxes assessed against said bank for the year 1905, be and the same hereby is satisfied and settled, and that the said sum be accepted in full payment and settlement of all of the taxes due from said bank for said year.

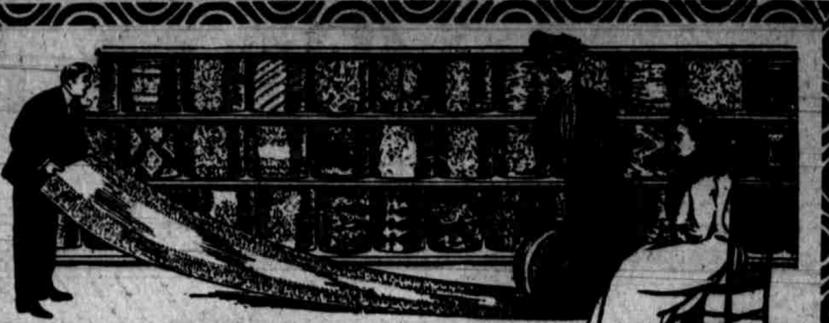

No cause or reason is given in said order or appears from the record why the sum of $1,375.95, justly due the county, was thus donated by Judge Webster and the commissioners to the said bank.

This sum donated to the bank would have more than paid the expenses which the county court compelled Sheriff Word to pay out of his own pocket to close and keep closed the gambling houses of Portland.

It is in line with the previous act of the court in remitting half of the $500 tax assessed against the owner of the nickel-in-the-slot machine. Such actions as the above have led to indorsement of John Van Zante, the Democratic candidate for judge by the municipal league and to his liberal support by other organizations and independent voters and among many other things accounts for the widespread revolt against the reelection of Judge Webster.—Adv.

SCOUT YOUNG CAMP MEETS AT ARMORY
