Town Topics

The following topics have been selected by the state lecturer for discussion by granges and patrons of husbandry for the month of June: Rollicall and responses, "Why I Live in Oragon"; essay, "The Future of Oragon"; song, "Peerless Oragon"; address, "Our Pioneers"; recitations and readings from Sam L. Simpson, Edwin Markham, Joaquin Miller, Ella Higginson, Eva Emery Dye and other poets identified with the literature of Oragon; address, "Prominent Men and Women of Our State"; special questionbox, "Why Have Washington and California Gone Ahead of Oragon in the Race for Wealth and Population?" "What is the Influence of Low Railroad Fares to Homescekers?" "What is the Commercial Value of Our Rivers and Lakes?" "What Diversity of Climate Has Oragon?" "What is the Best Market for Our Produce?" "Are the Farmers of This State Learning to Unite for Their Own Good?" "What Is the History of the Colonies of Oragon?" "What Effort Should Be Made to Preserve the Old Landmarks?" For a flors day the following program is offered: Song, "Bud and Biossom"; rollicall, "What Flowers Mean to Me"; reading, "Some Native Oragon Trees and Shrubs"; recitation, "Oragon Grape"; song, selected, Following in flora's question-box concerning farm vines, climbing roses, flowers in general, house plants and similar matters. have drawn large congregations and at-tracted a great deal of interest. The members of his congregation are asked to read the book during the week, and the doctor givea a careful analysis of it, setting forth the main points and lessons in his sermon. Yesterday morning he preached on the book of Deuteronomy, "The Book of Obedience." He said:

A Polish Roman Catholic church is soon to be erected at the corner of Irving and Twentieth streets, on the east side. This was determined upon at a meeting held yesterday at the home of Andrew Czerwinaki. The Polish colony in and around Portland consists of about 100 families. There are many socialists among them, however, and these are said to have used their influence to prevent the building of a church in the past. The movement for a separate place of worship was finally brought to a successful conclusion by Archbishop Christie, who donated a valuable site, as well as the building which now stands on it. Fifteen hundred dollars was raised at the meeting yeaterday, of which Father Charles Bieroski gave $200. The meeting demounced the Polish socialists. To Semember and Obey.

"Chapters I to by give us the first address. Its subject is Remember and obey." It recalls the events that have taken place and presents them as an inspiration for obedience in the future and a warning against disobedience. There are some things that we should never forget until the lesson has been so thoroughly learned that we will never make the same mistake again. They were to remember that for disobedience the bones of their fathers lay bleaching in the wilderness. On the other hand, they were to remember God's guidance and goodness. They were to go forward, assured of his continued help. If they would obey and do their duty God would take care of them and lead them on to victory. When four rowers are in a boat, with their backs to the bow, their simple office is to pull the oars. The steersman's office is to look ahead and work the helm. So you and I are placed with our backs to the future. In our hands are the oars of Christian effort. It is our duty to pull the oars. It is God's part to steer the boat.

Mendelssohn services were held last night at the Pirst Congregational church. The entire program was se-lected from the works of the great composer. Mendelssohn hymns were sung and the remarks of the paster were devoted to a review of the life of the musician. The program was the first of a series of four, of which the second will be given next Sunday night and will be devoted to the life and works of Beethoven.

"The Problem of Intemperance" is the subject of a lecture tonight by Oli-ver W. Stewart of Chicago at the First Christian church, Park and Columbia streets. The telegraph lines between Canby and North Head were blown down yes terday afternoon by one of the fiercest winds ever experienced at the mouth of the Columbia river. For a couple of hours the wind attained a velocity of 72 miles an hour and terrific breakers were kicked up on the bar.

District Forecaster Heals this morning reports an abatement in the storm and furthermore says the record-breaking blow was of purely local character. None of the stations in the northwest or along the coast reports anything like the report sent in from North Head, where a squall of unusual severity tore down the wires and tupned the ocean into a seething mass. Storm warnings were displayed early in the afternoon and outward-bound steamers remained in shelter. Among these were the Nome City and the oriental liner Numantia. The Redondo crossed out before the storm broke and was probably far out to sea before she encountered the mountainous waves.

The wires are in working order this Deuteronomy, "The Book of Obedience."
He said:

"The children of Israel are now in sight of the land of Canaan. The 40 years of wandering are at an end. Joshua is to succeed Moses, and under his leadership they will seek to possess the promised land. A new generation, a new country, new duties and a new leader call for a historical review and a second proclamation of the law. The book naturally divides itself into the three addresses delivered by Moses and a general conclusion.

"The wives are in working order this morning," said Mr. Beals, "and the storm is a thing of the past, but North Head certainly enjoyed a high wind yesterday afternoon. The report this morning states that for a while the wind attained a velocity of 72 miles an hour. Conditions were squally all along the coast yesterday, but North Head seems to have gotten the worst of the blow. "Storm warnings were hoisted early "Storm warnings were hoisted early in the afternoon, but nevertheless I expected to hear of some disaster this morning off the bar, for no doubt some
