

NOW'S THE TIME FOR PIANO AND ORGAN BUYING

A RARE SNAP

This most famous and now so popular Piano in an "Art Case" included in this sale.

HIGH RENTS COMPEL THE ABANDONMENT OF THE RETAIL DEPARTMENT OF EILERS PIANO HOUSE

Eilers Piano House must vacate their famous "quarter block" in a few days. Choice of standard, brand-new pianos at virtually half price. The greatest piano sacrifice ever known. Everything must go quickly. Baby grands and uprights, Pianola pianos, Orchestras, Orchestras, pipe and reed organs, statues, pictures, rugs, carpets, etc., etc. Make your own terms.

The end of the famous "quarter block" of fine pianos is in sight. Within the next few days we must vacate our present quarters. The choicest of Chickering and Webber and Kimball, as well as Crown, Hazeltone, Deckers and Schumanns, beautiful baby grands and uprights, standard brand-new instruments must be sold before we leave the premises. No one in Portland will ever live long enough to again see such choice instruments offered at such ridiculously low prices. We'll sell you now a better upright piano for $127 than any retail house can sell you for $250, and you can now get a better and a finer piano, in every way, for $287 than any other retail dealer in the West can afford to sell you for $475.

Several beautiful Pianola pianos, the wonderful little Pianolas, the famous Orchestrelle, three self-playing Aeolian organs, two two-manual church organs, two Vocals besides numerous finest high-grade, standard upright pianos in all the various fancy woods known, go on terms of payment little more than rent and at prices that will never again be equaled.

Here Are Good Used Pianos

We're clearing out everything—just now are willing to sell you a good used piano for less than one half the usual value. A genuine rose-wood cased one, beautifully carved legs and lyra, originally costing $750, is now $484, and another still finer goes now for $52. Ordinary kinds, playable, go for practically nothing in order to get rid of them. $15 secures a good Pirsson, a fine Gable goes for $28, a fine Kranich & Bach only $35, a superb Pease for $57, an elegant Chickering $52, a fine Emerson for $48, a good Guild Bros. for $56. Pay $5 or $4 a month. These are bound to be snapped up quickly and you'll have to hurry to get one.

See These Used Uprights

Included in this round-up you will find a number of slightly used upright pianos, most of which could not be sold from really new ones. We must get rid of all of them. Prices as low as $68 for a fine Newton in good condition and $86 for a nice Fisher, up to $147 for an excellent Cable & Sons, in pretty quarter-oak case.

FOR A WELL-TO-DO HOME

A Special "Art Design"

Weber Grand, in a superb marblewood case, in the new French or dull finish—the most beautiful and costly instrument ever brought to the Pacific Coast.

PIANOLAS GO TOO

Now is the chance to buy a Pianola—a used one or one of the very latest Metrostyles—in any wood to match your Piano. Payments if you choose.

HERE ARE ORGANS

Fine new Parlor Organs, Kimballs, Burdettes, Crowns and other famous makes go at half price. Pay $4 or even $3 a month.

ROYAL HAWAIIAN BAND IN CONCERT AT THE HELIG

Dusky Musicians Win Laurels With the Dreamy Melodies of Their Native Land.

Ever dream of a holiday in some south sea isle, in the atmosphere of Stevenson, the whispering breezes playing about you, the aroma from an hundred tropical growths drifting into your nostrils, light boats drifting lazily on a lazy stream under a canopy of green leaves, dusky men and women living the simple life, content to sing the day in and sing it out—light-hearted, care-free, joyous?

There is a little dusky woman at the Helig that can make you dream this dream. Her name is Miss Lei Lehua, and her soft, melodious lullabies place an audience in the spirit of peace. Last night, when the Royal Hawaiian band gave its opening concert Lei Lehua with her Hawaiian songs carried one to her native land where, transportation agents tell us, it is always May.

And Lei Lehua was not all. The Royal Hawaiians are not unknown in Portland. They charmed thousands during the exposition. Under the leadership of Captain Berger the band has been enlarged, has been tutored in new musical numbers. The glee club part of the program adds to its general worth. The melodies are dreamy and soothing.

Perhaps the hit of the evening as far as the band is concerned was "Naki's Wedding" (Lilke), an overture that served to make an impression on the listeners at the start. "One Thousand and One Nights" (Strauss) was also appreciated. The finale, which was participated in by Miss Lehua, the orchestra, choir and glee club, was a suitable termination for a pleasing concert.

John S. Ellis, tenor, won new laurels with his Hawaiian songs, singing a medley arranged by Director Berger. The songs showed a range of depth and feeling, but through all of them ran the soft, melodious, dreamy air that characterizes the music of Hawaii. Mr. Ellis was in good voice and was generously applauded.

The Royal Hawaiians will be at the Helig tonight and tomorrow matinee and night, with a change of program for every concert. It is soothing to hear them. It is a pleasant and profitable way to spend a couple of hours.

SWITCHMAN DENIED RIGHT TO CAST BALLOT

Writes to The Journal of Why He Was Treated on Election Day.

W. Barker, a switchman living at Sixth and Flanders streets, writes to The Journal complaining that he was unjustly deprived of the right to cast his ballot. His letter is in part as follows: "I am a registered voter of the city of Portland and have resided here continuously since the eighteenth of last August. I registered at the primaries from my home, No. 48 North Second street on the nineteenth of May. I changed my residence to the Geneva house, Sixth and Flanders, on the second of June. I went to the courthouse to give notification of my change of residence and was told by the official in charge that the books had been taken to the polling booths and told to go to my old residence. On the morning of election I repaired to the voting precinct to do what every American citizen considers one of his privileges. I was promptly challenged and told to go to the booth in the precinct I now reside in. I went. I did not vote. "I was again challenged, and told that if I got six really owners to swear to my right to vote my ballot would be accepted, even if I was not on the books in their booth. At 5 p. m. I went back to the booth that had my name on its books and demanded a ballot, saying I would swear to what I have already stated. I was told that they had no time to bother with it. Then I demanded my rights as an unfranchised American citizen. I was ordered out of the booth by a long, lean, hungry-looking individual, who I suppose was there to keep order or disorder. Not wishing any disorder, I left. This way of treating American citizens seems to me a very good way to make anarchists."

MANY WILL GO ON 'FRISCO EXCURSION

At $45 for the round trip, a large number of Pacific northwest people are arranging to go on the Southern Pacific excursion from Portland Saturday, June 16, to see "San Francisco, the Imperishable," as California's wrecked metropolis is termed on the bills. The Northern Pacific Railroad company has announced a reduced rate over its entire lines in Washington, under a joint arrangement with the Southern Pacific. The special train will be made up of Pullmans, and will be first-class in its accommodations. The excursionists will be fed on the train en route and while they are in San Francisco, with the exception of luncheon on Tuesday, June 15, when the excursionists will be seeing the sights and will eat wherever they find a convenient place.

JASON LEE INTERMENT OCCURS NEXT FRIDAY

A week from today the remains of Jason Lee, the foremost of the early Methodist missionaries in Oregon, will be laid in their final resting place in the Lee Mission cemetery near Salem. The interment will form a part of the commencement exercises of the Willamette university, of which Lee was the founder. Elaborate ceremonies will mark the event. Three services will be held, all in the Methodist church at Salem. The morning exercises will be presided over by Dr. D. L. Rader and those in the afternoon by J. C. Moreland, the pioneer association conducting the meeting. John Bush will preside at the evening meeting, which will represent the states which have sprung from the original Oregon territory. Among the speakers at the three meetings will be W. D. Fenton and Dr. J. R. Wilson, in the morning; J. C. Moreland, Harvey W. Scott and Reuben P. Boise, in the afternoon; Governor Chamberlain, Allen Weir, representing the governor of Washington, and B. L. Stevens, representing the governor of Idaho, in the evening.

SANITARIUM STUDENTS WILL GRADUATE TONIGHT

Graduating exercises of students at the North Pacific sanitarium will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. The program will include invocation by Rev. Edgar P. Hill, music by the Lampho quartet, an address by Dr. R. C. Coffey, a solo by Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong and the address by Dr. W. T. Williamson to the graduates. The class is composed of Valeria Martin, Helen Jackson, Lulu Knight Bayne, Mabel Watt, H. Josephine Nelson, Nora Keeling and Emma Royal Singleton.
